JOHNSON OUT AS DEFENSE HEAD

Reds Pushed Back At Taegu Heights

UN Positions Improve Along Northern Front

Gen. Walker Says 'Worst Is Over'

By MILTON MARMOR

TOKYO, Wednesday, Sept. 13 (AP)—First Cavalry Division troopers in bloody uphill fighting drove back Korean Communists one mile from heights overlooking Taegu Tuesday night, easing the pressure on that northwest pivot of the United Nations beachhead.

This action, eight miles north of Taegu, coupled with steadily improving allied positions in the northeast sector, dominated the ground fighting along the 125-mile front. The remaining sectors were relatively quiet.

Communist prisoners said red patrols planned to attack an air strip, two miles north of Taegu Tuesday night, but it did not materialize.

Associated Press Correspondent Stan Swinton said that the U. S. 25th Division repulsed two light red attacks before dawn today on the southern front, 35 miles west of Pusan.

On the 25th's right flank, red forces sent up colored flares during the pre-dawn hours but no attack developed against the U. S. Second Infantry Division.

The drive of 130,000 North Koreans ringing the entire front appeared to have bogged down. The red forces pulled back or regrouped for another crack at the United Nations lines.

With high ground now secured along the highway approaches to Taegu from the north, Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, Eighth Army Commander, declared:

"The worst is over."

Walker in a statement said that while the enemy still could strike anywhere along the front, "I am now sure we can stop him."

After artillery preparation and heavy air strikes Monday and Tuesday about 1,000 First Cavalrymen slugged their way up rocky Hill 314 against withering fire from North Koreans on the crest and on a nearby slope.

AP Correspondent Jack MacBeth with the advancing Cavalrymen told how the bitter assault stalled two-thirds of the way up, after advancing for five bitter hours.

North Koreans hurled a barrage of mortar and machinegun fire into the face of the oncoming Americans. Red artillery pounded the rear and set fire to the village of Chilgok, five air miles north of Taegu.

Big 3 Study Western Defense

Red Sabotage Campaign In Reich Feared

Trained Soviets Crossing Border

FRANKFURT, Germany, Sept. 12 (AP)—Western officials voiced alarm today that the opening gun in a do-or-die communist sabotage campaign may be fired in Western Germany soon.

They estimated that at least 2,000 communist fifth columnists—many of them graduates of Soviet sabotage schools—have swarmed over the border from red Germany. Some German authorities estimate the number much higher—at 15,000, or the equivalent of a full infantry division.

Some are said to have brought in small arms and explosives. Officials said it would take five army divisions to stop the flow of communist agents across the long, heavily-wooded border.

The recent pattern of communist activity, allied sources said indicates that the Kremlin has decided that the "national resistance" campaign in Germany should be shoved forward soon from the propaganda to the direct action stage to disrupt the west's projected defense buildup.

A widespread series of communist riots erupted in West Berlin, Frankfurt and Darmstadt Sunday. Communist violence broke out in Hamburg a few days earlier.

Tons of printed communist propaganda against Western powers as "foreign masters" and "warmongers" are being smuggled in from the east.

The communist "national resistance" program openly calls on West Germans to halt strategic shipments to the west and to sabotage any rearmament program within Germany.

Seek Two Ships

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 12 (AP)—Rescue vessels criss-crossed the storm-lashed waters off southwestern Nova Scotia tonight searching for two small ships. The engines of one were dead and most of her gear had washed away; the other has been unheard from since early this morning.

Shaw Surprises Nurse, Sits Up

LUTON, ENGLAND, Sept. 12 (AP) — George Bernard Shaw surprised his nurses today by sitting up in bed less than 24 hours after he had undergone an operation pinning together the ends of a broken thigh bone.

The 94-year-old playwright's physician said Shaw would remain in bed at least 14 days. This revised an earlier estimate of Hospital Secretary R. E. Lingard that Shaw might quit the hospital in 10 days.

Lingard said the famous patient was quite talkative and "perky" and his pulse, temperature, and blood pressure were normal.

Army Major Held In Fund Shortage

RENO, Nev., Sept. 12 (AP)—Maj. Harold D. Banning, Army finance officer arrested here for questioning in connection with the possible misapplication of $250,000 in Germany, was taken to San Francisco Army headquarters today.

"I'll tell the whole story to the proper authorities at the proper time," said the handsome 39-year-old major as he left in the custody of Army criminal investigators.

Banning, who said he had $100,000 when he arrived in this country last month, told reporters today he had that money when he first was assigned to Germany in 1949.

In a signed statement given sheriff's officers, Banning said he carried the money, all in bills of $20 or less, in several suitcases. He brought the money back to this country in the same manner, he added.

He wouldn't explain where he got it, saying only: "It is my own personal fund and has nothing to do with the Army."

An officer for 18 years, Banning's pay and subsistence would amount to about $630 monthly, Army spokesmen said.

Banning said he bought a new car in New York after arriving in this country by commercial plane Aug. 26. He also bought a $5,000 diamond ring for his wife, Winnie Lee, who is in Berlin, he said.

UN Spot Probe In Red China Vetoed By Malik

Soviet Demand To Condemn U. S. Beat

LAKE SUCCESS, Sept. 12 (AP) — Russia used her 45th veto tonight in killing a proposed on-the-spot inquiry into Chinese communist charges of American air attacks on Manchurian territory.

The United Nations Security Council then overwhelmingly rejected a Soviet demand that the United States be condemned for the alleged air attacks on Manchuria.

Soviet Delegate Jacob A. Malik was again rebuffed when the council voted to adjourn until 2 p. m. (EST) Monday without taking up a new demand that red China be invited to send a representative here for consultations.

The vote on the American proposal for a Manchurian investigation was 7 to one, with Russia casting the lone negative vote, a veto. India and Yugoslavia abstained and Nationalist China declined to participate.

Acheson Says German Power Is Essential

Outlines Views Of United States

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—Secretary of State Acheson proposed to Britain and France today that the West start immediately building up Western Europe's defenses against Russia with maximum speed and effort. He made it clear the United States believes the use of German manpower is essential to an adequate defense setup.

The American member of the Big Three Foreign Ministers Conference outlined his country's views at the first three and one-half hour session held by Acheson, Ernest Bevin of Britain, and Robert Schuman of France.

An official announcement, indicating the turn of events, said the ministers had begun a review of European problems. They will meet again tomorrow at 9:30 a. m. (EST). The meetings are secret.

The strengthening of Europe's defenses is the number one problem before the Big Three Foreign Ministers and Acheson came to New York with a detailed program. Diplomatic sources said he told Bevin and Schuman about President Truman's idea for sending more American troops to Europe and pointed out that the Americans want Western European countries to make comparable contributions to the defense of that region.

Acheson also touched to some extent on the American idea that the Germans of Western Germany be given a chance to serve with other Western Europeans in defending their homeland.

American sources, meanwhile, made it clear that the United States does not want to build up a new German army but that the U. S. does want German units to be integrated into a common defense.

The ministers have decided upon a schedule of hard work for their talks. They have set Thursday as the last day of the present discussions, with meetings of the North Atlantic Pact Council scheduled for Friday and Saturday. There are so many problems to be discussed, however, that the Big Three might carry on their talks over the weekend.

Tenn. Probes Baby Market

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 12 (AP)—Tennessee is investigating reports of a $1,000,000 baby market operating in Memphis and extending to New York and Hollywood.

The probe was ordered by Gov. Gordon Browning following reports by agents of the State Welfare Department of preliminary investigations in Tennessee and California.

State Welfare Commissioner J. O. McMahan said information now available indicates that more than 1,000 babies were involved and that foster parents have paid as much as $750 for them. Some babies placed by the agency have been adopted by Hollywood celebrities.

McMahan said his information indicates that more than 90 per cent of the babies have been "exported" to California and New York.

Hog Deaths Are Blamed On Biological Warfare

NORFOLK, Neb., Sept. 12 (AP) — Rep. Karl Stefan (R-Neb) said today he fears some kind of biological warfare by enemies of the United States has been causing the heavy death rate among hogs in the midwest corn belt.

He said he would call FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover and also get in touch with the Department of Agriculture and ask for help and an investigation.

In Washington, Dr. B. T. Simms, chief of the Agriculture Department's Bureau of Animal Industry, said his agency has found no evidence to support Stefan's biological warfare fears.

The bureau investigated reports of heavy hog losses in some areas of the midwest last year and is now in the process of investigating recent losses there.

The bureau recently reported that many of last year's losses occured in herds immediately following a hog cholera serum-virus treatment. It said a "variant," or slight change in the form of the virus in the vaccination process, caused the trouble.

Department investigators found no evidence, Dr. Simms told a reporter, that there had been any tampering with the production of the serum, which is produced under department supervision.

Simms said investigations of this year's losses have not yet been completed, and hence it is not possible to say now what the cause is.

Dr. H. U. Garrett, Iowa State veterinarian, said today that his office is concerned about the virus causing trouble after vaccination but that he did not believe it was caused by biological warfare germs.

Several Thousand British Troops To Go To Germany; Churchill Says 'Not Enough'

By CHARLES WHITING

LONDON, Sept. 12 (AP) — Prime Minister Attlee announced today Britain will send several thousand more troops to Germany and divert other thousands of men into a hurry-up rearmament drive to guard against another Korea.

But Opposition Leader Winston Churchill said this was not enough. The conservative chieftain demanded that a European army of at least 60 to 70 divisions be raised to close the "hideous gap" in Western defenses, and warned the Prime Minister to accept the fact that such an army "with a strong German quota is going to be raised quite quickly."

Churchill told the House of Commons the Labor Government had been "conspicuously lacking in forethought, conviction and design" and had embarked on its rearmament drive only after a second urging from a "bitterly disappointed" United States.

"It should not surely need the prompting of a foreign country, however friendly," said Churchill.

Attlee's plan, he said, would put three British divisions in Germany.

"I don't think that should be accepted as a full and complete contribution on our part," he added.

Though he said conservatives would support Attlee's program so far as it went, "I must make it clear that our approval is not a vote of confidence in the government, least of all on its handling of military affairs."

The mild-mannered Attlee said the two under-strength British Divisions already in Germany will be brought up to full fighting weight and a third combat division sent to join them. This meant Britain will have between 45,000 and 54,000 fighting men on guard on the west's front line of defense.

His announcement followed President Truman's decision of a few days ago to send an undisclosed number of new divisions to Germany.

Rail Speedup Is Ordered To Aid Defense

Freight Handling Is Criticized

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—The government today spurred defense mobilization with an order to quicken the nation's railroad freight traffic, and set a 24-hour limit on the turn around of freight cars ready to move.

The Interstate Commerce Commission, in issuing the order, sharply criticized delays in loading and unloading freight.

It said the action was taken "to promote the national defense."

In other defense moves:

1. Officials said an anti-hoarding order on steel, copper, tin, aluminum and other key materials may be expected before the end of this week.

2. The Interior Department began setting up a new agency—tentatively called the Minerals and Energy Administration (MEA)—to prepare for possible emergency use of priorities and allocations of petroleum, gas, coal and electric power.

The new organization is expected to start functioning, at least on a standby basis, within two weeks.

Outlining these steps to gear the nation's economy to a wartime footing, officials emphasized there are no immediate shortages in sight such as gripped the country during World War II.

Hugh Stewart, director of the Interior Department's oil and gas division, told newsmen that the prospect of rationing such materials as gasoline is remote, short of a major war.

Stewart said the only current gasoline shortage is in the higher grades of aviation fuel.

Korean Beer Ration Stopped

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA, Sept. 12 (AP) — A howl of protest from the American front lines today greeted the Army's ban on free beer for combat troops.

Combat men have been receiving a ration of one small tin of beer daily. The Army said it acted because of adverse public opinion in the United States.

Henceforth beer will be available only to soldiers with change jingling in their pockets or with comrades free to make shopping trips behind the lines.

DROPPED BY TRUMAN—Louis A. Johnson, (above) was dropped by President Truman yesterday as Secretary of Defense. The President accepted a letter of resignation submitted by Johnson.

Tobey Rallies To Pull Close In N. H. Primary

Wesley Powell, 34-year-old lawyer, who at one time held a sizeable 1,500 vote lead, wilted as returns came in from city precincts long-dominated by the 70-year-old Senator.

In 250 out of 297 precincts, the vote stood:

Powell, 28,406.
Tobey, 28,125.

Powell, a World War II veteran, showed unexpected strength in communities carried in the past by Tobey. He also ran strongly in first returns from precincts in New Hampshire's 12 cities.

But, as reports from industrial sectors mounted, Tobey began pulling up.

Powell claimed the support of the conservative faction of the GOP in one of the bitterest campaigns in Granite State history.

Tobey, who takes pride in being a maverick in politics, waged one of the most vigorous drives of a long career that has seen him running 30 years for public office without defeat.

Gen. Marshall Picked To Fill Cabinet Post

Must Await Change Of Law By Congress

By ROGER D. GREENE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP) — President Truman dropped Louis A. Johnson from his Cabinet with dramatic suddenness today and asked General George C. Marshall to succeed him as Secretary of Defense.

The Five-Star General, former Secretary of State and Army Chief of Staff during World War II, announced his acceptance at his Leesburg, Va., home. He is 69 years old.

On Capitol Hill, the question immediately arose whether a life-long soldier, such as Marshall, should be cleared to take over a civilian post.

By law, no person who has been on military duty within the past 10 years is eligible to serve as Secretary of Defense. It would take a special act of Congress to let Marshall take the post.

Top lawmakers moved swiftly to erase this legal obstacle. Chairman Tydings (D-Md) said the Senate Armed Services Committee would get to work on the necessary legislation immediately. The initail reaction was strongly in favor of making it possible for Marshall to accept the new assignment.

Several Republican senators, including Wherry of Nebraska and Capehart of Indiana, said however that "the wrong man resigned" and that Secretary of State Acheson instead of Johnson should have stepped out.

Johnson, who succeeded the late James V. Forrestal as Secretary of Defense, submitted his resignation in a letter in which he spoke bitterly of knowing that when he took the office he would "make more enemies than friends."

Johnson himself recommended the selection of Marshall as a man who would be "an inspiration to the people of the United States and to our allies." His letter was dated today.

In reply, Mr. Truman wrote Johnson:

"It is clear to me that in writing (the letter of resignation) you have been actuated by motives of the highest patriotism, and I salute you.

"In the terribly tragic circumstances which have arisen, I feel that I must concur in your judgment and accept your proferred resignation as Secretary of Defense, effective at the close of business on Sept. 19, 1950."

The letter was addressed to "My Dear Lou."

The President's decision to drop Johnson sharply reversed his earlier staunch defense of the big, bald chief of the nation's military establishment.

On Aug. 3, Mr. Truman had told his news conference emphatically that both Johnson and Acheson would stay in the cabinet as long as he remained in the White House.

Since then, criticism of Johnson

Measure To Intern Communists In Time Of War Passes Senate

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP) — The Senate passed by an overwhelming vote today a bill to require registration of all communists and to put them in concentration camps in case of invasion, war or insurrection.

The internment section, added to the already tough provisions of the McCarran Bill against spies, saboteurs and reds, represented a fast flip-flop by the lawmakers.

They voted it down three times on roll calls, then inserted it in somewhat modified form on a top-heavy voice vote. They followed up by passing the stiffened bill 70 to 7.

Senator Lucas (D-Ill), President Truman's chief lieutenant in the Senate, sponsored the addition and had backing from other administration supporters. Just what that might mean with respect to the President's statement that he would not sign the original McCarran measure was uncertain. All the major provisions of the McCarran bill were still in, with the internment language besides.

The bill now goes to the House, which has passed a measure generally similar but lacking the concentration camp feature.

Senator McCarran (D-Nev), who sponsored the catch-all bill, and Senators Eastland (D-Miss), O'Conor (D-Md), Wiley (R-Wis) and Ferguson (R-Mich) were named conferees to work out agreement with representatives of the House.

Besides registration and internment for communists, the bill strengthens laws against espionage and sabotage much in line with White House recommendations and amends immigration laws to help keep out subversives.

The Senate's about-face on concentration camps came on a motion by Senator Tydings (D-Md) to reconsider a roll-call vote

Dynamite Blast Kills Eight Men

ELDRED, Pa., Sept. 12 (AP) — A mighty dynamite explosion which splintered a building at the National Powder Company today killed eight men and rocked homes for miles around.

Some of the victims were blown to bits as the blast destroyed a steel and frame house where dynamite and nitroglycerine are mixed.

The coroner's office reported difficulty in identifying bodies and withheld names until relatives had been notified. Here is the list released five hours later:

Charles York, 22; Harry Nelson, 59; Carl Fitzgerald, 30; Robert Walker, 40; Gene Shepard, 24; James Silvis, 30; Earl Logue, 26; and C. A. Sherwood, 34. All reside in this vicinity. Silvis was assistant plant manager.

Five or six other employes suffered slight injuries which were treated at the scene while armed guards kept newsmen and photographers off the plant property.

Residents 10 miles away heard the booming explosion. Windows were shattered within a two-mile radius.

GE, IUE Talks With Mediators Still Bogged

Dispute Idles 35,000 Workers

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP) — Government mediators kept talks going today in the dragging wage-benefit negotiations between the General Electric Corporation and the CIO International Electrical Workers Union (IUE).

In another action, the CIO-IUE reported agreement with the Sylvania Electric Products Corporation on a "package" contract providing wage increases and other benefits averaging about 15 cents an hour.

The dispute between GE and the IUE was of prime concern to government conciliators anxious to prevent a strike break-down of GE's defense production.

More meetings will be held tomorrow.

The IUE dispute already has idled more than 35,000 general electric workers. Another 25,000 are reported ready to walk out if government conciliation efforts fail.

The Sylvania agreement applies to both production and skilled workers in plants at Salem, Mass., Williamsport and Warren, Pa., Huntington, W. Va., and Kew Gardens, N. Y.

However, bargaining rights for workers in three of those cities still are in doubt.

A spokesman for IUE explained that the rival United Electrical Workers (UE) had challenged the NLRB elections at Huntington, Kew Gardens and Warren, although substantial margins were chalked up by IUE in the balloting between the two unions.

The IUE spokesman said that the Sylvania settlement would apply immediately to those plants in which IUE had been designated as the bargaining agent, and would apply to the Huntington, Kew Gardens, and Warren plants as soon as the NLRB had disposed of the UE challenge.

Calif. U. Leaves 9 Instructors Out

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 72 (AP)— Nine professors who failed to take any action on the University of California board of regent's loyalty oath ultimatum are "no longer employees of the University," a board spokesman said today.

The spokesman said the nine also have forfeited their right to a year's severance pay, which they would have received had they resigned.

secured "all high ground" commanding the Tabu-to-Taegu roadway, a spokesman for Gen. MacArthur's headquarters reported.

American war planes Tuesday closely supported the ground action along the entire front. They concentrated most of their 335 sorties along the northern front.

In flights north of the 38th Parallel B-29s walloped the Kan Arsenal, 10 miles north of the communist capital of Pyongyang. Allied planes also located five new Yak fighters on a field 60 miles north of Seoul, destroyed three of them and damaged a fourth.

Gen. MacArthur's war summary early Wednesday said South Korean and U. S. 24th Division troops in the northeast sector continued to advance Tuesday, capturing "large quantities" of red equipment and arms.

Gen. Marshall

has snowballed on Capitol Hill and elsewhere on the ground that he was fundamentally responsible for defense weaknesses brought into focus by the Korean War.

Much of the criticism harked back to Johnson's statement months ago that if the Russians struck at four o'clock in the morning, this country would strike back at 5 a. m. Johnson later stood by his guns on that statement, explaining he meant that American long-range bombers would be ready to strike retaliatory blows within an hour after a Soviet aerial assault on the United States.

The dismissal of Johnson emphasized a wide breech between the Defense Chief and Secretary of State Acheson over Far Pacific policies.

Johnson admitted in testimony before the Senate appropriations committee on Aug. 30 that "there have been differences of opinion between Mr. Acheson and myself on foreign policy."

But he insisted that he had never been guilty of "any undercutting of the Secretary of State" and said their differences had been "largely resolved in goodwill and understanding."

Johnson's testimony, hitherto secret, was made public today.

At the same committee hearing, held behind closed doors, Acheson agreed that Johnson was not attempting to "undercut him."

It was no secret, however, that Mr. Truman sided with Acheson down the line on foreign policy conflicts with Johnson, despite the President's deep personal fondness for the Defense Secretary.

A White House aide told newsmen last Saturday:

"Of this you may be sure, the President feels that Secretary of State Acheson has borne up in this case with supreme dignity and will remain in the cabinet after Johnson has gone."

There were widespread reports that Johnson was on his way out from the post he took over before Secretary James V. Forrestal ended his life by plunging from the 16-story U. S. Naval Hospital at Bethesda, Md., in the spring of 1949.

Stephen T. Early resigned as Deputy Secretary of Defense, a few hours before his chief, submitted his designation as secretary.

Early's resignation is effective September 30.

Characteristics Of Cancer Might Be Hereditary

COLUMBUS, O. (AP) — Two Utah researchers told the American Institute of Biological Sciences that cancer probably is not inherited, but certain of its characteristics are.

The announcements were made by Eldon J. Gardner, of Utah State College, and Charles M. Woolf of the University of Utah to some 2500 scientists in biological fields who are attending the four-day institute.

Dr. Gardner had this to say is the result of his experiments:

"Cancer itself probably is not inherited. In fact, no disease is inherited in the strict sense. Only hereditary factors or genes are inherited.

"Genes control structural and psysiological characteristics of the body and some of these characteristics act as pre-disposing factors for cancer."

The two Utah scientists traced their discoveries to tiny projections found in the lower digestive tract. These projections, varying in size from that of an acorn to a grapefruit have been discovered in persons of all age groups.

Some 50 persons having this condition are now being observed, Dr. Gardner said. He added that there is evidence that relatives of these persons who have died of cancer have these same projections in their lower digestive tract.

This leaves them to believe the condition is hereditary, but they hasten to add it is too soon to state positively that such is the case.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Who says they're the weaker sex?

Yes, sir, housewife Mrs. George Davis, has just been elected Mayor of Washington, Virginia, after defeating an all male opposition and this may be a straw in the political wind.

Mrs. Davis had an unusual platform. She promised to keep the grass cut, to keep away stray dogs, and replace burned out bulbs in street lamps.

Next she may put slipcovers on all public statues, doilies on the manhole covers, and replace the standard red and green traffic lights with pink, blue and chartruese.

And if she has to stay home with the kids, she'll probably leave messages for the city council in a milk bottle on the front porch.

When the cops in her town need new uniforms, they may have a long wait until her honor can get a good buy in a bargain basement.

I understand the Dixiecrats are keeping a sharp eye on Mrs. Davis. They have a hunch that a lady mayor can show them what a filibuster really is.

people. There has been no election. There has been no plebiscite.

What happened is that Chiang was disarmed by us, while Soviet Russia armed the chinese communists not only with American supplies but with Japanese supplies that Russia captured in Manchuria, with our consent, after it had been in the Far Eastern war less than a week.

Whereas Chiang had fought the Chinese communists since 1926 and always won, he could not fight the power of Soviet Russia. Chiang could have run away, cashing in on about $300,000,000 of specie, and lived in luxury in Brabil or Mexico or some such place. Instead, he chose to continue to fight communism from the tropical island of Formosa. That is a moral response to obligation and responsibility and a rejection of immoral concepts of expediency.

Constitution Day Should Be Every Day

By proclamation of public officials, the nation is called upon to observe September 17 as Constitution Day. Patriotic citizens have never appreciated the old bromide, "what is the Constitution between friends." It borders on blasphemy and gives this great document less respect than it deserves.

There is no greater political document for mankind than the Federal Constitution. It was conceived and drafted in such a fashion that for well over a century it, with a few amendments, has been able to meet all the amazing changes which have taken place in the lives of the people it serves.

This achievement is possible because it deals with principles. It avoids the statutory content which marks so many state constitutions, but predominantly it endures because its framers were men of deep patriotism and high minds and peculiarly gifted to prescribe a sailing chart for the new country.

The Constitution today does not always receive the respect it deserves. Over recent years it has not protected the individual as the framers intended it to do. There is an ominous trend to submerge the individual and merge him into a mass. For instance, a man's right to work at what he chooses and for whom and on what terms is not as clear cut today as when the Constitution was framed.

It is a fine gesture to observe Constitution Day and pay homage to this great instrument. It would be more to the point to do so every day.

What GIs Need

To hold the Korean war in perspective the citizen at home must keep the GIs at the front constantly in mind. They are unkempt, weary from overwork and strain, homesick, suffering agonies.

They are not fictional soldiers, marching with the light of high purpose in their eyes, but mud-slogging troops. In their hearts they are searching for satisfactory terminals, for themselves if possible and if not for their families and their country.

What is ahead of them? Theirs is the herculean task of putting down aggressive totalitarianism that threatens to engulf the world, including their homeland. They will not be content until this country delineates a program it can achieve. Then they will know what they are fighting for.

When the United States fought the Revolutionary War, the fighting man was spurred by the goal of self-government. He fought to throw the invader out in the War of 1812. He fought against oppression in the Spanish-American War and to save the world in two wars.

Now it is as if nothing had been accomplished by all the blood spilled in other times. It is all to do over again.

The GI in this war needs clear and easily understood objectives, tasks he knows he can accomplish through exercise of his bravery and ingenuity.

Novel Come True

Novelists, like poets and other users of their imagination, often see further than the prosaic chroniclers of current happenings. The late George Orwell's story, "Nineteen Eighty-Four," was a hair-raising account of life in a future totalitarian state. One of its fundamental principles was that the rulers were always right. If their predictions misfired or they made mistakes, the state historian was supposed to rewrite history so as to make the past agree with the present, and to erase the errors of the men at the top.

This seems fantastic, but like many other details in the volume is no more so than many features of life as it actually is today under communism. Jacob Malik, the Russian who was August chairman of the United Nations Security Council, has just been making Orwell's description come true. He actually demanded that the Council, in reporting its year's work to the General Assembly, omit any reference to actions taken during Malik's walkout from January 13 to August. This includes its condemnation of the reds in Korea. Malik would like to have the record show that nothing which the Russians disapproved took place.

British Economy

According to figures compiled by Findley Weaver, economist with the United States embassy in London, the British working classes consume 22 per cent more goods and services than before the war, middle-class consumption is down 18 per cent, and the wealthy classes purchase 42 per cent less than under other governments.

This economist believes, however, that the British worker pays more in taxes for government-provided services than he receives in return. He thinks, then, that the rise in consumption is due wholly to full employment and increased production. The rise in production, says the economist, is due to improved management and organization, as well as to new machinery.

If these conclusions are accurate, Britain's economy is essentially healthy, and may be counted on to weather the storm. If the improvement in living conditions were found to be wholly dependent upon government hand-outs, the opposite might be indicated.

On The Air

Travelers through the countryside who have observed the strange apparatus on many roof-tops which indicates that those within the house have television privileges may expect even stranger sights in the future.

At the recent meeting in Cleveland of the National Electronics Distributors a huge display of television antennae was set up. Simple masts were overshadowed by complicated arrangements called "arrays," while steel or aluminum towers and rotating devices were among the riggings displayed.

To the neutral observer, the elaborateness of such equipment seems to overshadow in more ways than one the general run of programs which it makes available. Television as a whole needs to provide more of the higher quality of entertainment in order to justify the outlay of time, money and material involved Otherwise the industry is in danger of causing the next generation to observe that once more the mountain has labored and brought forth a mouse.

Candy bars are advertised that will not melt in the pocket. Couldn't somebody do the same thing for a bankroll?

Treatment With Sound Waves

SUPER-SONIC therapy is the latest addition to the science of medicine. These vibrations have been used only experimentally in this country but it is conceivable that in the future they will prove valuable in certain disorders. At any rate, we can keep our fingers crossed and enjoy reading about the research that is in progress.

These vibrations differ from ordinary sound vibrations only in their high frequency and short wave length. On passing through the tissues, they produce sufficient vibrations in the cells to create friction and heat. In this way, small doses have a therapeutic effect similar to that of any other heat producing machine. Moreover, super-sonic waves may have a chemical effect on the violent cell pulsation that is generated during the vibratory movements.

At Yale University these rays were employed for another purpose. Human gallstones were placed in water in a cellophane bag and subjected to the ultra-sonic beam. Crack, went the gallstones. Encouraged, the Yale men inserted other calculi into the gall bladder of a dog and turned on the current Everything became quiet and lo and behold! these rocks crumbled. We all know what is next on the agenda. To be of practical value, the stones will have to be broken into bits if escape from the gall bladder is to occur. All of this must be done without damaging the liver or other nearby structures.

According to an editorial in the New England Journal of Medicine, these scientists must have been stimulated by the old story of an imaginary violinist who, by striking an impossible note on a theoretical instrument, could cause the Empire State Building to topple like the walls of Jericho. The editorial concludes by paraphrasing some of the words of a familiar poem with the statement, "It seems to be a matter of break, break, break, these cold gray stones, incredibly high C."

Europeans have found that super-sonic vibrations have an analygesic, spasmolytic, anti-inflammatory, and bactericidal effect. Good results were obtained in individuals suffering from neuritis, myalgia, leg ulcers, bronchial asthma, and prostatitis. The remedy also has been used in rheumatoid and other forms of arthritis, as well as in bursitis, scleroderma, and Dupuytren's contracture. The waves offer possibilities in diagnosis because they permit mechanical examination of internal organs in contrast to the optical evidence supplied by X-rays. Ultra-sonic waves can distinguish between hard and soft tissues and may be of value, therefore, in studying such homogeneous organs as the and kidneys.

Super-sonics should not be confused with ordinary diathermy, which provides a penetrating type of heat. Three types of diathermy are available: micro, short, and long waves. The frequency of the current is sufficiently high not to stimulate nerves and muscles and their intensity is low enough so that tissues will not be impaired. Short and long wave diathermy equipment has been on the market for years for the treatment of many conditions varying from arthritis to sprains and strains.

BLACK TONGUE

Mrs. E. B. writes: My husband has had an extremely black coated tongue for several years. What is the cause?

REPLY

This is produced by an overgrowth of the papillae or hairlike filaments that cover the tongue. As they enlarge they become black or brown. No one knows why this happens although in some instances it is believed that infection is responsible. In some cases the condition was noted in those who sucked penicillin lozenges. Further study revealed, however, that if the treatment was continued the hairy tongue disappeared, suggesting that perhaps the penicillin had nothing to do with the development of the disorder.

Says DREW PEARSON

In case Hanley loses in his race for the Senate against Herbert Lehman, a new job will be created for him on the Throughway Commission—the superhighway now under construction across New York State. This job will pay Hanley $25,000 annually.

In addition, Hanley has been promised $15,000 income from an oil company, making a total of $40,000, or about the income he would have received had he been elected governor.

Finally, friends in the Dewey camp have promised to repay the $30,000 which Kingsland Macy, Frank Gannett and Norman Gould had put up to pay off Hanley's debts. The lieutenant governor had been in difficult financial circumstances and the Macy-Gannett-Gould backers had raised about $30,000 to bail him out.

Rival TV Stars

In the delegates' lounge at Lake Success, a newsman said to Security Council President Sir Gladwyn Jebb, "How does it feel to be a TV idol?"

"It's really quite frightening," replied Jebb, with his Oxford accent. "People come up to me on the street and shake my hand. No member of the British Foreign Office is supposed to be known, not to mention being popular."

"I'm afraid you can't escape it," insisted the newsman. "People are fascinated by you—second only to Milton Berle."

"Berle?" said Sir Gladwyn. "Who's he? The only Berle I know is Adolf Berle, and people aren't fascinated by him."

Down The Drain

It is easy to understand why the Republican Policy Committee took the unusual step of rushing out with a disavowal of Senator Schoeppel, the bumbling senator from Kansas, after he tried to smear the red brush on Secretary of the Interior Oscar Chapman.

Chapman's forthright and convincing reply boomeranged against the Republicans badly. Bob Allen expressed it best of all, after Chapman had wound up his testimony.

"I have no money to leave my family," the Cabinet officer said, "only my good name and reputation. By the grace of God I'm going to protect it.

"I challenge him. . . I dare you to remove your cloak of immunity and sit in this chair and read your statement."

Senator Schoeppel remained silent.

"Do you care to answer?" Chairmane O'Mahoney of Wyoming asked.

Senator Schoeppel did not.

"Don't you care to question the witness?" invited O'Mahoney.

Schoeppel mumbled something about the fact that his assistant, Frank Bow, who actually prepared his speech, was out of town.

"Another cockroach down the drain."

There being no drain present, Senator Schoeppel looked as if he wanted to slide under the table.

Taxpayers Finance Lobby

American taxpayers don't know it, but they have been helping to foot the bill for a lobby run by an ex-convict operating under the high-faluting name of the Committee for Constitutional Government, and supported by such powerful Republicans as Frank Gannett of the Gannett newspaper chain. Its executive secretary, Edward A. Rumely, was jailed as an agent of the Kaiser in World War I.

It has now been disclosed by the House Lobby investigation that Rumely's propaganda leaflets have been printed and distributed at a considerable cost to the Treasury. A friendly congressman merely places the propaganda in the Congressional Record, orders reprints from the government printing office at cost, and sends them out under his congressional frank free.

One senator who bucked at this device was George Malone of Nevada. To him Rumely wrote:

"Even if members of Congress, by putting out contrary material incurred $1,000,000 or $2,000,000 of expense for the Treasury, it would be negligible."

In the same letter Rumely boasted that "15,000,000 franked releases, mostly to small town and rural mailboxes" defeated the new deal's court plan and intervened in the 1938 elections. Rumely also revealed "a similar effort" was being conducted against the fair deal's medical plan and added cynically, "in war we cannot always choose our weapons."

Among the congressmen who helped ex-German agent Rumely spend the taxpayers' money for his propaganda are: Ralph Gwinn, N. Y.; Frederick "Doc" Smith, Ohio; Daniel A. Reed, N. Y.; former Senator Ralph Hawkes, N. J.; and ex-Rep. George W. Schwabe, Okla.—all Republicans.

NOTE — Rumley worte a Baltimore friend who wanted to distribute copies of a diatribe against public housing under Gwinn's frank: "The post office in Baltimore may not accept the franked mailing without some authorization. We have standing authorization in the New York Post Office and could mail from here if you will supply the addresses on gummed labels."

Johnson's Speechmakers

The heat on Secretary of Defense Louey Johnson has been so intense that he has drafted his top assistants into a special task force to tell the public what a great man Secretary of Defense Louey Johnson is.

After the Korean outbreak Johnson banned everyone in the Defense Department from making speeches. Therefore, he had some difficulty getting his personal publicity campaign rolling. Finally, however, he announced that the public was entitled to be informed about Korea. Whereupon Johnson's assistant secretary in charge of "political matters," Paul Griffith, rushed out and delivered the first speech. The speech turned out to be chiefly a defense of Johnson.

Sample from the speech: "I am proud to be associated at this critical time with our great Secretary of Defense . . . I want you to know that he is the most sincere, honest and capable executive that can be found anyplace in the world."

This statement must have made a hit with the boss, because Griffith repeated it word-for-word in another speech on September 4. In fact, he hardly changed a comma.

Common Sense Lack May Explain Failure In China

By MARK SULLIVAN

South Korea is a tiny country, of some 20,000,000 people. To prevent subjection of it to communism we are using the utmost strength we have available and are mobilizing more.

Yet South Korea is only a tiny piece of Asia. And up to two years ago an immense part of Asia, China with some 400,000,000 people, was under attempt at subjection to communism—an attempt coming from the same source and in other respects largely identical with the present attempt in South Korea. Against that attemp at communizing China the policy of the Truman administration did not exert resistance. That policy raises a question, expressible in three letters but monumental in its relation to present disaster, "Why?"

Answer Was Plausible

An answer made at the time was that we could not afford to exert ourselves in resisting the communizing of China, that our resources did not permit. That answer was plausible, to a considerable degree it had merit. We had begun in 1946 to lay out billions to enable countries of Western Europe to resist communism there, the aid that became known as the "Marshall Plan." The theory was that our resources were not enough to resist communism in both Europe and China, and that of the two it was more immediately important to resist in Europe. The countries in Western Europe that we were defending composed, next to the United States itself, the area of the world's greatest productive capacity and economic strength. Fall of them to Russian communism could be directly fatal.

Yet the answer that we had not the resources to resist the communizing of China's 400,000,000 becomes a tragic irony when today we are pouring out billions without stint to resist the communizing of South Korea's 20,000,000 people. The irony is increased by what was apparent in advance, that once Russian Communism should take over China it would attempt to take over the rest of Eastern and Southeastern Asia, including Korea.

When the overcoming of China by communism was under way, there was an outpouring of prophecy and warning about the consequences. A typical one came from a military source, Maj. Gen. Clair Chennault (ret.) who had been head of our Air Forces in China during World War II. Writing about the strategy of the Russian communist leaders he said: "The domination of China is one of (the) strategical essentials necessary . . . before they can feel safe in making war on the world." In a book entitled "China, the Land and the People," Gerald F. Winfield wrote in 1948: "Our stake in Asia has now become a matter of the survival of our democracy . . . even our very existence as a free people." A report of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs said that success by the communists in taking over China would result in "one Soviet-dominated world."

Now that the consequences have begun, with the communist agression in South Korea, there is inevitable questioning about the relation of the Truman administration to the communist overcoming of China when it was under way. The Republicans announce that the actions and policies of the Administration will be "reviewed completely." In such a review there is one condition, commonly overlooked, but having great weight.

One Group Opposed

At the time the communist conquest of China was under way, there was just one organized opposition to it. This was the Nationalist government of China under Chiang Kai-shek. Either Chiang Kai-shek would resist successfully, or the communists would triumph; and whichever the outcome it would be the final answer. In simple common sense the interest of the United States lay in giving Chiang Kai-shek every support we could. This the Truman administration conspicuously did not do. That we should not give Chiang Kai-shek large military and economic support was understandable, because of what we were committed to give Western Europe. But we did not give him even moral or political support; on the contrary we conspicuously withheld them. As an example we at one point publicly urged Chiang Kai-shek to take the Communists into a coalition government. This, and other actions and attitudes of the Truman administration caused Chiang Kai-shek to lose "face" with the Chinese people. And that loss of face was a major cause of his defeat.

In explanation of the Truman administration's attitude toward Chiang Kai-shek, it was said that his government was weak and inefficient. A frequent word used about him was "reactionary." As if that, whether justified or not, should have weight, considering the stake we had. Among the mistakes and worse of the Truman administration about China, a glaring one was lack of ordinary common sense.

Momentum Gathered To Pass Excess Profits Bill

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12—One of the invisible phenomena of the current session of Congress is the momentum behind the drive to get an excess profits tax bill passed right away.

It took all the influence of the administration, and particularly of the Treasury Department, and all the power of a Republican-Democratic coalition to shelve the proposed bill in the Senate. But this doesn't explain why the pressure was exerted there and in the House to get such a measure written hastily into law.

The basic reason, of course, is that an excess profits tax will lead to an excess of spending and to a wage inflation. A company that considers it will have to pay as much as 70 to 80 cents out of a profit-dollar to the government becomes less interested in what it spends than in what it saves.

Labor unions have had the idea that they would benefit immediately even from the application of an excess profits tax law retroactively to 1950 earnings. The theory seems to have prevailed that companies would suddenly increase their pay levels because they would have to give the bulk of their earnings to Uncle Sam anyway. There are other avenues for extravagant expenditure, and the general impression has been, based on wartime experience, that, since nearly every business expense is deductible for tax purposes, there would be plenty of spending. The spenders were behind the drive to get the bill enacted right away.

Various Kinds of Profiteering

But this presupposed, of course, that, while the government would control profits and prices, it would not control wages. Recalling the slow-moving experience on this factor during the last war, labor unions felt that they could move up their wage scales during the last quarter of 1950 and pave the way for further increases in 1951 before the wage-stabilization machinery would get going.

On the surface, the proponents of the excess profits tax have talked a lot about stopping "profiteering." They frequently refer to the blood being spilled in Korea and how important it is to make sacrifices on the dollar side. But the truth is that there are various kinds of profiteering besides increases in prices or earnings. The profiteering in wage scales has already begun. Though the cost of living has dropped since the hoarding panic reached its peak, the demand from the major labor unions is for increasing wages, anyway. Even contracts that did not permit reopening during the year 1950 were forced open by threats of strikes or so-called unauthorized walkouts.

Only the other day William Green, president of the AFL, said publicly that it would not be right to put on wage freezes or stabilization until wages catch up with the recent rises in living costs. What is stabilization really for except to prevent such upward spirals?

There are not, moreover, going to be any such profit margins for companies in 1950 or 1951 as there were in the war years. The appropriations by Congress for defense equipment and construction are far behind the actual expenditures. It is doubtful whether very much money, relatively speaking, will be spent on the war program in the year 1950 anyhow. In fact, the latest figures indicate that, because of the lag in spending, there may actually be a balanced federal budget in the fiscal year ending June 30 next. It is in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1952, that there will be a deficit, and even this will not be much larger than the budget deficit for the year which ended June 30, 1950, unless, of course, large-scale war breaks out.

Job For Experts

The increase in straight corporation tax rates already applicable to part of the year 1950 will bring in a sizable revenue. Disbursements by the government also will not be as big in the first half of 1951 as the headlines about spending may have indicated.

As for writing an excess profits tax bill, that is a real job for technical experts. The large companies, with big profits to use in computing their new rate on the base years 1946 to 1949 will come out very well, whereas the struggling smaller companies will come out with heavy penalties. This happened before. The so-called "hardship" clauses of the law which are supposed to alleviate the troubles of the smaller businesses are not worth the paper they are written on. The big companies certainly have an opportunity to lengthen their lead over smaller competitors, and the excess profits tax does that trick for them.

The enactment, therefore, of an excess profits tax law to apply to 1950 earnings has occasioned most of the opposition in business circles. Large business enterprises will promptly adjust themselves to an excess profits tax applicable at the beginning of January 1951. Small businesses, as usual, will get hurt. The so-called "liberals" and radicals will forget them because these proponents of the excess profits tax law are not, to be sure, the friends of small business. They are really the undeclared allies of inflation.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Curse Of Expediency

DR. John A. Mackay, president of the Princeton Theological Seminary, makes an interesting point about expediency. It is in relationship with our attitude toward China, but the importance of his remark lies in his own realm, namely, the moral basis of our lives. He says:

". . . Because the government of Peiping is the only government which controls that vast Asiatic area traditionally called China and because it will continue to control China for a very long time to come, political precedent as well as international expediency dictate at least a de facto recognition of the government in power."

If expediency is a suitable measure for international conduct, why not for national conduct or even personal conduct? Would Dr. Mackay justify an alliance between a governor of a state and Lucky Luciano because it is expedient politically?

"International expediency," pursued at Teheran, Yalta and Potsdam and at the various Moscow conferences, has brought us to the Korean war with every prospect of its being the first campaign in World War III. The rejection of moral attitudes by our leaders and the substitution therefore of improvisations based on expediency have reduced our international leadership to its present state of bankruptcy. For who can believe a leadership that signs an agreement at Cairo November 26, 1943, and betrays it at Teheran within five days?

That may have been expedient, but was it moral? Perhaps politicians need to be expedient, but do clergymen? That is a question which must be faced. For if clergymen and editorial writers and professors in universities all resort to the wiles of the politician, or justify retreat from morality in public affairs, who shall hold aloft the banner of right and decent living?

At another point, Rev. Dr. Mackay says:

"Any attempt on the part of the United States to impose upon China the Nationalist government of Formosa, which for one reason or another has definitely forfeited the confidence of the Chinese people, would do irreparable harm to Sino-American relations . . ."

First of all, the United States does not seek to impose any government upon any nation. China has passed through a revolution. The government now holding most of the country is a satellite of Soviet Russia, which organized the Chinese communist party in 1920. That government, headed by Mao Tze-Tung, seeks recognition. Thus far, such recognition has been withheld by the United States, which had also withheld recognition from Soviet Russia from 1917 to 1933. Nations have often delayed recognition until a succeeding government has proved its capacity to remain in power and to assume outstanding obligations.

Secondly, Dr. Mackay used a Soviet propagandistic term, "The Nationalist government of Formosa." The correct title is "the Nationalist government of China." That government has been in existence since 1927. With it, the United States has entered into contractual relations in the form of treaties and agreements. It is not unusual for a country to continue to do business with governments-in-exile. The De Gaulle government-in-exile, the Dutch government-in-exile and the Polish government-in-exile fought on our side during World War II.

But the Nationalist government of China is not a government-in-exile. It continues to function on Chinese soil and has offered the United States some 30,000 ground troops in this war, a fact which President Truman chose not to mention in his speech in which he listed the paltry aid offered by our United Nations allies.

Finally, Dr. Mackay does not know—anymore than I can know or you can—if Chiang Kai-Shek has lost the confidence of the Chinese

Russia's Rulers Cracking Whip On Selected Group Of Scapegoats

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

Soviet Russia's communists rulers are cracking the whip with deadly regularity on a selected group of scapegoats. It may even amount to a quiet behind-the-scenes reign of terror. Its purpose appears to be to fix the blame publicly for lack of home front goods while the Soviet Union diverts its economic power to heavy industry to support a vast war machine.

Soviet functionaries high enough to be able to bear blame publicly and low enough to bet out of the ruling echelon are feeling the lash. The ministries of agriculture, housing, light industry, science and education and others in the various republics of the U.S.S.R are daily targets of the official press.

A purge is indicated. A number of officials and lesser ministers have been fired. Possibly some met a worse fate.

Daily there are dark threats against those who "harm the state" in high places. There is no greater crime in the U.S.S.R. Monotonously the official press belabors "pilferers of Soviet property," of fraud, of graft, of carelessness in high places, of failures and defects, of the need to "struggle against the survivals of capitalism."

A junior edition of this apparent purge campaign has extended into the satellite countries. In Red East Germany, where the communists were jolted recently by the ouster and probable arrest of at least a half dozen top-ranking leaders, the controlled press now is blasting "unsatisfactory performances" in socialized industry and agriculture. In Hungary, there is a stepped up collectivization drive going on, along with ruthless liquidation of the kulaks—the well-off farmers.

Students of the mysterious ways of Soviet communism say the great purge of the thirties was conducted publicly to show the party dictatorship in strong action against persons in high places, giving the average Soviet citizen a spectacle of government power ostensibly working in his behalf and letting the chips fall where they may. But there was much public blood-letting then, and it probably was a mistake. This time the public part of the campaign concerns the accusations. Of punishments nothing is being said.

The campaign would, however, give the average Soviet citizen a target for blame if he lacks proper housing and the goods he needs. If he doesn't have them, at least somebody appears to be getting punished.

Gourmet Thermidor

By JULIUS LULLY

YOU think you are on vacation — I thought I was too! Why, oh why did you ask me to write this column? I suppose if I ask you to prepare a bouillabaisse, make a crab gumbo soup, or an imperial crab, you will probably feel as I do trying to write this column. However, it is interesting and intriguing to get a look into the other persons's business and attempt to learn what it is all about. Particularly when you live each day with thousands of people and learn to love and cater to them.

JULIUS LULLY

I have been doing just that for many years, in fact, starting way back in 1908, to be exact! I have had the pleasure of feeding Nick Longworth, Diamond Jim Brady, Irene Bordoni, John Sharpe Williams, Samuel Blythe, Theodore Roosevelt, up to the present day of Bing Crosby, Perle Mesta, J. Edgar Hoover, Louis Johnson, Howard McGrath, Helen Hayes and many, many other people from every walk of life.

•—•—•

I believe that people become more emotional and perturbed while reading columns or eating meals than at any other time. I have seen and heard them at their best and at their worst while doing either one. They become jubilant when it appeals to them and they like it. They become very unhappy when they don't like it!

Of course, I am more familiar with the eating because I have, all my life, catered with food rather than words.

Talking about TASTE, this is one for the book, and if anyone does not like the rest of my column, they can try this out and be very happy. I have never seen it fail!

Crab Divine

Take a pound of back-fin crab lump, put it in a mixing bowl and add to it a pinch of salt, pepper and paprika, four tablespoons of melted butter, about a dozen capers, more or less to taste, and enough mayonnaise to bind this together.

Butter a crab shell, like a salad, all a salad, all ingedients together, avoiding breaking the lumps into small pieces.

Butter a crab shell and fill with the above mixture to a height of 2½" to 3", shaped up like a "falsie."

Sprinkle a little melted butter and two tablespoons of sherry, bake in a hot oven from 20 to 25 minutes, browning well. Voila!

Clam Hash

This is terrific. Take about 15 to 20 cherrystone clams and put through a meat grinder, using the coarse holes. Saute this in butter with onions and green peppers which have been cut up fine. Add to this about half a quantity of small cube potatoes and brown all of this together similar to corn beef or roast beef hash and serve piping hot on toast!

Of course, I realize that this debut of mine in journalism is going to be talked about, laughed about, ridiculed about, tossed about and thrown out. However, I bear no grief toward anyone because I am the one that is shedding the tears. This column has cost me my limit of the finest trout in the world from one of the lakes in front of my window at the hotel, from which I can cast.

The sacrifice is worth it.

Please send me my fan mail.

Army Making Great Effort To Speed Mail To War Zone

By IRVING LEVINE

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, (INS)—Sgt. Steven Anderson, a GI in Korea, said today that he would like his wife Jennie to know that "I'm well but I'm blue."

Thirty-year-old Sgt. Anderson, of New Orleans, La., explained that he has not received a letter from his smiling, brown-eyed wife in more than three weeks.

Anderson proudly displays a photo of his wife, and is well aware that the fact that he has not received any letters is not Jennie's fault.

The Army realizes that the morale of GIs like Anderson depends greatly on the regular receipt of mail from home, and is making great efforts to speed its flow.

Capt. George R. Salyer, Eighth Army postal officer in Korea, said today that mail now is reaching the boys in Korea's front lines about seven days after it is dropped in the mail box in the United States.

Since all mail from Korea is sent air-mail, and since demands on air space on aircraft from Korea are vastly less than on inbound planes, letters are making even better time on their way to the United States.

So Sgt. Anderson may expect a letter soon.

Until recently, when the Korean war still was in the "fire-department stage," with American units dashing around to plug holes in the United Nations' defense perimeter, Capt. Salyer's problems were even greater.

During that critical period, mail not uncommonly reached a front-line position at a time when the addressee's unit had been moved only in the last few hours to another position on the defense perimeter.

Capt. Salyer comes from Hampton, Va.

He said that the volume of mail going out from Korea reflects accurately the tempo of battle. When hot fighting rages, mail from the battle sector falls to a trickle. But when the boys have more time, they devote a great deal of it to writing home.

One of today's letters, addressed to "a front-line GI" was from 15-year-old Samuel Harper, Yardville, N. J.

Harper told his nameless reader about his hobbies and enclosed a little gold cross which "has given me good luck and which I hope gives you even better luck." The youth asked the GI to answer.

Salyer said the flow of letters for lonely soldiers appears to be the result of a suggestion by a Philadelphia woman who wrote a note to her local paper about it.

Another idea the Army postal system has in this: Soldiers who do not have time to write can radiogram any three pre-composed phrases from a list of more than 300, to any point in the U. S. for 60 cents.

For instance, by choosing phrases 13, 321, and 102, a GI could send a radio message home saying:

"Many thanks for parcel. Am getting along all right. Can you send me any money?"

The Army post office also handles postal money orders and, according to Salyer's assistant, Lt. R. R. King, Maplewood, N. J., this department is doing a thriving business.

King, who was a postal officer in England during World War II, said: The boys are sending home much more money than before. I guess it is because there is no place to spend it over here.

"In one place the payroll last week amounted to $8,800 and out of this $8,500 was sent home."

BLONDE film star Marie McDonald, popularly known as "The Body," plays a supporting role this time as she holds up her recently adopted four-months-old son, Randolph, for his camera debut in Hollywood. The actress and her husband, Harry Karl, previously adopted a daughter, Denise Susan, who is now nine months old. (International)

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

Tom Dewey says he must run for governor of New York because of the trouble in Korea. Tammany will be bovinely contented if Tom runs for Korea because of the complications in Manhattan.

There is more to Tom's statement than just a chrip in a tree. It means the Korean question will be the shibboleth of the GOP National campaign. The GOP will hammer away at that thumb on the anvil and let the chips fall with the aces.

• — • — •

So the campaign has opened. Governor Dewey has driven the first wedge into the pie.

City Tax Bills Go Out Today

Cumberland real estate tax bills will be sent to 13,000 individuals and corporations today, George E. Davis, city tax collector, has announced.

The addition of one-half of one per cent per month will be added to all bills not paid by October 16, Davis added.

He explained that interest on the tax bills totals six per cent a year at this one-half per cent rate.

All bills are figured on the tax rate which has been set at $1.27 per $100.

City taxes are expected to net about $816,000, according to the estimate by City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson in setting up the levy for the fiscal year running from July 1, 1950, to June 30, 1951.

Davis recommended that persons appearing at the tax collectors office in the City Hall to pay their taxes bring their bills with them.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

Ghost writers are in great demand these days in Hollywood—but the great men who require their services are exacting taskmasters. One producer, for instance, hired a college professor to write a learned paper for him defending the morals of the community and flaying critics who declared his pictures were a sorry sort of advertisement for the American way in foreign countries. He read a draft of the proposed article with furrowed brow, and then told the professor, "It's all right, but I want you to take out those fancy words. I want to know what I'm talking about."

Another magnate fired a new ghost-writer because, he explained, "He doesn't understand my style of writing as well as the last fellow I had."

Then there was the day the old friend of a famous comedian passed away, and the comedian was asked to say a few words at the funeral. He called up his gag writer and said, "I've got to make a speech at a cemetery tomorrow. Rush me over a page of funeral jokes.

Mystery Object Tows Two Boats

PORTLAND, Me., (AP) — Crewmen of two Portland fishing draggers today told a strange story of being towed helplessly at sea by an unseen underwater object off Brier Island, N. S.

The sailors said they thought the object might have been a Russian submarine but added that their conclusions were based only on their understanding that no American subs were in the area and that Canada has none.

The 110-foot Cherokee and the 86-foot Evzone docked here to replace $3,000 worth of big nets and other gear lost in their separate adventures 180 miles east of Portland last Wednesday night.

"It was a nightmare and we all were scared to death," said Arthur W. Jordan, Cherokee skipper and unofficial spokesman for the 15 men aboard the two ships.

Jordan said he and his brother, Thomas, skipper of the Evzone, are convinced their nets and heavy cables hooked onto a submarine. They said the Coast Guard told them no American subs were in that area last Wednesday.

Both vessels had their sterns dragged beneath the water by a terrific haul just before their cables snapped and they were freed. The Evzon was towed an hour and the Cherokee about 25 minutes.

The two skippers said they are convinced the object that tugged them was not a whale and added that shiny wear on the cables where they parted is evidence they were waring on a metal surface.

Squirrel Season Will Open With Low Game Supply

With the 15-day squirrel season opening at sunrise Friday, Regional Game Warden Joseph A. Minke said the supply of the game is only about 50 per cent of normal, due to a too-early season in past years which has resulted in killing of mother squirrels before they have a chance to raise their young.

Squirrels usually have two litters each year, one in the spring and the second late in August or early September.

Limit of Six Daily

The bag limit of squirrels is six daily, Minke said. Hunting is legal only between sunrise and sunset, he added.

The same situation applies in Garrett County where the number of animals are also about half of normal.

Another factor which has cut down the number of squirrels is the shortage of acorns and hickory nuts in the past few years.

Minke reported that the upland game season, which follows the squirrel season, will be better than ever this year. The open winter and stocking program of the State Inland Game and Fish Commission has resulted in larger numbers of rabbits, grouse, quail and wild turkeys, Minke pointed out.

There has been a big increase in the number of rabbits and the open winter this year aided propagation of the game.

Turkeys On Increase

Wild turkeys are also on the increase, but Minke warned hunters who will be in the woods during squirrel season not to shoot at any turkeys they come upon. In recent years many turkeys have been killed or crippled by hunters during the squirrel season, Minke said.

Grouse have also increased in recent years and the return of quail in larger numbers was explained by Minke.

During the very severe winter of 1936 the quail in Allegany County were almost wiped out, Minke said. Snow from the latter part of November to late in the spring covered the ground and the quail, which cannot stand too much cold, died from the effects of the weather and lack of food.

Quail are not usually found in any numbers in Garrett County due to the cold weather in that mountainous area.

Minke said that the less severe winter weather of the past few years the quail have increased so that once again they are among the game available for hunters.

Fast cooling is essential to egg quality.

Boys Club Discussed

A boys club organization at Cresaptown will be furthered at a meeting in the Cresaptown Fire Hall, Sunday at 2 p. m.

At the session last Sunday, Morgan C. Harris, state's attorney, who has been president of the Cumberland Police Boys Club for several years, spoke on the benefits derived by the members of a boys clubs and commented that it is one method of teaching youngsters good citizenship.

A suggested recreation program for the club was outlined by Officer John Henry Stitcher, of the Cumberland Police Force, who has participated in Police Club work for many years.

It Adds So Much to the Joy of Living!

You walk out of the house, and there it stands—waiting for you in the driveway.

You've seen it hundreds of times before—but it's so attractive, there in the sunlight, that you stop instinctively for a second look.

The sun lights up the gleaming chrome and frames the whole gorgeous picture. The soft finish shimmers in the shadows. A pattern of hand-tailored fabric shows through the open window. And there's the beautiful steering wheel —inviting you in.

Yes, it's a lovely day! And the next thing you know, you're out in traffic—and the powerful, soft-throated engine is gliding you along as if by automatic propulsion.

You ride so softly and quietly and easily that judging time and distance is the hardest work you do!

The lights turn red and the lights turn green—the hills and valleys flow under the wheels . . . and every stretch of highway ahead is a study in enchantment.

Though you take to the highway ten times a day, each trip is a thrill all over again. You thrill to its beauty, the way it rides, the way it behaves, the way it handles—and, being human, you like the admiring glances which other motorists toss your way.

Happiness, as everyone knows, is a state of mind—but it is aided and abetted by your satisfaction with the things about you.

And this we can promise for Cadillac: It will add to your satisfaction every mile you drive. Many say it enriches their lives to an unbelievable degree.

Given Up For Dead In Korean War, Ex-Salisbury Cop Now Recovering

SALISBURY, Md.—(AP)—Lt. Joseph Pope, once a Salisbury city policeman, was given up for dead after he was wounded by a shell on the Korean front, but he's back in the United States now and is recovering.

He was flown to Walter Reed Hospital at Washington and has talked on the telephone with his family—his mother, his wife, and two children, Joe, Jr., 8 and Patricia, 5.

Pope is 30 and the veteran now of two years. He formerly managed a taxicab company and drove a Red Star bus here.

He was wounded on an embattled hillside at Chinju. His infantry company had been pinned down and badly riddled by Red gunners high on the hill.

"I wish we had some tanks," Pope told his regimental commander.

Brig. Gen. John E. Church, commander of the 24th Division and formerly a National Guard instructor at Frederick, Md., overheard it and ordered up three tanks.

Pope mounted one of the tanks and directed the assault that knocked out the Communist guns. He had been a tank sergeant in Patton's Third Army in World War II.

The tanks finished their mission and the men had crawled out when an enemy shell hit the one Pope had been riding. He was the only one hurt—a terrible head wound with one eyeball blown out.

He was given up for dead at an aid station but the medics heard him groan and went to work on him again. He was moved to a hospital at Pusan and was unconscious for 23 hours.

The story of how he was wounded was gathered by his wife, who then was in Japan with the children. The family had gone to Tokyo after he was assigned there early this year. They were flown back to the United States when he was wounded and arrived here soon after he was returned to Walter Reed.

The wound has dulled his vision but he is not expected to lose his sight. He will be in the hospital at least two more months. It is probable that he will have more surgery.

Blackwell Loses One-Hit Contest

Throws Game Away To Brooklyn, 3-1

BROOKLYN, Sept. 12 (AP)—Ewell Blackwell of the Cincinnati Reds held the Dodgers to one hit today—a single by Gene Hermanski—but threw his own game away in a wild eighth inning in which the home team scored twice without hitting the ball out of the infield to win 3-1.

The victory ended a three-game losing streak for the second-place Brooks and likewise snapped Cincinnati's winning skein at five.

Blackwell opened the fateful eighth by hitting Catcher Bruce Edwards in the back with a pitched ball, and before it ended he had thrown wildly past first base, walked the Dodger pitcher, Carl Erskine, and uncorked a wild pitch. Box:

Detroit Tigers Edge Nats, 3-2

Bearden Walks Seven, Suffers Eighth Loss

DETROIT, Sept. 12 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers made their five hits pay off in a big way today as they eked out a 3-2 decision over the stubborn Washington Senators to climb into a temporary first place tie in the American League race.

The Senators made it a fight as they picked away at the three-run lead the Tigers built up in the early innings.

Senator starting pitcher Gene Bearden was stingy with base hits but seven walks proved costly. He was charged with his eighth loss. Box:

By C. V. BURNS

Clem Clower of Petersburg, W. Va., secretary of the Alleghany Baseball League, reports that Earlie Godwin, head of the Elkins team that failed to finish its schedule, is suing the league president and the league for his franchise fee, plus $5 that he posted on a forfeit he presented and lost, plus $40 for four home games he was to have had in Elkins when he jumped the circuit.

"It all totals about $225, which is a lot of money," Clower says. "In fact, doggone near as much as we have in the treasury.

"Godwin says that he will withdraw the suit if the league will permit him to enter the league next season. This is a swell situation. A fellow gets his temperature boiling and quits the league, causing a mess of the schedule and now he wants back in next year on the same franchise fee that he had when he took his Russian walk.

Clem says he expects to be involved in a session of court sometime in November. The league happens to have two lawyers within the working organization.

If the case goes to court it probably will be the first of its kind in the tri-state area.

Stories have appeared in Pittsburgh and Washington papers in recent days relating to superior court suits totaling $12,000 filed by three Cumberland (Md.) horse owners against the Scarborough Downs Racing Association at Scarborough, Me.

The owners are Albert F. Fritche who asks $3,000, Willie J. Johnson $5,000 and Raymond E. Vogelman $4,000. They contend their thoroughbreds lost valuable conditioning time by being deprived of stable space in June at the Maine track.

Vogelman, Johnson and Fritche are not Cumberland horsemen. They reside near Baltimore and they raced their thoroughbreds at Fairgo in June. Scarborough Downs' meeting opened on July 1.

With the local scholastic football season now under way, the fans will note that there are several changes in the 1950 rules, the most radical one being that concerning fumbles.

Heretofore, the ball was dead when the defense recovered a fumble.

Now the ball may be advanced, regardless of whether the fumble is recovered in flight or after it has touched the ground.

The reason for this change is that other game conditions have changed to remove the original reasons for declaring the ball dead after a fumble has touched the ground and is recovered by the defense. The alleged safety factors in the former dead ball provisions do not exist.

Restoration of this rule which was removed from the books some years ago should add another thrill to the schoolboy sport.

Please bear in mind, however, that this rule differs in collegiate football in which only the offense may advance a recovered fumble or backward pass.

• — • — •

Another scholastic rules change provides that the referee may stop the clock to have a player examined if he appears to be in distress. If he does this, time-out is charged to the team.

• — • — •

The penalty for pass interference includes a provision whereby an additional 15 yards may be added to the first 15-yard penalty if pass interference is also unsportsmanlike.

This takes care of the claim that a player might deliberately commit pass interference in certain situations where a receiver is near a goal line.

In actual practice, the intentional committing of forward pass interference is a poor gamble. The assessing of the additional penalty is rare because the penalty is severe enough without it. Even without interference, only a small percentage of such passes are completed.

Greatest number of points scored by team during 10-game season: Fort Hill, 361 in 1949.

Greatest number of points scored by an individual in one season: Earl "Lefty" Bruce, Allegany, 138 in 10 games in 1948.

Greatest number of points after touchdown scored in one season: Donald Decker, Fort Hill, 39 in 1949.

Perfect record for single season: Allegany (9-0) in 1941; Allegany (9-0) in 1942.

Charley "Snow" Walters of Mt. Savage says he batted against "Brainy" Miller, the big Ellerslie righthander, 21 years ago, and he's hunting witnesses to prove it so he can collect a wager.

Peter J. "Bunny" Buntag, who has managed Randall "Skeets" Starkey through his 13 bout winning streak as a pro, is now president of the Greater Pittsburgh Boxing Managers' Association which has applied for permission to organize.

The association aims to protect the manager's interest in his fighters, so that nobody can steal them, and to see that minimum purses are established for preliminary fighters.

Home attendance of the Johnstown Johnnies of the Mid-Atlantic Baseball League was off 60 per cent this year, dropping to 43,000 from 103,000 in 1949.

An Altoona (Pa.) sports writer says that the concensus of opinion among fans there is that the Pennsylvania city shouldn't be without organized basketball during the coming season.

Altoona is one of the charter members of the All-American League in which Cumberland has been represented for the past three seasons.

The second game of the series between the B. P. O. Elks and Fraternal Order of Eagles for the championship of the Rocking Chair Softball League is set for today at 6 p. m., at Penn Avenue Field. The Eagles won the opener, 4-0, and can take the title by winning today's game.

Beall Eleven Allegany's Foe Here Saturday

Pence Names Players, Officials Selected

Only one regular of last year's team that won nine games and lost one will be in uniform Saturday night when Allegany High School opens its football season with Beall High School of Frostburg at the local stadium at 8 o'clock.

Ronnie Sisk, quarterback, is the old regular holding over from the 1949 eleven. Donnie Lease, regular fullback, who is now a senior is ineligible to play because he became 19 before September 1.

Coach Robert E. Pence last night announced that he will select his starters on Saturday night from the following players:

Ends—Joe Hager, Ronald Chapman, John Eversole, Ronald Hilton.

Guards — Pat McKenzie, Bruce Price, Richard Schramm, Lance Statler.

Centers—Mike Birmingham, Jack Gerhard, John Snyder.

Fullbacks — Dick Widdows and David Burkett.

Coach William P. Hahn's Fort Hill gridders are working hard this week in preparation for their battle with the Washington and Lee High Generals of Alexandria, Va., here Friday night at 8 o'clock.

The lineup of Coach Kenneth Batson's eleven will include Eberat, 200-pound, 6-foot-1 left halfback, who is a passing wizard and runs hard, Bill Leslie, a transfer from Rhode Island, and there is a possibility Lee Brison, star ball carrier from last season's Wilson's inter-high champs will be with the Generals. The visitors have four returning lettermen at tackle and at least four players who scale 200 pounds.

Jake Defends Crown In 15-Round Contest

DETROIT, Sept. 12 (INS)—The prophecy of an idol who now lies in a grave will be the driving force behind Frenchman Laurent Dauthuille tomorrow night in his 15-round title match with meddleweight champion Jack LaMotta.

Douthuille has come to Detroit as a hopeful avenger for countryman Marcel Cerdan for it was in this city that the latter lost his 160-pound crown to LaMotta before losing his life in an airplane crash.

Cerdan had told a Paris newsparer before making the ill-fater journey to the United States that his friend Dauthuille would some day be his successor.

This cherished memory will go into the ring with the 26-year-old challenger along with the remembrance that he beat LaMotta in a 10-round non-title bout in Montreal on Feb. 21, 1949.

Like the gracious Cerdan, Dauthuille refuses to openly predict victory. He says:

"LaMotta is a pretty good fighter. A very hard man. He is courageous and has a big heart. I don't know whether I am going to win but I will do my best."

Most observers believe that the tousle-haired Frenchman's best will not be good enough against the rock 'em-sock 'em LaMotta. Jake has never been knocked off his feet in 94 fights and has lost only 14 of these.

Jake has been especially successful in Detroit. He has won all but one of 17 matches in the Motor City. Ray Robinson broke the victory charm but the city's fans booed the decision and cheered LaMotta.

Michigan Boxing Commissioner Floyd Stevens predicts that 17,000 spectators will set a new Detroit record of gate receipts by paying $130,000 to witness the fight.

Ring time for the international 15 round battle that not be carried on radio or television, is 10:00 p. m. (EST). They will weigh in at 10:00 a. m. (EST). Jake gets 45 per cent, Dauthuille 15 per cent.

Selector Wins In Feature At Atlantic City

Toreador Cops 1st And Returns $108

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 12 (AP)—Selector running in the colors of the late William G. Helis accounted for the featured Policemen's Benevolent Association Purse at Atlantic City today.

The brown colt, a good stake winner last year, had been idle for two months but proved half a length better than Bluestone Farm's Val's Kid in the six furlongs dash. Brookmeade Stable's Rocky Heights was three lengths away in third position. Roy R. McClarin's Abbottstown lost the show award in a head photo decision.

A good offday crowd of 12,672 witnessed the program and made Selector a lukewarm choice. The son of Thumbs Up paid $8.00, $5.40 and $3.40. Val's Kid paid $4.40, $3.00 and Rocky Heights, $3.20.

Logan Batcheller, who had previously won the second race aboard Hankie, sent Selector to the front shortly after the break and after shaking off The Peer in the first quarter-mile held Val's Kid safe through the homelane. Jockey Bobby Martin, rider of the last named, lodged a futile claim of foul against the winner. The time over a muddy track was 1:12.

There was a husky payoff in the fifth race when Mrs. William E. Snell's Toreador won his first race of the year to pay $108.60, $37 and and $15 across the board.

George I, German-born king of England from 1714 to 1727, could neither speak nor write the English language.

Women Boxers Banned By NBA

DETROIT, Sept. 12 (AP)—Ever hear of women boxing? Well they did in West Virginia and want no more.

At the request of the West Virginia Athletic Commission, the National Boxing Association today recommended a ban on women boxing.

Patrick J. Beacom of the West Virginia Board framed the resolution which was passed.

One of the points raised by Beacom was that "such bouts engaged in may cause such physical harm to the women boxers as to do great injury to the already sick boxing game."

Windflower Returns $2.50 At Aqueduct

AQUEDUCT, N. Y., Sept. 12 (AP)—Belair Stud's Vulcania and Brandywine Stable's Windflower divided the laurels in the two divisions of the Naiad, an allowance dash of six furlongs for 2-year-old fillies before 23,239 fans here today.

Windflower, getting a step at the gate, opened up four lengths in the run down the backstretch, but was only three quarters of a length to the good of Greentree Stable's fast-clasing Toto at the wire in a race run in 1:13 3-5. Woolford Farm's Bedazzle was third.

Ovie Scurlock rode the daughter of Snark-New Flower, who was scoring her second victory in nine starts. Overlooked in the wagering, Windflower returned mutuels of $26.50, $9.30 and $5.10. Toto paid $4.70 and $3.20 and Bedazzle was $3.60 to show.

Vulcania was timed in 1:12 2-5 in scoring by two lengths over Jan Burke's Who Dini, who was up in the final stride to nose Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark's Valadium, the favorite.

The daughter of Some Chance-Vagrancy, piloted by Bobby Bernhardt, was fourth choice in the wagering, returning mutuels of $13.40, $5.50 and $3.00. Who Dini was $4.40 to place and $2.60 to show and Valadium paid $2.50 to show.

It was the second victory in five starts for Vulcania.

Colts Release Eleven Players

Must Cut Three More To Meet Limit Of 32

BALTIMORE, Sept. 12 (AP)—The Baltimore Colts cut loose 11 players today, among them some old timers in the play for pay football business.

Coach Clem Crowe must release three others in order to meet the National Football League's 32-player limit when the season opens Saturday.

One of those cut free today was Lamar (Racehorse) Davis, an end who was the last holdover from the Miami Seahawks — the straggling outfit which Baltimore took over when it organized an All-American Conference club in 1947.

Fullbacks Dick Poillon and Jack Jenkins, formerly with the Washington Redskins, got the axe. So did Fullback Spiro Dellerba, end Bill Leonard, Guard Al Sidorik, and Tackle Jim Spruill, all veterans of previous Colt campaigns.

The others on which Crowe asked waivers were ends Zeke O'Conor and J. B. Ison, Center Chip Armstrong, and Halfback Bob Kelly.

MIRROR OF YOUR MIND

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

Should you tell a girl men "don't appreciate her"?

Answer: No. Not even if you think it is so. For while no girl can hope to have everyone like or admire her, it is each girl's job to "get herself across" to her contemporaries, not to sit back and condemn them for not noticing her virtues and talents. A girl, no less than a boy, should realize that the world can get on very well without her, and that its acceptance is something she must win by her own efforts, not demand because she feels she deserves it. Girls who don't learn this are the ones who become embittered spinsters.

Can you make your wife into a good cook?

Answer: Maybe she already is one. But if not, you'll get nowhere by nagging and complaining, still less by holding some other woman—your mother, for instance—up to her as an example. If she looks on cooking as a disagreeable duty, it's largely because she feels it brings her no prestige or credit. Let her know that you regard it as an art, and give her critical approval when she is especially successful at it, and the chances are she'll end by taking pride in it and by wanting to make herself an expert.

Is your idea of the future self-revealing?

Answer: Yes, say Veterans Administration psychologists John S. Kafka and Hedda Bolgar. One of the newer "projection techniques" is to ask someone to write his autobiography, not as of now, but as he thinks he might write it toward the end of his life. The result is judged on the basis of how realistic and consistent it is as well as on its specific contents. The idea fascinates most people, but to put it into execution has proved to require both intelligence and freedom from unsolved emotional conflicts.

Cook To Seek Re-election To Maryland Legislature

NOEL SPEIR COOK

Noel Speir Cook, local attorney, announced last night that he will seek re-election to the House of Delegates on the Republican ticket.

Cook was born at Frostburg and is descended from the Speir family, among the early Scotch settlers of Lonaconing and long prominent in business in this county. He was graduated from Beall High School and Frostburg State Teachers College.

He taught school for a short time and then entered the University of Maryland Law School, from which he was graduated in 1930, having attended night classes while working in the daytime at the Fidelity and Deposit Company as assistant to Theodore R. McKeldin, former Mayor of Baltimore and present Republican nominee for Governor.

While at the University he distinguished himself by winning the Honor Case, the most coveted prize the law school offers. He passed the bar examinations a few months after his graduation and became associated with the Baltimore law firm of Keech, Deming, Carman and Tucker, where he remained until 1934. At that time he returned to Frostburg to resume his practice in this county. He was city attorney for the town of Lonaconing for a number of years and at the present time has law offices in both Frostburg and Cumberland.

Cook was elected to the House of Delegates in 1946 and is a member of the Judiciary Committee.

He is a member of the Young Men's Republican Club of Frostburg and was the first Frostburg member of Cumberland Chapter Order of DeMolay. He is a 32nd degree Mason and is also a member of the Elks, Eagles, Tall Cedars, Ali Ghan Shrine, Allegany-Garrett County Sportsmen's Association, and the Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity.

In 1935 Cook was married to Anne Ruddle, of Franklin, W. Va., who was a staff nurse at Memorial Hospital. They reside in Frostburg, where they are members of St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

that the Tydings Senate subcommittee investigating communism didn't do the job it was instructed to do.

Monaghan seeks the Democratic nomination to the Senate seat now occupied by Senator Millard E. Tydings. Tydings is up for re-election to a fifth term.

Tydings headed a Senate subcommittee which investigated allegations of communists employed by the State Department. It spent much of its time investigating charges preferred by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

Monaghan quoted the Senate resolution setting up the subcommittee as calling for a complete study of whether persons disloyal to the United States "are or have been employed by the Department of State."

He then cited a number of cases in which former State Department employes were charged with disloyalty, adding:

"Any proper investigation x x x should have included an investigation of the facts in these cases — not an investigation of a Republican senator."

The subcommittee report was critical of Sen. McCarthy.

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD
By LOUELLA PARSONS

Dinah Shore

I walked in on these two busy, busy young producers, Jerry and Norman, at RKO, and found them in shirt sleeves in a conference. I'm afraid I broke up the confab, but I did want to check the story about Dinah, and they tell me it's true.

The deal for Toscanini to conduct the spirited John Philip Sousa tune, "Stars and Stripes Forever," is almost set.

Wonderful that the estate of the late "March King" is turning over the proceeds to the Damon Runyon Fund.

Right on the heels of his separation from Liz (Mrs. D), Dan Dailey was handed the script of "I Can Get It for You Wholesale." This is a far cry from "My Blue Heaven" and the other musicals he has done with Betty Grable, but Dan is as good in his serious moments as he is in high comedy.

Too, he'll get Susan Hayward, the redhaired beauty, as his co-star.

He leaves for New York tomorrow to film some scenes, and when he comes back it's my guess he and Liz will make their separation legal. This I hate to print, but I don't believe they will get together for a reconciliation.

Bette Davis, still honeymooning with Gary Merrill, would like very much to form an independent company and star her husband—so I hear. Well, I can't blame Bette.

"I've seen a few shots of "All About Eve" and Darryl Zanuck has got a new star. He's another Gable.

As for Bette—she's back on both feet brighter than ever.

Chit-chan: I am wondering, just wondering mind you, if all this publicity about 16-year-old Mimi Medart and King Farouk is not a bid for a movie contract for the S. Louis teen-ager?

While the "Lights Out" company was working in Philadelphia, Mark Robson prevailed upon Benedict Gimbel, Jr., who likes the movies, to play an extra. Benedict, happy as a lark, worked hard for four days.

Now, I've got news for Ben. When Robson started cutting "Lights Out" he had to cut all the scenes in which young Gimbel appeared.

Too bad, Ben, because Mark says you were really good.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Virginia Warren, attractive daughter of our Gov. Earl Warren, and Ed Pauley Jr., son of California's former Democratic chief, a Seacomber duo. Two nice young people to whom politics are unimportant.

Whether it's friendship or love I wouldn't or couldn't say, but blonde Virginia Field is seen everywhere with Willard Parker, Columbia actor.

My goddaughter, Barbara Bebe Lyon, telephoned me from London to say that she is being married in St. Monica's Catholic Church in Santa Monica, where she was baptized. I asked permission to give her and her fiance, George Getty, their wedding reception. I would like to do it if Bebe and Ben are willing.

You'd be surprised to know who's the attraction that takes Barbara Payton to Las Vegas practically every weekend.

STRIKE A MATCH...

WHAT BECOMES OF THE FLAME?

An inexpensive little Want Ad was the spark that blazed the way to the founding of the Sears, Roebuck & Co. business.

The partners of this great mail order business were brought together by a 55c Help Wanted ad in the Chicago DAILY NEWS.

In 1886 Richard W. Sears, who was station agent for the Minneapolis & St. Paul Railway in North Redwood, discovered that he could make money by selling watches by mail. He moved to Chicago. He needed a watch maker and adjuster, so he inserted the following ad in the DAILY NEWS.

"Watchmaker wanted with references who can furnish tools. State age, experience, and salary required. T39 Daily News."

The ad was answered by A. C. Roebuck. This was the beginning of a business which last year spent over 25 million dollars on newspaper advertising alone, and did a volume of business amounting to over 2 billion dollars.

The advertising medium which brought Sears and Roebuck together has never been forgotten.

Puppy Love

FOR the benefit of the hordes who love dogs and the handfuls who love humans, I reproduce a letter which I received recently from a man who lives in a small town in New Jersey:

Billy Rose

Dear Billy.

On Wednesday, August 30, the following item appeared in a New York newspaper: "Sympathetic neighbors began a door-to-door search in a 25-block area of Yorkville yesterday in a last desperate attempt to save 8-year-old Joseph Young from the perilous necessity of anti-rabies shots. That Friday morning the boy was bitten on the left leg by a small black-and-white fox terrier, and unless the dog is located and found to be free from rabies, Joseph will have to submit to a series of 14 injections. He suffers from a rheumatic heart condition, and the family doctor has warned that the reaction from the shots might be fatal."

Since this item appeared, several similar cases have been reported in the local press, and for the benefit of dog owners who are reluctant to turn over their pets to the authorities under such circumstances, I'd like to pass along the following true story.

A couple of years ago a city family named Myers bought a house in our neck of the woods opposite the Widow McMinn's farm. The Myers had a 9-year-old son named Billy, and Billy had a Scotch terrier named Whiskey—and three weeks after the family moved in the widow hailed them into court on the charge of harboring a vicious animal.

It seems that Whiskey, unused to life in the country, had reduced one of the lady's white Leghorns to a disorderly pile of feathers, and under our local statutes a "killer" dog must be sent to the pound and asphyxiated.

Judge Allan Gedney, however, found two mitigating circumstances (a) the chicken had committed the initial misdemeanor by trespassing on the Myers' property, and (b) this was Whiskey's first offense, and a city-trained dog could hardly be expected to know all the rural laws.

"Sentence suspended," the judge pronounced Billy, "but from now on the dog is to be muzzled and kept on a leash. And there will be no clemency in case of a second offense."

A week later, Billy was walking Whiskey through town—leashed but unmuzzled—when he bumped into Mrs. McMinn coming out of the supermarket, her arms full of bundles. Scared stiff that she would notice the uncaged nose of his pet, the kid turned and raced down the street—and ran smack-dab into even worse trouble.

The trouble was a local boy named Randy, several inches taller than Billy, who decided he didn't like the "fancy-pants" from the city and started to rough him up. That is, he did until Whiskey sized up the situation and nipped the bully neatly in the leg.

Billy took one look at the blood oozing from his adversary's stocking, and another at the Widow McMinn who was still standing in front of the store. Then he grabbed the leash, dashed into the nearest alley and didn't stop running until he was home.

That evening our local paper carried the story about Randy being bitten by an unidentified dog, and at the dinner table Billy's father read it aloud. When he came to the part about the 14 painful injections which Randy would have to take if the dog wasn't located, Billy asked to be excused and went to his room.

Later that evening, knowing full well that it meant the death of his pet, he confessed to his parents that the culprit they were looking for was Whiskey.

Next morning the terrier was found free of rabies, but the parents of Randy filed a complaint against the Myers family. At the trial the same judge presided, and to make matters worse the Widow McMinn stepped forward and asked permission to address the Court.

"Your Honor," she began, "it so happens that I witnessed the whole thing, and although, as the Court knows, I ain't overfond of this p'tickler dog, I want to see justice done. I've always heard tell that self-defense, with or without a weapon, is a good defense in a court of law. Well, seeing as how this small boy was attacked by the bigger boy—and the only weapon he had to defend himself with was his dog—I say that this dog acted not as a dog in this p'tickler case but as a weapon.

"I of course intended to report the matter to the police, but the little fella beat me to it, and seeing as how Your Honor warned him what would happen to his dog in case of a second offense, I think he deserves a whale of credit for bringing the critter forward voluntarily."

The prosecuting parties quickly saw the justice of the widow's plea, as did the court, and the case against Whiskey was dismissed. And the last I heard of him, the terrier seemed to be adjusting himself fine to country life.

In other words, if Billy's case is any criterion, a dog owner who is honorable enough to take responsibility for the actions of his pet stands a good chance of getting fair-minded and sympathetic treatment in court. And I think you'll grant that I'm in a pretty good position to know about such things.

Very truly yours,
ALLAN J. GEDNEY.
Justice of the Peace.

COULD THE PAPER REFER TO THE TIP OF AN ISLAND BEYOND THE ONE THAT FILLS THE GAP?
NO, THERE'S NO ISLAND TO BE SEEN THERE
THEN WE'RE ON THE WRONG TRACK ALTOGETHER.
I DON'T THINK SO. THE ISLAND WE SEE IS THE ONE THAT'S MEANT
HOW COULD THAT BE? AN ISLAND CAN'T CHANGE ITS BASE.
STRANGE TO SAY, I THINK THAT'S WHAT HAS HAPPENED— IN A WAY.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our husband, father and grandfather, David F. McIntosh, who died three years ago, September 12, 1947.

Your work on earth was well done, Dad,
We who loved you know the best;
God had a mansion for you above
And we know he will give you eternal rest.
You were a wonderful husband and father,
And our hearts are sad and sore,
But beyond the sunset you are waiting
'Till God brings us all together once more.

Sadly missed by his wife,
Mrs. David F. McIntosh,
Children and Grandchildren

Cards of Thanks

We wish to thank our friends, relatives and neighbors who were so kind and generous to us following the sudden death of our beloved son and brother, Robert Earl Neubiser. We especially wish to thank Rev. Oberkircher, the choir, pallbearers, flower bearers and the ones who donated cars and sent floral tributes.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Neubiser, Jr., and Sons

Railroad Stocks Hit High Of 19 Years In Market

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—With a roar of power railroad stocks streaked ahead to a 19-year high today.

Not since 1931 has the rail group, as measured by the Associated Press average of 15 carrier issues, touched today's peak.

Leaders in the rail division advanced 50 cents to an extreme of $3.75 a share. Final prices were tops for the day in most cases.

The market as a whole, according to the AP 60-stock average, equalled its 1950 high which in turn was the best level since June, 1946. Gains extended to around $2 a share. The overall rise was the largest in nearly two months.

Rails contributed heavily to the day's activity which on the whole was surprisingly small in view of the size of the market's advance. Only 1,680,000 shares changed hands, compared with 1,860,000 yesterday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks jumped 1.1 to 80.3. Industrials and rails were neck and neck for first place while utilities showed only a minor rise.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

"The Authority on Authorities"

OUTWITTING A KIBITZER

SOMETIMES a kibitzer, sitting at the corner of the table and watching two hands, notes that a certain finesse is bound to lose. He expects the declarer to stake his chances of success on that play, though he himself sees a way whereby the declarer can protect himself against the loss of that trick. Not expecting the declarer to have the acumen required to spot this move, he is bound to be pleased when that worthy outwits him by doing just as he should.

West led the club K, and sighting the dummy caused the kibitzer in the Southwest corner to count one loser each in clubs, diamonds and hearts, plus another in spades since the finesse was sure to lose. He expected South to play "Papa and Mama" bridge, winning that with the club A, scoring the spade A, returning to dummy with the diamond A and then trying the spade finesse. When that lost, West would surely cause his side to peel off one trick each in the three side suits, beating the contract.

The kibitzer, however, saw an alternative play. It could prevent a loser in diamonds and thereby put South in position where he could afford to lose a trick in trumps. He didn't expect South to try it, but, by golly, he did. After winning the first trick with the club A, South led to the spade A and K to fell a possible singleton or doubleton Q, then led the heart K. East won with the A and returned a club to West's 10. Now the diamond J was won by the A, whereupon South led to the heart Q, heart J and heart 10, on which he discarded the diamond 5.

That left South without any diamond losers, so when West used the spade Q to ruff the trick, it was the last which the defenders could score. The kibitzer thereupon patted South on the back.

Petersburg Again Threatened By Flood

With some sections of highways leading to Petersburg, W. Va., already under water residents of the south section of that flood-conscious town were leaving their homes this morning as streams continued rising.

Town officials said the South Branch of the Potomac River still had about five feet to rise at 1 a. m. but the North Fork five miles west of Petersburg already was over its banks.

The North Fork had closed Route 28 leading from Petersburg to Elkins and Trooper C. H. Lewis reported he was unable to return to the community from a point about eight miles west of there.

D. L. Judy, an employe of the West Virginia State Road Commission, said Lunice Creek was out of its banks in the south section of the town "behind the tannery and down by the fair grounds."

Mayor C. L. Lord reported that close to 50 persons had left their homes in the south section and were being cared for at the school house which was opened shortly after midnight.

Judy, who works in a state road office in South Petersburg, said records and equipment were being moved out at 1 a. m. and he said "It looks like we're going to get it. But I hope we won't have serious trouble."

Judy said he expects the rain-filled streams to reach their height at 3 a. m. (EST).

The North Fork of the Potomac which was reported out of its banks flows into the South Branch at Cabins about five miles west of Petersburg. It is after that the water passes through Petersburg.

Police earlier reported that several families were marooned, but later information did not confirm this.

Mayor Lord said the fire siren sounded shortly after midnight to call firemen to duty and they were all standing by to assist. It was the firemen who sounded the warning in the south section where Lunice Creek went out of its banks.

West Side Group Starts Anti-Dirt Organization

Citizens Want Smoke Ordinance Enforced

A group of residents of the West Side of the city made preliminary plans last night at West Side School for the organization of a permanent civic group to wage a determined campaign for a cleaner city.

The prime purpose of the organization, and its first and chief objective, will be rigid enforcement of the city's smoke ordinance, and if the ordinance is not adequate to clean up smoke, dirt and fly ash, to have it amended and strengthened, according to James Alfred Avirett, temporary chairman.

Meet Again September 26

The group decided to have a second meeting at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday, September 26, in the West Side school auditorium, for the purpose of electing officers and acting on a constitution and by-laws. At that meeting, all residents of the area are invited, Avirett announced.

Committees appointed last night to complete details of the organization include:

Nominating, F. Allan Weatherholt, chairman; Dr. Leland B. Ransom, Mrs. Charles L. Kopp, J. Henry Holzshu and Mrs. Ross Decker.

Attendance and Membership, Ralph C. Isiminger, chairman; Joseph H. Reinhart, Jr., Mrs. T. L. Rudd, Herbert L. Nesbit, Mrs. Fred Y. Borden, Mrs. James C. Shriver, Mrs. John Carscaden, George Ehrling, Mrs. Albert Paye and Mrs. Julia Raphel.

Finance Committee (temporary), Fred Y. Borden, chairman; Dr. Leslie E. Daugherty, Norbert Sell, David T. Davis, Dr. H. W. Eliason, J. A. Hoover and Dr. A. N. Golladay.

Avirett said a publicity committee will be named representative of press and radio, and that other committees will be provided for in the constitution and by-laws.

Discussion Of Problems

There was considerable discussion by those attending on civic problems and public improvements in all parts of the city, especially the West Side.

Dirty, unswept streets, rutted and unimproved streets and alleys, and river pollution all came in for their share of criticism. The group agreed, however, that its first task will be concentration on fly ash, smoke and air pollution, with the other problems to be considered later.

Avirett commented especially on the large attendance and the great amount of interest and enthusiasm displayed.

Local Man Is Held In Detroit

The State's Attorney's office reported yesterday that a local man has been arrested in Detroit at the request of local authorities and will be returned here for prosecution on a charge of false pretense.

Authorities identified the man as George F. Kuhlman and said he was arrested Monday.

A message has been sent to the Detroit Police Department to determine whether the man will waive extradition for his return here.

The State's Attorney's office said Kuhlman is charged with signing six bad checks, drawn on a local bank for a total of $198.77. Largest amounted to $72.80.

The checks were all drawn on May 26 and 27, authorities said. They were made payable to local business firms.

Police School Session Planned For Thursday

The next regular school day for Cumberland police officers will be held in the Council Chamber at 9 a.m., Thursday, Chief of Police Emmett R. Flynn has announced.

At the session, Lt. Edwin R. Lilya will discuss the subject, "Traffic", from 9 to 10 a.m.; Detective Thomas J. See will discuss "Fingerprints" from 10 to 11 a.m.; and from 11 to 11:30 a.m., Assistant Chief of Police Benjamin F. Gaffney will discuss, "Searching a Person".

News In Brief

Current topics will be discussed at the meeting of the Tri-State Traffic Club today at 6:30 p. m. at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club. A dinner will precede the discussion.

Pressure Cooker Is Used In River Sampling Survey

An ordinary pressure cooker, several lengths of rope and some formaldehyde seem like a peculiar combination, but they are being put to good use by a survey team working here.

The team was assigned by the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin to take water samples from the Upper Potomac River.

For the past three weeks the men have traveled a daily circuit of 125 miles, stopping at sampling points on bridges or along the river banks.

They have been checking the river from a point at the Garrett County line below the inflow of the Savage River Dam down as far as the Paw Paw area.

At the 14 sampling stations, the team lowers the pressure cooker into the water to get samples. The cooker is equipped so that oxygen content of the water will remain constant.

Laboratory Set Up

Samples are taken to a trailer laboratory of the Maryland Water Pollution Control Commission, which is set up at a Greene Street service station.

Various chemical tests are made there by Robert Pierce, chemist for the Water Pollution Control Commission.

Samples are also being sent to Johns Hopkins University and to the Maryland State Department of Research and Education at Solomons for microscopic analyses.

Ralph E. Fuhrman, research associate for Johns Hopkins, is serving as director of the project.

The industrial wastes investigation is being conducted by the Interstate Commission under a fellowship it has established at Johns Hopkins University in the department of sanitary engineering.

General supervision is being handled by Dr. Abel Wolman, head of that department, and by Dr. John Geyer, professor of sanitary engineering. Edwin R. Cotton is director of the commission.

Fuhrman reported yesterday that the three-week survey period will end Friday, although the trailer laboratory will remain here until the middle of next week.

Area industries and the Health Department make periodic spot checks of water samples but the present survey is believed to be the most intensive conducted along the Upper Potomac.

Fuhrman said the first draft of the report is expected to be ready by the end of the year. It will go first to Johns Hopkins, after which the Interstate Commission is expected to make recommendations to the communities and industries involved.

Work is being financed by an $8,000 grant from the United States Public Health Service to the commission.

Plants Co-operate

"Excellent co-operation" has been received from the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company at Luke and from the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation, Fuhrman reported.

Last week, he said, the Luke plant conducted an intensive survey of its industrial wastes in connection with the survey. Laboratory work at the plant was guided by Julian Patrick, chemist here.

In addition, the Celanese plant conducted a similar survey within the last six weeks, Fuhrman reported.

900 Hyndman Persons Sign Loyalty Form

Men And Women Wait In Rain

Approximately 900 residents of the nearby town of Hyndman, Pa., stood in line in the rain yesterday to sign loyalty pledges as the climax of a campaign sponsored by Oscar Jordan Post No. 7375, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Post Commander Albert Lynch said a steady stream of signers filed into the borough council room throughout the day.

Many waited outside in the rain as the line moved slowly into the building.

Lynch said the total population of Hyndman is about 1,300. Only those residents 18 years old and upward were eligible to sign.

Because a number of residents are railroad workers and were out of town yesterday, they will be given further opportunity to sign pledges in the next day or two, either at Evans' home or at Ahlburn's Garage.

One out-of-town visitor, Lynch said, secured a copy of the loyalty pledge to take back to McKeesport, Pa.

As soon as possible, mimeographed lists of signers will be prepared and posted in public places.

The pledges, which do not refer to communism by name, state that the signer is not subversive, is not connected with any foreign government and does not engage in subversive activities.

Based on similar loyalty pledges prepared by Henry Hart Post No. 1411, VFW, the Hyndman statements were drawn up with the assistance of Bedford Judge J. Colvin Wright.

The Hyndman borough council room was opened at 9 a. m. yesterday for the signing ceremony, which continued for 12 hours.

Observers estimated that the 900 persons who visited the room to sign the pledges represented the largest gathering there is the history of the community.

Potomac Valley Lions To Meet

Potomac Valley Lions Club of Cresaptown will hold its first regular meeting tonight at 6:30 at the Cresaptown Fire Hall. Dinner will be served by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Cresaptown Volunteer Fire Company.

Ray Pile is the newly elected president of the club, which was organized August 30 and has 30 charter members. The charter will remain open during September.

Tonight's program will consist of a model Lions Club meeting demonstrated by Winfield H. Adam, president of the Cumberland Lions Club. He will be assisted by officers and directors of the local club and by its song leader, Henry Duke.

Guest speaker will be Sidney File, Newark, N. J., associate secretary of the Central Atlantic Area Council of YMCAs, who will discuss "Boys' Activities in the Community."

Other guests will include Alvin E. Yaste, past secretary-treasurer of the local club who is district governor of Lions District 22-W; and Dr. William E. Moseley, Mt. Savage, deputy district governor.

The Weather

Most people who ventured downtown yesterday took their umbrellas along, although the .04 inch smattering of rainfall made it only a precautionary gesture. High reading was 72 degrees, not much variation from the overnight low of 60. Today promises to be rather cloudy and cool, with occasional showers likely.

Vale Summit Road Work To Begin Soon

Latest Starting Date To Be September 21

Latest starting date for the Vale Summit Road improvement project will be September 21, Joseph D. Buscher said yesterday.

Buscher, legal specialist for the State Roads Commission, said 20 rights of way still are needed for the project, but that work can get underway after three more are obtained.

Negotiations or those rights of way are continuing. If settlement is not reached by next Wednesday's regular meeting of the State Roads Commission, Buscher said, he will recommend condemnation and will file proceedings the next day in court.

Earl Robertson of the Cumberland Contracting Company, which has been awarded a $571,775 contract for the work, has set up a field office at the site.

Two sets of multiple culvert pipe are on hand and a third is on the way, Robertson informed Buscher.

The work involves 2.2 miles of widening, curve modification and resurfacing.

Buscher said the project will begin at the Clarysville Inn. Because evergreens on the property can be removed more advantageously later in the fall, actual operations will start about 100 feet up the road, he explained.

Commenting on the McMullen Highway project near Dawson, Buscher said two or three rights of way problems remain to be settled. If they are not obtained within 10 days condemnation proceedings will be started, he added.

Buscher explained that work must get underway because of Western Maryland weather conditions, which allow a comparatively short working season.

Martin To Head Classified Section In Chest Campaign

Leaders of the Classified Section of the 1950 Red Feather Community Chest Campaign were announced last night by Frederic W. Eiler, general chairman of this year's appeal for $87,794.34.

George M. Martin, district manager of The Prudential Insurance Company of America, has accepted the chairmanship of the Classified Section of the campaign which will be responsible for the solicitation of all employed people in the City of Cumberland.

Nearly 20,000 individuals and corporations are solicited in this manner during the two-week period of the campaign which will open in early October.

Martin pointed out that an army of over 2,000 men and women would be required to present the Chest appeal to this number of people at their homes. Besides this large number of volunteers required, it would be practically impossible to see everyone within the short period of the campaign.

By soliciting employed groups at their places of business a much more thorough understanding can be created of the need for supporting the Community Chest agencies' work, besides being a great timesaver for the hundreds of volunteers, he said.

Martin has been connected with the Community Chest since coming to Cumberland several years ago, and last year was division leader of the General Division of the Classified Section.

He is a member of the Kiwanis Club, serving on its board of directors, and is a member of the Chamber of Commerce Membership Activities Committee.

Three associate chairmen named by Martin are Thomas H. Smithem, of the St. George Motor Company, responsible for the automotive, financial, professional and governmental divisions.

GEORGE M. MARTIN

David T. Davis, insurance, another associate chairman, is heading the general, public service, utilities, manufacturers and railroads divisions.

L. V. Shinnamon of the Shinnamon Shoe Store, third associate chairman, is heading the group of divisions composed of foods, mercantile, served commodities and recreational.

Both Smithem and Davis served in their respective positions in last year's successful campaign. Shinnamon last year was leader of the Mercantile Division.

Each of the associate chairmen will enlist division leaders to head divisions of regiments. Division leaders are meeting this afternoon at 2 o'clock at Central Y. M. C. A.

State Legion Commander Praises City For Passing Red Ordinance

"The American Legion should be eternally grateful to the people of Cumberland and to the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland, for their courageous action in passing an ordinance requiring registration of members of the communist column," Lemuel M. Stevens, state commander of the American Legion, said last night.

Speaking at a membership rally of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, on his first official visit here as state commander, the retired Navy captain spoke on "Americanism and Our Constitution." He reminded the Legonnaires that September 17 (Sunday) marks the 163rd anniversary of the signing of the Constitution in Philadelphia.

Commander Stevens, who resides at Snow Hill in Worcester County, said:

"I feel our beloved country must be protected from traitors and spies who do not constitute a true political party but are in reality a Russian fifth column advocating and permitting a subversive minority to carry on their anti-American plots under cover of darkness.

"We salute you people of Cumberland for your courage and action. You have set an example for the rest of the nation to follow."

Commander Stevens was accompanied by Harry F. Allen, national executive committeeman of Laurel, Md., who is serving his second term in that office.

Samuel A. Graham, past local post and district commander, presided at the rally which was followed by a luncheon.

Graham also introduced Frank T. Powers, Frostburg, alternate national executive committeeman; Louis Fatkins, Westernport, department judge advocate; Russell Paupe, district vice commander; and A. M. Kerns, Sr., post commander, and others.

Allen spoke on membership and complimented the local post on efforts to increase the roster from 1,100 to 1,500 members this year.

Col. McGrayne Will Visit Parachute Unit

Col. Donald McGrayne, senior Army instructor for the state of Maryland, will visit Company G, 319th Parachute Infantry Regiment, at its scheduled meeting tonight at 7:30 at Room 13, Union Street Building.

This was announced yesterday by Capt. H. W. Trimble, instructor.

Col. McGrayne will conduct an inspection and will observe training procedure. He will be accompanied by Lt. Col. John W. Cassell, infantry instructor for the state; Maj. Adolph, supply officer for the 319th, and Capt. Noon, adjutant, who will assist in the inspection.

All members of the unit are urged to attend.

Induction Calls Will Be Higher

Maryland's induction call for November will be approximately 50 per cent higher than either the August-September or October calls.

This was reported yesterday in a directive on manpower requirements received by P. Emmett Fahey, clerk-coordinator of Local Boards 27, 28 and 29 from Col. Henry C. Stanwood, state director of the Selective Service System.

"In view of this increase," the directive said, "we are obligated to correspondingly increase our physical examination calls over the August and September quotas, beginning with the October deliveries."

"We can provide the number of men required by the calls levied on this state only by assuring that our classification and reclassification actions are accelerated commensurate with the need for men by the armed forces.

"Not only are we required to complete current physical examinations and induction calls, but we must maintain an adequate reserve of registrants eligible for future physical examination calls," the directive stated.

Fahey said the largest group of county men called to date for pre-induction tests is the 15-man contingent slated to go to Martinsburg, W. Va., on September 18.

W. Md. Wins Safety Medal

The Western Maryland Railway is among three winners of the E. H. Harriman memorial gold medals for the best rail safety records in 1949.

This was announced yesterday by the American Museum of Safety in New York City.

Other winners are the Norfolk and Western and the Colorado and Wyoming Railways.

The medals, founded in 1913 by the late Mrs. Mary W. Harriman in memory of her husband, will be awarded at a dinner in New York on September 20.

The Harriman awards are made on the basis of official Interstate Commerce Commission records, the railroads being ranked according to their safety records.

Norfolk and Western Railway gained top ranking for Class A railroads; Western Maryland for Class B and Colorado and Wyoming for Class C.

The awards will be presented by James G. Lyne, editor of "The Railway Age" and chairman of the award committee. Wallace J. Falvey, president of the Museum, will preside.

Action On Reds Is Deferred

The Executive Board of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America (CIO), last night deferred possible action against two union members accused of being communists after one of them raised a question regarding prior notification of the hearing.

Earl L. Snyder, president, reported that the Executive Board had deferred action until September 23, when a special board meeting will be called to hear charges preferred against two members.

After the question was raised, it was reported, one of the accused TWUA members brought before the board a question regarding the National TWUA by-laws concerning notification of special meetings.

Garrett County Grand Jury Indicts Kitzmiller Parents

Six Cited For Keeping Children From School

A Garrett County Grand Jury yesterday returned indictments against six Kitzmiller parents for wilfully conspiring to keep their children from school.

Court attaches said the indictments were returned yesterday afternoon at the conclusion of the Grand Jury sessions.

They added the sheriff's office will contact the men today to serve warrants arising from the indictments.

The Grand Jury action introduced a dramatic note into the strike which began at the Kitzmiller School last Wednesday in protest of a consolidation plan for Garrett County Schools.

The action was forecast Monday following a fruitless conference between officials of the Garrett County School Board and a committee of six men representing parents of the Kitzmiller area.

At that time, Walter W. Dawson, president of the board, declared that if the situation did not clear up, the Board would have to take the course prescribed by law.

Attend Conference

He was referring, informed sources said, to Chapter 21 of the Maryland School Laws, which says that any person who induces, or attempts to induce any child to absent himself unlawfully from school . . . shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and fined not mare than $50.

Monday's conference was attended by a six-man Kitzmiller area committee including Dr. Ralph Calendrella, Carl Schell, Earl Shank, Charles McIntyre, Frank Daymon and Kenneth Bray.

Representing the Board of Education were its three members, Dawson, Stuart F. Hamill, Oakland, and C. O. Bender, Grantsville; Asa T. Matthews, attorney, and R. Bowen Hardesty, superintendent of schools.

The committee had asked a guarantee that Kitzmiller be eliminated from the school consolidation program.

School officials promised all help possible in Kitzmiller's school problems but said they could not give such a guarantee since the school board had been eliminated from responsibility for the building program.

Dr. Calendrella, spokesman for the parents who desire to keep the high school located at Kitzmiller, described the meeting as a waste of time and said the strike would continue.

He said the Kitzmiller committee walked out of the meeting after the board continued to evade the issue.

Present Petition

Last June, 339 parents of the Shallmar, Vindex and Kitzmiller section signed a petition which was presented to the board. It threatened to keep children out of school unless sufficient funds were appropriated for seven classrooms, a gymnasium, shop, cafeteria, home economics room and library at the Kitzmiller school.

School officials estimated the program would cost about half a million dollars.

The county is committed to use an appropriation of $1,500,000 to build consolidated schools at Oakland and in The Cove section to replace high schools at Accident, Grantsville, Oakland and Kitzmiller.

In May, the Court of Appeals upheld the Garrett County Circuit Court in dismissing a suit filed by eight taxpayers against the Garrett County Commissioners.

It rejected the taxpayers' request for an order restraining the commissioners from spending a 1947 bond issue for construction of the two schools.

Less than 20 of the 300 students slated to enter the Kitzmiller school reported for classes yesterday.

Ridgeley Red Ordinance Is Unopposed

Second Reading Is Scheduled Tuesday

It took just eight minutes last night for the town council of Ridgeley, W. Va., to pass on the first reading of a new ordinance designed to require all communist party members to register, according to Mayor B. F. Magruder.

The ordinance will go to a second reading next Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the town hall.

The special meeting for the purpose of acting on the ordinance was called by the Mayor and Council at the request of Knobley Mountain Post No. 136, American Legion.

About 30 members of the post and a score or more of other interested citizens attended the special council meeting. Attendance established something of a record, officials said.

The ordinance is patterned after one recently passed in Cumberland and provides jail sentences and fines for communist members convicted of failure to register.

Police Commissioner William Knieriem, after the clerk read the ordinance, made a motion that the ordinance go to its second reading. Commissioner of Streets Floyd A. Decker seconded the motion and the vote was unanimous.

There was no dissenting voice raised in the audience, although those present were given a chance to be heard.

Officials said that anyone wishing to oppose the ordinance will be given an opportunity at the next reading Tuesday night. The council can act on the second and final readings at the next meeting.

Butler Renews Attack On Probe ByTydings Group

Criticizes Senator For "Running Errands"

BALTIMORE, Sept. 12 (AP) — John Marshall Butler said tonight that Senator Tydings (D-Md) "is an essential part" of the national administration "and for that very reason should be defeated in November."

Butler is a candidate for the Republican nomination for the U. S. Senate.

Butler declared:

"We are still waiting for what we have a right to expect: ice cold proof that there are not now and never have been communists in our State Department.

"Senator Tydings owed no allegiance to the State Department's blunders in choosing personnel, if there were any blunders.

"But he conducted the loyalty probe x x x in such a way that he has left doubt in everyone's mind. Doubt about the existence of communists and about his reasons for looking for them the way he did."

The Republican used much of his address to attack the national Democratic administration.

"Our government has become a mental burden to everyone because we don't know what to expect from it," he said.

"None of us can tell what we personally might have to suffer from the mistakes of poor judgment by our government."

22 Out Of Over 1300 Win Prizes At Cooking School

Over 1,300 persons attended the Times-News Cooking School which opened yesterday at the Strand Theatre, and which will continue daily from 9:15 to 11:30 a.m. until Friday. Twenty-two of those present yesterday were awarded prizes of food, kitchen implements, and bags of groceries.

On behalf of the Times-News, J. William Hunt, editor of the Sunday Times, welcomed the 1,300 "students" and presented Miss Dealene Stohr, of the Chicago Live Stock and Meat Board, who returns to Cumberland after a year's absence. Her assistant this year is Miss Nancy Carter.

Mrs. Wilma Wagner and Miss Barbara Reuschel aided in the presentation of the Food Exposition at the close of the morning session.

Dish Winners Named

Winners of seven dishes prepared during the school were Mrs. Lillian Catina, 106 Frederick street; Pansy Hughes, 1306 Michigan Avenue; Pearl Price, R. D. 5, city; Agnes Kirk, Barton; Mrs. Lawrence Shanholtz, R. D. 2, City; Mrs. Violet Sisk, Carpenter Avenue, Ridgeley; and Mrs. R. E. Skidmore, Cresap Park.

Mrs. Alice McCort, 525 Maryland Avenue, won a Taylor roast meat thermometer; and Mrs. Clay Smith, 627 Frederick street, won a Dexterette kitchen cutlery set.

Three Community Bakery cakes were awarded to Mrs. Lena Smouse, Eckhart; Delores Fatkin, Clarysville R. D., Frostburg; and Mrs. J. E. Hartley, 503 Warren street.

Bags of groceries went to Mrs. W. K. Edwards, 817 Hill Top Drive; Mrs. Grace Otto, Kent Avenue; Mrs. Alice Cage, 125 Race street; Mrs. C. A. Jenkins, 214 Columbia street; Mrs. Everett Flanagan, Ridgeley; Lillian M. Cook, Ellerslie; Mrs. H. S. Torbet, 755 Cleveland avenue; E. Morris, 525 Maryland avenue; Mrs. Faye Jewell, Ridgeley; and Mrs. Mary Ustoszewski, 629 Leiper street.

New and unusual recipes which will stress modern versions of time-honored combinations of other generation will feature today's second session of the Times-News "Magic Meals Cooking School."

Names Provide Interest

The names alone provide interest to these dishes which will be prepared. From Norway, for example, comes Lapskaus, which is an unusual combination of cubed beef and ham with diced potatoes added and seasoned with lemon juice. A Balkan dish is Turley Guvej — a mixture of cubed lamb, carrot sticks, onions and either egg plant or okra. China is being drawn upon for Chinese Pepper Steak, prepared with strips of beef chuck seasoned with green pepper and braised, then served with rice.

A taste-tempting Italian dish is Italian Rice, the rice being browned in fat. Ground beef is browned to accompany the rice and tomato juice and cheese are added. Included also in the medley of dishes will be an Alaskan recipe—Frozen Fruit Salad. This is a delicious blend of cream cheese, whipped cream, mayonnaise, pineapple and dates, served frozen.

In the selection of these and the other dishes for the school, the importance of nutrition has been kept foremost in mind.

Weather Forecast

UN Positions Improve Along Northern Front

Gen. Walker Says 'Worst Is Over'

By MILTON MARMOR

TOKYO, Wednesday, Sept. 13 (AP)—First Cavalry Division troopers in bloody uphill fighting drove back Korean Communists one mile from heights overlooking Taegu Tuesday night, easing the pressure on that northwest pivot of the United Nations beachhead.

This action, eight miles north of Taegu, coupled with steadily improving allied positions in the northeast sector, dominated the ground fighting along the 125-mile front. The remaining sectors were relatively quiet.

Communist prisoners said red patrols planned to attack an air strip, two miles north of Taegu Tuesday night, but it did not materialize.

Associated Press Correspondent Stan Swinton said that the U. S. 25th Division repulsed two light red attacks before dawn today on the southern front, 35 miles west of Pusan.

The drive of 130,000 North Koreans ringing the entire front appeared to have bogged down. The red forces pulled back or regrouped for another crack at the United Nations lines.

With high ground now secured along the highway approaches to Taegu from the north, Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, Eighth Army Commander, declared:

"The worst is over."

After artillery preparation and heavy air strikes Monday and Tuesday about 1,000 First Cavalrymen slugged their way up rocky Hill 314 against withering fire from North Koreans on the crest and on a nearby slope.

AP Correspondent Jack MacBeth with the advancing Cavalrymen told how the bitter assault stalled two-thirds of the way up, after advancing for five bitter hours.

North Koreans hurled a barrage of mortar and machinegun fire into the face of the oncoming Americans. Red artillery pounded the rear and set fire to the village of Chilgok, five air miles north of Taegu.

Acheson Says German Power Is Essential

Outlines Views Of United States

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—Secretary of State Acheson proposed to Britain and France today that the West start immediately building up Western Europe's defenses against Russia with maximum speed and effort. He made it clear the United States believes the use of German manpower is essential to an adequate defense setup.

The American member of the Big Three Foreign Ministers Conference outlined his country's views at the first three and one-half hour session held by Acheson, Ernest Bevin of Britain, and Robert Schuman of France.

An official announcement, indicating the turn of events, said the ministers had begun a review of European problems. They will meet again tomorrow at 9:30 a. m. (EST). The meetings are secret.

The strengthening of Europe's defenses is the number one problem before the Big Three Foreign Ministers and Acheson came to New York with a detailed program. Diplomatic sources said he told Bevin and Schuman about President Truman's idea for sending more American troops to Europe and pointed out that the Americans want Western European countries to make comparable contributions to the defense of that region.

Acheson also touched to some extent on the American idea that the Germans of Western Germany be given a chance to serve with other Western Europeans in defending their homeland.

American sources, meanwhile, made it clear that the United States does not want to build up a new German army but that the U. S. does want German units to be integrated into a common defense.

The ministers have decided upon a schedule of hard work for their talks. They have set Thursday as the last day of the present discussions, with meetings of the North Atlantic Pact Council scheduled for Friday and Saturday. There are so many problems to be discussed, however, that the Big Three might carry on their talks over the weekend.

Several Thousand British Troops To Go To Germany; Churchill Says 'Not Enough'

By CHARLES WHITING

LONDON, Sept. 12 (AP) — Prime Minister Attlee announced today Britain will send several thousand more troops to Germany and divert other thousands of men into a hurry-up rearmament drive to guard against another Korea.

But Opposition Leader Winston Churchill said this was not enough. The conservative chieftain demanded that a European army of at least 60 to 70 divisions be raised to close the "hideous gap" in Western defenses, and warned the Prime Minister to accept the fact that such an army "with a strong German quota is going to be raised quite quickly."

Churchill told the House of Commons the Labor Government had been "conspicuously lacking in forethought, conviction and design" and had embarked on its rearmament drive only after a second urging from a "bitterly disappointed" United States.

"It should not surely need the prompting of a foreign country, however friendly," said Churchill.

Attlee's plan, he said, would put three British divisions in Germany.

"I don't think that should be accepted as a full and complete contribution on our part," he added.

Though he said conservatives would support Attlee's program so far as it went, "I must make it clear that our approval is not a vote of confidence in the government, least of all on its handling of military affairs."

The mild-mannered Attlee said the two under-strength British Divisions already in Germany will be brought up to full fighting weight and a third combat division sent to join them. This meant Britain will have between 45,000 and 54,000 fighting men on guard on the west's front line of defense.

His announcement followed President Truman's decision of a few days ago to send an undisclosed number of new divisions to Germany.

DROPPED BY TRUMAN—Louis A. Johnson, (above) was dropped by President Truman yesterday as Secretary of Defense. The President accepted a letter of resignation submitted by Johnson.

Gen. Marshall Picked To Fill Cabinet Post

Must Await Change Of Law By Congress

By ROGER D. GREENE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP) — President Truman dropped Louis A. Johnson from his Cabinet with dramatic suddenness today and asked General George C. Marshall to succeed him as Secretary of Defense.

The Five-Star General, former Secretary of State and Army Chief of Staff during World War II, announced his acceptance at his Leesburg, Va., home. He is 69 years old.

On Capitol Hill, the question immediately arose whether a life-long soldier, such as Marshall, should be cleared to take over a civilian post.

By law, no person who has been on military duty within the past 10 years is eligible to serve as Secretary of Defense. It would take a special act of Congress to let Marshall take the post.

Top lawmakers moved swiftly to erase this legal obstacle. Chairman Tydings (D-Md) said the Senate Armed Services Committee would get to work on the necessary legislation immediately. The initail reaction was strongly in favor of making it possible for Marshall to accept the new assignment.

Several Republican senators, including Wherry of Nebraska and Capehart of Indiana, said however that "the wrong man resigned" and that Secretary of State Acheson instead of Johnson should have stepped out.

Johnson, who succeeded the late James V. Forrestal as Secretary of Defense, submitted his resignation in a letter in which he spoke bitterly of knowing that when he took the office he would "make more enemies than friends."

Johnson himself recommended the selection of Marshall as a man who would be "an inspiration to the people of the United States and to our allies." His letter was dated today.

In reply, Mr. Truman wrote Johnson:

"It is clear to me that in writing (the letter of resignation) you have been actuated by motives of the highest patriotism, and I salute you.

"In the terribly tragic circumstances which have arisen, I feel that I must concur in your judgment and accept your proferred resignation as Secretary of Defense, effective at the close of business on Sept. 19, 1950."

The letter was addressed to "My Dear Lou."

The President's decision to drop Johnson sharply reversed his earlier staunch defense of the big, bald chief of the nation's military establishment.

On Aug. 3, Mr. Truman had told his news conference emphatically that both Johnson and Acheson would stay in the cabinet as long as he remained in the White House.

Since then, criticism of Johnson

Red Sabotage Campaign In Reich Feared

Trained Soviets Crossing Border

FRANKFURT, Germany, Sept. 12 (AP)—Western officials voiced alarm today that the opening gun in a do-or-die communist sabotage campaign may be fired in Western Germany soon.

They estimated that at least 2,000 communist fifth columnists—many of them graduates of Soviet sabotage schools—have swarmed over the border from red Germany. Some German authorities estimate the number much higher—at 15,000, or the equivalent of a full infantry division.

Some are said to have brought in small arms and explosives. Officials said it would take five army divisions to stop the flow of communist agents across the long, heavily-wooded border.

The recent pattern of communist activity, allied sources said indicates that the Kremlin has decided that the "national resistance" campaign in Germany should be shoved forward soon from the propaganda to the direct action stage to disrupt the west's projected defense buildup.

A widespread series of communist riots erupted in West Berlin, Frankfurt and Darmstadt Sunday. Communist violence broke out in Hamburg a few days earlier.

Tons of printed communist propaganda against Western powers as "foreign masters" and "warmongers" are being smuggled in from the east.

The communist "national resistance" program openly calls on West Germans to halt strategic shipments to the west and to sabotage any rearmament program within Germany.

Seek Two Ships

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 12 (AP)—Rescue vessels criss-crossed the storm-lashed waters off southwestern Nova Scotia tonight searching for two small ships. The engines of one were dead and most of her gear had washed away; the other has been unheard from since early this morning.

Shaw Surprises Nurse, Sits Up

The 94-year-old playwright's physician said Shaw would remain in bed at least 14 days. This revised an earlier estimate of Hospital Secretary R. E. Lingard that Shaw might quit the hospital in 10 days.

Lingard said the famous patient was quite talkative and "perky" and his pulse, temperature, and blood pressure were normal.

Army Major Held In Fund Shortage

RENO, Nev., Sept. 12 (AP)—Maj. Harold D. Banning, Army finance officer arrested here for questioning in connection with the possible misapplication of $250,000 in Germany, was taken to San Francisco Army headquarters today.

"I'll tell the whole story to the proper authorities at the proper time," said the handsome 39-year-old major as he left in the custody of Army criminal investigators.

Banning, who said he had $100,000 when he arrived in this country last month, told reporters today he had that money when he first was assigned to Germany in 1949.

In a signed statement given sheriff's officers, Banning said he carried the money, all in bills of $20 or less, in several suitcases. He brought the money back to this country in the same manner, he added.

He wouldn't explain where he got it, saying only: "It is my own personal fund and has nothing to do with the Army."

An officer for 18 years, Banning's pay and subsistence would amount to about $630 monthly, Army spokesmen said.

Banning said he bought a new car in New York after arriving in this country by commercial plane Aug. 26. He also bought a $5,000 diamond ring for his wife, Winnie Lee, who is in Berlin, he said.

UN Spot Probe In Red China Vetoed By Malik

Soviet Demand To Condemn U. S. Beat

LAKE SUCCESS, Sept. 12 (AP) — Russia used her 45th veto tonight in killing a proposed on-the-spot inquiry into Chinese communist charges of American air attacks on Manchurian territory.

The United Nations Security Council then overwhelmingly rejected a Soviet demand that the United States be condemned for the alleged air attacks on Manchuria.

Soviet Delegate Jacob A. Malik was again rebuffed when the council voted to adjourn until 2 p. m. (EST) Monday without taking up a new demand that red China be invited to send a representative here for consultations.

The vote on the American proposal for a Manchurian investigation was 7 to one, with Russia casting the lone negative vote, a veto. India and Yugoslavia abstained and Nationalist China declined to participate.

Tenn. Probes Baby Market

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 12 (AP)—Tennessee is investigating reports of a $1,000,000 baby market operating in Memphis and extending to New York and Hollywood.

The probe was ordered by Gov. Gordon Browning following reports by agents of the State Welfare Department of preliminary investigations in Tennessee and California.

State Welfare Commissioner J. O. McMahan said information now available indicates that more than 1,000 babies were involved and that foster parents have paid as much as $750 for them. Some babies placed by the agency have been adopted by Hollywood celebrities.

McMahan said his information indicates that more than 90 per cent of the babies have been "exported" to California and New York.

Hog Deaths Are Blamed On Biological Warfare

NORFOLK, Neb., Sept. 12 (AP) — Rep. Karl Stefan (R-Neb) said today he fears some kind of biological warfare by enemies of the United States has been causing the heavy death rate among hogs in the midwest corn belt.

He said he would call FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover and also get in touch with the Department of Agriculture and ask for help and an investigation.

In Washington, Dr. B. T. Simms, chief of the Agriculture Department's Bureau of Animal Industry, said his agency has found no evidence to support Stefan's biological warfare fears.

The bureau investigated reports of heavy hog losses in some areas of the midwest last year and is now in the process of investigating recent losses there.

The bureau recently reported that many of last year's losses occured in herds immediately following a hog cholera serum-virus treatment. It said a "variant," or slight change in the form of the virus in the vaccination process, caused the trouble.

Department investigators found no evidence, Dr. Simms told a reporter, that there had been any tampering with the production of the serum, which is produced under department supervision.

Simms said investigations of this year's losses have not yet been completed, and hence it is not possible to say now what the cause is.

Dr. H. U. Garrett, Iowa State veterinarian, said today that his office is concerned about the virus causing trouble after vaccination but that he did not believe it was caused by biological warfare germs.

Rail Speedup Is Ordered To Aid Defense

Freight Handling Is Criticized

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—The government today spurred defense mobilization with an order to quicken the nation's railroad freight traffic, and set a 24-hour limit on the turn around of freight cars ready to move.

The Interstate Commerce Commission, in issuing the order, sharply criticized delays in loading and unloading freight.

It said the action was taken "to promote the national defense."

In other defense moves:

1. Officials said an anti-hoarding order on steel, copper, tin, aluminum and other key materials may be expected before the end of this week.

2. The Interior Department began setting up a new agency—tentatively called the Minerals and Energy Administration (MEA)—to prepare for possible emergency use of priorities and allocations of petroleum, gas, coal and electric power.

The new organization is expected to start functioning, at least on a standby basis, within two weeks.

Outlining these steps to gear the nation's economy to a wartime footing, officials emphasized there are no immediate shortages in sight such as gripped the country during World War II.

Hugh Stewart, director of the Interior Department's oil and gas division, told newsmen that the prospect of rationing such materials as gasoline is remote, short of a major war.

Stewart said the only current gasoline shortage is in the higher grades of aviation fuel.

Korean Beer Ration Stopped

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA, Sept. 12 (AP) — A howl of protest from the American front lines today greeted the Army's ban on free beer for combat troops.

Combat men have been receiving a ration of one small tin of beer daily. The Army said it acted because of adverse public opinion in the United States.

Henceforth beer will be available only to soldiers with change jingling in their pockets or with comrades free to make shopping trips behind the lines.

Tobey Rallies To Pull Close In N. H. Primary

Wesley Powell, 34-year-old lawyer, who at one time held a sizeable 1,500 vote lead, wilted as returns came in from city precincts long-dominated by the 70-year-old Senator.

In 250 out of 297 precincts, the vote stood:

Powell, 28,406.
Tobey, 28,125.

Powell, a World War II veteran, showed unexpected strength in communities carried in the past by Tobey. He also ran strongly in first returns from precincts in New Hampshire's 12 cities.

But, as reports from industrial sectors mounted, Tobey began pulling up.

Powell claimed the support of the conservative faction of the GOP in one of the bitterest campaigns in Granite State history.

Tobey, who takes pride in being a maverick in politics, waged one of the most vigorous drives of a long career that has seen him running 30 years for public office without defeat.

Measure To Intern Communists In Time Of War Passes Senate

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP) — The Senate passed by an overwhelming vote today a bill to require registration of all communists and to put them in concentration camps in case of invasion, war or insurrection.

The internment section, added to the already tough provisions of the McCarran Bill against spies, saboteurs and reds, represented a fast flip-flop by the lawmakers.

They voted it down three times on roll calls, then inserted it in somewhat modified form on a top-heavy voice vote. They followed up by passing the stiffened bill 70 to 7.

Senator Lucas (D-Ill), President Truman's chief lieutenant in the Senate, sponsored the addition and had backing from other administration supporters. Just what that might mean with respect to the President's statement that he would not sign the original McCarran measure was uncertain. All the major provisions of the McCarran bill were still in, with the internment language besides.

The bill now goes to the House, which has passed a measure generally similar but lacking the concentration camp feature.

Senator McCarran (D-Nev), who sponsored the catch-all bill, and Senators Eastland (D-Miss), O'Conor (D-Md), Wiley (R-Wis) and Ferguson (R-Mich) were named conferees to work out agreement with representatives of the House.

Besides registration and internment for communists, the bill strengthens laws against espionage and sabotage much in line with White House recommendations and amends immigration laws to help keep out subversives.

The Senate's about-face on concentration camps came on a motion by Senator Tydings (D-Md) to reconsider a roll-call vote

Dynamite Blast Kills Eight Men

ELDRED, Pa., Sept. 12 (AP) — A mighty dynamite explosion which splintered a building at the National Powder Company today killed eight men and rocked homes for miles around.

Some of the victims were blown to bits as the blast destroyed a steel and frame house where dynamite and nitroglycerine are mixed.

The coroner's office reported difficulty in identifying bodies and withheld names until relatives had been notified. Here is the list released five hours later:

Charles York, 22; Harry Nelson, 59; Carl Fitzgerald, 30; Robert Walker, 40; Gene Shepard, 24; James Silvis, 30; Earl Logue, 26; and C. A. Sherwood, 34. All reside in this vicinity. Silvis was assistant plant manager.

Five or six other employes suffered slight injuries which were treated at the scene while armed guards kept newsmen and photographers off the plant property.

Residents 10 miles away heard the booming explosion. Windows were shattered within a two-mile radius.

Communist prisoners said red patrols planned to attack an air strip, two miles north of Taegu Tuesday night, but it did not materialize.

Associated Press Correspondent Stan Swinton said that the U. S. 25th Division repulsed two light red attacks before dawn today on the southern front, 35 miles west of Pusan.

The drive of 130,000 North Koreans ringing the entire front appeared to have bogged down. The red forces pulled back or regrouped for another crack at the United Nations lines.

With high ground now secured along the highway approaches to Taegu from the north, Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, Eighth Army Commander, declared:

"The worst is over."

Walker in a statement said that while the enemy still could strike anywhere along the front, "I am now sure we can stop him."

After artillery preparation and heavy air strikes Monday and Tuesday about 1,000 First Cavalrymen slugged their way up rocky Hill 314 against withering fire from North Koreans on the crest and on a nearby slope.

AP Correspondent Jack MacBeth with the advancing Cavalrymen told how the bitter assault stalled two-thirds of the way up, after advancing for five bitter hours.

North Koreans hurled a barrage of mortar and machinegun fire into the face of the oncoming Americans. Red artillery pounded the rear and set fire to the village of Chilgok, five air miles north of Taegu.

Big 3 Study Western Defense

Colleen Townsend, young film actress who quit a $1,000-a-week movie career to spread the doctrine of Christianity, walks across campus of Pasadena College where she will study "the Bible and theology." She plans to take a liberal arts course.

Red Sabotage Campaign In Reich Feared

Trained Soviets Crossing Border

FRANKFURT, Germany, Sept. 12 (AP)—Western officials voiced alarm today that the opening gun in a do-or-die communist sabotage campaign may be fired in Western Germany soon.

They estimated that at least 2,000 communist fifth columnists—many of them graduates of Soviet sabotage schools—have swarmed over the border from red Germany. Some German authorities estimate the number much higher—at 15,000, or the equivalent of a full infantry division.

Some are said to have brought in small arms and explosives. Officials said it would take five army divisions to stop the flow of communist agents across the long, heavily-wooded border.

The recent pattern of communist activity, allied sources said indicates that the Kremlin has decided that the "national resistance" campaign in Germany should be shoved forward soon from the propaganda to the direct action stage to disrupt the west's projected defense buildup.

A widespread series of communist riots erupted in West Berlin, Frankfurt and Darmstadt Sunday. Communist violence broke out in Hamburg a few days earlier.

Tons of printed communist propaganda against Western powers as "foreign masters" and "warmongers" are being smuggled in from the east.

The communist "national resistance" program openly calls on West Germans to halt strategic shipments to the west and to sabotage any rearmament program within Germany.

Seek Two Ships

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 12 (AP)—Rescue vessels criss-crossed the storm-lashed waters off southwestern Nova Scotia tonight searching for two small ships. The engines of one were dead and most of her gear had washed away; the other has been unheard from since early this morning.

Shaw Surprises Nurse, Sits Up

The 94-year-old playwright's physician said Shaw would remain in bed at least 14 days. This revised an earlier estimate of Hospital Secretary R. E. Lingard that Shaw might quit the hospital in 10 days.

Lingard said the famous patient was quite talkative and "perky" and his pulse, temperature, and blood pressure were normal.

Army Major Held In Fund Shortage

RENO, Nev., Sept. 12 (AP)—Maj. Harold D. Banning, Army finance officer arrested here for questioning in connection with the possible misapplication of $250,000 in Germany, was taken to San Francisco Army headquarters today.

"I'll tell the whole story to the proper authorities at the proper time," said the handsome 39-year-old major as he left in the custody of Army criminal investigators.

Banning, who said he had $100,000 when he arrived in this country last month, told reporters today he had that money when he first was assigned to Germany in 1949.

In a signed statement given sheriff's officers, Banning said he carried the money, all in bills of $20 or less, in several suitcases. He brought the money back to this country in the same manner, he added.

He wouldn't explain where he got it, saying only: "It is my own personal fund and has nothing to do with the Army."

An officer for 18 years, Banning's pay and subsistence would amount to about $630 monthly, Army spokesmen said.

Banning said he bought a new car in New York after arriving in this country by commercial plane Aug. 26. He also bought a $5,000 diamond ring for his wife, Winnie Lee, who is in Berlin, he said.

UN Spot Probe In Red China Vetoed By Malik

Soviet Demand To Condemn U. S. Beat

LAKE SUCCESS, Sept. 12 (AP) — Russia used her 45th veto tonight in killing a proposed on-the-spot inquiry into Chinese communist charges of American air attacks on Manchurian territory.

The United Nations Security Council then overwhelmingly rejected a Soviet demand that the United States be condemned for the alleged air attacks on Manchuria.

Soviet Delegate Jacob A. Malik was again rebuffed when the council voted to adjourn until 2 p. m. (EST) Monday without taking up a new demand that red China be invited to send a representative here for consultations.

The vote on the American proposal for a Manchurian investigation was 7 to one, with Russia casting the lone negative vote, a veto. India and Yugoslavia abstained and Nationalist China declined to participate.

Hog Deaths Are Blamed On Biological Warfare

NORFOLK, Neb., Sept. 12 (AP) — Rep. Karl Stefan (R-Neb) said today he fears some kind of biological warfare by enemies of the United States has been causing the heavy death rate among hogs in the midwest corn belt.

He said he would call FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover and also get in touch with the Department of Agriculture and ask for help and an investigation.

In Washington, Dr. B. T. Simms, chief of the Agriculture Department's Bureau of Animal Industry, said his agency has found no evidence to support Stefan's biological warfare fears.

The bureau investigated reports of heavy hog losses in some areas of the midwest last year and is now in the process of investigating recent losses there.

The bureau recently reported that many of last year's losses occured in herds immediately following a hog cholera serum-virus treatment. It said a "variant," or slight change in the form of the virus in the vaccination process, caused the trouble.

Department investigators found no evidence, Dr. Simms told a reporter, that there had been any tampering with the production of the serum, which is produced under department supervision.

Simms said investigations of this year's losses have not yet been completed, and hence it is not possible to say now what the cause is.

Dr. H. U. Garrett, Iowa State veterinarian, said today that his office is concerned about the virus causing trouble after vaccination but that he did not believe it was caused by biological warfare germs.

Acheson Says German Power Is Essential

Outlines Views Of United States

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—Secretary of State Acheson proposed to Britain and France today that the West start immediately building up Western Europe's defenses against Russia with maximum speed and effort. He made it clear the United States believes the use of German manpower is essential to an adequate defense setup.

The American member of the Big Three Foreign Ministers Conference outlined his country's views at the first three and one-half hour session held by Acheson, Ernest Bevin of Britain, and Robert Schuman of France.

An official announcement, indicating the turn of events, said the ministers had begun a review of European problems. They will meet again tomorrow at 9:30 a. m. (EST). The meetings are secret.

The strengthening of Europe's defenses is the number one problem before the Big Three Foreign Ministers and Acheson came to New York with a detailed program. Diplomatic sources said he told Bevin and Schuman about President Truman's idea for sending more American troops to Europe and pointed out that the Americans want Western European countries to make comparable contributions to the defense of that region.

Acheson also touched to some extent on the American idea that the Germans of Western Germany be given a chance to serve with other Western Europeans in defending their homeland.

American sources, meanwhile, made it clear that the United States does not want to build up a new German army but that the U. S. does want German units to be integrated into a common defense.

The ministers have decided upon a schedule of hard work for their talks. They have set Thursday as the last day of the present discussions, with meetings of the North Atlantic Pact Council scheduled for Friday and Saturday. There are so many problems to be discussed, however, that the Big Three might carry on their talks over the weekend.

Tenn. Probes Baby Market

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 12 (AP)—Tennessee is investigating reports of a $1,000,000 baby market operating in Memphis and extending to New York and Hollywood.

The probe was ordered by Gov. Gordon Browning following reports by agents of the State Welfare Department of preliminary investigations in Tennessee and California.

State Welfare Commissioner J. O. McMahan said information now available indicates that more than 1,000 babies were involved and that foster parents have paid as much as $750 for them. Some babies placed by the agency have been adopted by Hollywood celebrities.

McMahan said his information indicates that more than 90 per cent of the babies have been "exported" to California and New York.

Several Thousand British Troops To Go To Germany; Churchill Says 'Not Enough'

By CHARLES WHITING

LONDON, Sept. 12 (AP) — Prime Minister Attlee announced today Britain will send several thousand more troops to Germany and divert other thousands of men into a hurry-up rearmament drive to guard against another Korea.

But Opposition Leader Winston Churchill said this was not enough. The conservative chieftain demanded that a European army of at least 60 to 70 divisions be raised to close the "hideous gap" in Western defenses, and warned the Prime Minister to accept the fact that such an army "with a strong German quota is going to be raised quite quickly."

Churchill told the House of Commons the Labor Government had been "conspicuously lacking in forethought, conviction and design" and had embarked on its rearmament drive only after a second urging from a "bitterly disappointed" United States.

"It should not surely need the prompting of a foreign country, however friendly," said Churchill.

Attlee's plan, he said, would put three British divisions in Germany.

"I don't think that should be accepted as a full and complete contribution on our part," he added.

Though he said conservatives would support Attlee's program so far as it went, "I must make it clear that our approval is not a vote of confidence in the government, least of all on its handling of military affairs."

The mild-mannered Attlee said the two under-strength British Divisions already in Germany will be brought up to full fighting weight and a third combat division sent to join them. This meant Britain will have between 45,000 and 54,000 fighting men on guard on the west's front line of defense.

His announcement followed President Truman's decision of a few days ago to send an undisclosed number of new divisions to Germany.

Rail Speedup Is Ordered To Aid Defense

Freight Handling Is Criticized

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—The government today spurred defense mobilization with an order to quicken the nation's railroad freight traffic, and set a 24-hour limit on the turn around of freight cars ready to move.

The Interstate Commerce Commission, in issuing the order, sharply criticized delays in loading and unloading freight.

It said the action was taken "to promote the national defense."

In other defense moves:

1. Officials said an anti-hoarding order on steel, copper, tin, aluminum and other key materials may be expected before the end of this week.

2. The Interior Department began setting up a new agency—tentatively called the Minerals and Energy Administration (MEA)—to prepare for possible emergency use of priorities and allocations of petroleum, gas, coal and electric power.

The new organization is expected to start functioning, at least on a standby basis, within two weeks.

Outlining these steps to gear the nation's economy to a wartime footing, officials emphasized there are no immediate shortages in sight such as gripped the country during World War II.

Hugh Stewart, director of the Interior Department's oil and gas division, told newsmen that the prospect of rationing such materials as gasoline is remote, short of a major war.

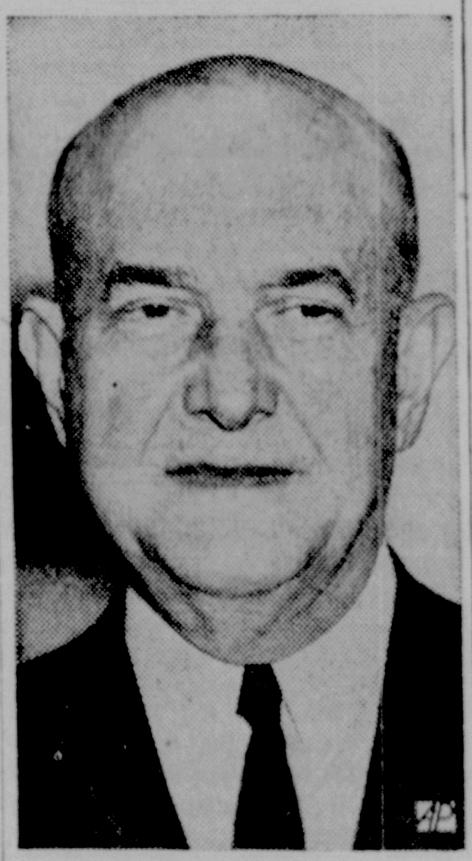
Stewart said the only current gasoline shortage is in the higher grades of aviation fuel.

Korean Beer Ration Stopped

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA, Sept. 12 (AP) — A howl of protest from the American front lines today greeted the Army's ban on free beer for combat troops.

Combat men have been receiving a ration of one small tin of beer daily. The Army said it acted because of adverse public opinion in the United States.

Henceforth beer will be available only to soldiers with change jingling in their pockets or with comrades free to make shopping trips behind the lines.



DROPPED BY TRUMAN—Louis A. Johnson, (above) was dropped by President Truman yesterday as Secretary of Defense. The President accepted a letter of resignation submitted by Johnson.

Tobey Rallies To Pull Close In N. H. Primary

Wesley Powell, 34-year-old lawyer, who at one time held a sizeable 1,500 vote lead, wilted as returns came in from city precincts long-dominated by the 70-year-old Senator.

In 250 out of 297 precincts, the vote stood:

Powell, 28,406.
Tobey, 28,125.

Powell, a World War II veteran, showed unexpected strength in communities carried in the past by Tobey. He also ran strongly in first returns from precincts in New Hampshire's 12 cities.

But, as reports from industrial sectors mounted, Tobey began pulling up.

Powell claimed the support of the conservative faction of the GOP in one of the bitterest campaigns in Granite State history.

Tobey, who takes pride in being a maverick in politics, waged one of the most vigorous drives of a long career that has seen him running 30 years for public office without defeat.

Gen. Marshall Picked To Fill Cabinet Post

Must Await Change Of Law By Congress

By ROGER D. GREENE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP) — President Truman dropped Louis A. Johnson from his Cabinet with dramatic suddenness today and asked General George C. Marshall to succeed him as Secretary of Defense.

The Five-Star General, former Secretary of State and Army Chief of Staff during World War II, announced his acceptance at his Leesburg, Va., home. He is 69 years old.

On Capitol Hill, the question immediately arose whether a life-long soldier, such as Marshall, should be cleared to take over a civilian post.

By law, no person who has been on military duty within the past 10 years is eligible to serve as Secretary of Defense. It would take a special act of Congress to let Marshall take the post.

Top lawmakers moved swiftly to erase this legal obstacle. Chairman Tydings (D-Md) said the Senate Armed Services Committee would get to work on the necessary legislation immediately. The initail reaction was strongly in favor of making it possible for Marshall to accept the new assignment.

Several Republican senators, including Wherry of Nebraska and Capehart of Indiana, said however that "the wrong man resigned" and that Secretary of State Acheson instead of Johnson should have stepped out.

Johnson, who succeeded the late James V. Forrestal as Secretary of Defense, submitted his resignation in a letter in which he spoke bitterly of knowing that when he took the office he would "make more enemies than friends."

Johnson himself recommended the selection of Marshall as a man who would be "an inspiration to the people of the United States and to our allies." His letter was dated today.

In reply, Mr. Truman wrote Johnson:

"It is clear to me that in writing (the letter of resignation) you have been actuated by motives of the highest patriotism, and I salute you.

"In the terribly tragic circumstances which have arisen, I feel that I must concur in your judgment and accept your proferred resignation as Secretary of Defense, effective at the close of business on Sept. 19, 1950."

The letter was addressed to "My Dear Lou."

The President's decision to drop Johnson sharply reversed his earlier staunch defense of the big, bald chief of the nation's military establishment.

On Aug. 3, Mr. Truman had told his news conference emphatically that both Johnson and Acheson would stay in the cabinet as long as he remained in the White House.

Since then, criticism of Johnson

Measure To Intern Communists In Time Of War Passes Senate

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP) — The Senate passed by an overwhelming vote today a bill to require registration of all communists and to put them in concentration camps in case of invasion, war or insurrection.

The internment section, added to the already tough provisions of the McCarran Bill against spies, saboteurs and reds, represented a fast flip-flop by the lawmakers.

They voted it down three times on roll calls, then inserted it in somewhat modified form on a top-heavy voice vote. They followed up by passing the stiffened bill 70 to 7.

Senator Lucas (D-Ill), President Truman's chief lieutenant in the Senate, sponsored the addition and had backing from other administration supporters. Just what that might mean with respect to the President's statement that he would not sign the original McCarran measure was uncertain. All the major provisions of the McCarran bill were still in, with the internment language besides.

The bill now goes to the House, which has passed a measure generally similar but lacking the concentration camp feature.

Senator McCarran (D-Nev), who sponsored the catch-all bill, and Senators Eastland (D-Miss), O'Conor (D-Md), Wiley (R-Wis) and Ferguson (R-Mich) were named conferees to work out agreement with representatives of the House.

Besides registration and internment for communists, the bill strengthens laws against espionage and sabotage much in line with White House recommendations and amends immigration laws to help keep out subversives.

The Senate's about-face on concentration camps came on a motion by Senator Tydings (D-Md) to reconsider a roll-call vote

Dynamite Blast Kills Eight Men

ELDRED, Pa., Sept. 12 (AP) — A mighty dynamite explosion which splintered a building at the National Powder Company today killed eight men and rocked homes for miles around.

Some of the victims were blown to bits as the blast destroyed a steel and frame house where dynamite and nitroglycerine are mixed.

The coroner's office reported difficulty in identifying bodies and withheld names until relatives had been notified. Here is the list released five hours later:

Charles York, 22; Harry Nelson, 59; Carl Fitzgerald, 30; Robert Walker, 40; Gene Shepard, 24; James Silvis, 30; Earl Logue, 26; and C. A. Sherwood, 34. All reside in this vicinity. Silvis was assistant plant manager.

Five or six other employes suffered slight injuries which were treated at the scene while armed guards kept newsmen and photographers off the plant property.

Residents 10 miles away heard the booming explosion. Windows were shattered within a two-mile radius.

GE, IUE Talks With Mediators Still Bogged

Dispute Idles 35,000 Workers

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP) — Government mediators kept talks going today in the dragging wage-benefit negotiations between the General Electric Corporation and the CIO International Electrical Workers Union (IUE).

In another action, the CIO-IUE reported agreement with the Sylvania Electric Products Corporation on a "package" contract providing wage increases and other benefits averaging about 15 cents an hour.

The dispute between GE and the IUE was of prime concern to government conciliators anxious to prevent a strike break-down of GE's defense production.

More meetings will be held tomorrow.

The IUE dispute already has idled more than 35,000 general electric workers. Another 25,000 are reported ready to walk out if government conciliation efforts fail.

The Sylvania agreement applies to both production and skilled workers in plants at Salem, Mass., Williamsport and Warren, Pa., Huntington, W. Va., and Kew Gardens, N. Y.

However, bargaining rights for workers in three of those cities still are in doubt.

A spokesman for IUE explained that the rival United Electrical Workers (UE) had challenged the NLRB elections at Huntington, Kew Gardens and Warren, although substantial margins were chalked up by IUE in the balloting between the two unions.

The IUE spokesman said that the Sylvania settlement would apply immediately to those plants in which IUE had been designated as the bargaining agent, and would apply to the Huntington, Kew Gardens, and Warren plants as soon as the NLRB had disposed of the UE challenge.

Calif. U. Leaves 9 Instructors Out

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 72 (AP)—Nine professors who failed to take any action on the University of California board of regent's loyalty oath ultimatum are "no longer employees of the University," a board spokesman said today.

The spokesman said the nine also have forfeited their right to a year's severance pay, which they would have received had they resigned.

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 12 (AP) — Bonneville Dam and its big Columbia River Hydro-Electric Plant will be closed to the public at midnight tonight for reasons of military security.

secured "all high ground" commanding the Tabu-to-Taegu roadway, a spokesman for Gen. MacArthur's headquarters reported.

American war planes Tuesday closely supported the ground action along the entire front. They concentrated most of their 335 sorties along the northern front.

In flights north of the 38th Parallel B-29s walloped the Kan Arsenal, 10 miles north of the communist capital of Pyongyang. Allied planes also located five new Yak fighters on a field 60 miles north of Seoul, destroyed three of them and damaged a fourth.

Gen. MacArthur's war summary early Wednesday said South Korean and U. S. 24th Division troops in the northeast sector continued to advance Tuesday, capturing "large quantities" of red equipment and arms.

has snowballed on Capitol Hill and elsewhere on the ground that he was fundamentally responsible for defense weaknesses brought into focus by the Korean War.

Much of the criticism harked back to Johnson's statement months ago that if the Russians struck at four o'clock in the morning, this country would strike back at 5 a. m. Johnson later stood by his guns on that statement, explaining he meant that American long-range bombers would be ready to strike retaliatory blows within an hour after a Soviet aerial assault on the United States.

The dismissal of Johnson emphasized a wide breech between the Defense Chief and Secretary of State Acheson over Far Pacific policies.

Johnson admitted in testimony before the Senate appropriations committee on Aug. 30 that "there have been differences of opinion between Mr. Acheson and myself on foreign policy."

But he insisted that he had never been guilty of "any undercutting of the Secretary of State" and said their differences had been "largely resolved in goodwill and understanding."

Johnson's testimony, hitherto secret, was made public today.

At the same committee hearing, held behind closed doors, Acheson agreed that Johnson was not attempting to "undercut him."

It was no secret, however, that Mr. Truman sided with Acheson down the line on foreign policy conflicts with Johnson, despite the President's deep personal fondness for the Defense Secretary.

A White House aide told newsmen last Saturday:

"Of this you may be sure, the President feels that Secretary of State Acheson has borne up in this case with supreme dignity and will remain in the cabinet after Johnson has gone."

There were widespread reports that Johnson was on his way out from the post he took over before Secretary James V. Forrestal ended his life by plunging from the 16-story U. S. Naval Hospital at Bethesda, Md., in the spring of 1949.

Stephen T. Early resigned as Deputy Secretary of Defense, a few hours before his chief, submitted his designation as secretary.

Early's resignation is effective September 30.

American war planes Tuesday closely supported the ground action along the entire front. They concentrated most of their 335 sorties along the northern front.

In flights north of the 38th Parallel B-29s walloped the Kan Arsenal, 10 miles north of the communist capital of Pyongyang. Allied planes also located five new Yak fighters on a field 60 miles north of Seoul, destroyed three of them and damaged a fourth.

Gen. MacArthur's war summary early Wednesday said South Korean and U. S. 24th Division troops in the northeast sector continued to advance Tuesday, capturing "large quantities" of red equipment and arms.

Gen. Marshall

has snowballed on Capitol Hill and elsewhere on the ground that he was fundamentally responsible for defense weaknesses brought into focus by the Korean War.

Much of the criticism harked back to Johnson's statement months ago that if the Russians struck at four o'clock in the morning, this country would strike back at 5 a. m. Johnson later stood by his guns on that statement, explaining he meant that American long-range bombers would be ready to strike retaliatory blows within an hour after a Soviet aerial assault on the United States.

The dismissal of Johnson emphasized a wide breech between the Defense Chief and Secretary of State Acheson over Far Pacific policies.

Johnson admitted in testimony before the Senate appropriations committee on Aug. 30 that "there have been differences of opinion between Mr. Acheson and myself on foreign policy."

But he insisted that he had never been guilty of "any undercutting of the Secretary of State" and said their differences had been "largely resolved in goodwill and understanding."

Johnson's testimony, hitherto secret, was made public today.

At the same committee hearing, held behind closed doors, Acheson agreed that Johnson was not attempting to "undercut him."

It was no secret, however, that Mr. Truman sided with Acheson down the line on foreign policy conflicts with Johnson, despite the President's deep personal fondness for the Defense Secretary.

A White House aide told newsmen last Saturday:

"Of this you may be sure, the President feels that Secretary of State Acheson has borne up in this case with supreme dignity and will remain in the cabinet after Johnson has gone."

There were widespread reports that Johnson was on his way out from the post he took over before Secretary James V. Forrestal ended his life by plunging from the 16-story U. S. Naval Hospital at Bethesda, Md., in the spring of 1949.

Stephen T. Early resigned as Deputy Secretary of Defense, a few hours before his chief, submitted his designation as secretary.

Early's resignation is effective September 30.

Characteristics Of Cancer Might Be Hereditary

COLUMBUS, O. (AP) — Two Utah researchers told the American Institute of Biological Sciences that cancer probably is not inherited, but certain of its characteristics are.

The announcements were made by Eldon J. Gardner, of Utah State College, and Charles M. Woolf of the University of Utah to some 2500 scientists in biological fields who are attending the four-day institute.

Dr. Gardner had this to say is the result of his experiments:

"Cancer itself probably is not inherited. In fact, no disease is inherited in the strict sense. Only hereditary factors or genes are inherited.

"Genes control structural and psysiological characteristics of the body and some of these characteristics act as pre-disposing factors for cancer."

The two Utah scientists traced their discoveries to tiny projections found in the lower digestive tract. These projections, varying in size from that of an acorn to a grapefruit have been discovered in persons of all age groups.

Some 50 persons having this condition are now being observed, Dr. Gardner said. He added that there is evidence that relatives of these persons who have died of cancer have these same projections in their lower digestive tract.

This leaves them to believe the condition is hereditary, but they hasten to add it is too soon to state positively that such is the case.

Who says they're the weaker sex?

Yes, sir, housewife Mrs. George Davis, has just been elected Mayor of Washington, Virginia, after defeating an all male opposition and this may be a straw in the political wind.

Mrs. Davis had an unusual platform. She promised to keep the grass cut, to keep away stray dogs, and replace burned out bulbs in street lamps.

Next she may put slipcovers on all public statues, doilies on the manhole covers, and replace the standard red and green traffic lights with pink, blue and chartruese.

And if she has to stay home with the kids, she'll probably leave messages for the city council in a milk bottle on the front porch.

When the cops in her town need new uniforms, they may have a long wait until her honor can get a good buy in a bargain basement.

I understand the Dixiecrats are keeping a sharp eye on Mrs. Davis. They have a hunch that a lady mayor can show them what a filibuster really is.

people. There has been no election. There has been no plebiscite.

What happened is that Chiang was disarmed by us, while Soviet Russia armed the chinese communists not only with American supplies but with Japanese supplies that Russia captured in Manchuria, with our consent, after it had been in the Far Eastern war less than a week.

Whereas Chiang had fought the Chinese communists since 1926 and always won, he could not fight the power of Soviet Russia. Chiang could have run away, cashing in on about $300,000,000 of specie, and lived in luxury in Brabil or Mexico or some such place. Instead, he chose to continue to fight communism from the tropical island of Formosa. That is a moral response to obligation and responsibility and a rejection of immoral concepts of expediency.

Constitution Day Should Be Every Day

By proclamation of public officials, the nation is called upon to observe September 17 as Constitution Day. Patriotic citizens have never appreciated the old bromide, "what is the Constitution between friends." It borders on blasphemy and gives this great document less respect than it deserves.

There is no greater political document for mankind than the Federal Constitution. It was conceived and drafted in such a fashion that for well over a century it, with a few amendments, has been able to meet all the amazing changes which have taken place in the lives of the people it serves.

This achievement is possible because it deals with principles. It avoids the statutory content which marks so many state constitutions, but predominantly it endures because its framers were men of deep patriotism and high minds and peculiarly gifted to prescribe a sailing chart for the new country.

The Constitution today does not always receive the respect it deserves. Over recent years it has not protected the individual as the framers intended it to do. There is an ominous trend to submerge the individual and merge him into a mass. For instance, a man's right to work at what he chooses and for whom and on what terms is not as clear cut today as when the Constitution was framed.

It is a fine gesture to observe Constitution Day and pay homage to this great instrument. It would be more to the point to do so every day.

What GIs Need

To hold the Korean war in perspective the citizen at home must keep the GIs at the front constantly in mind. They are unkempt, weary from overwork and strain, homesick, suffering agonies.

They are not fictional soldiers, marching with the light of high purpose in their eyes, but mud-slogging troops. In their hearts they are searching for satisfactory terminals, for themselves if possible and if not for their families and their country.

What is ahead of them? Theirs is the herculean task of putting down aggressive totalitarianism that threatens to engulf the world, including their homeland. They will not be content until this country delineates a program it can achieve. Then they will know what they are fighting for.

When the United States fought the Revolutionary War, the fighting man was spurred by the goal of self-government. He fought to throw the invader out in the War of 1812. He fought against oppression in the Spanish-American War and to save the world in two wars.

Now it is as if nothing had been accomplished by all the blood spilled in other times. It is all to do over again.

The GI in this war needs clear and easily understood objectives, tasks he knows he can accomplish through exercise of his bravery and ingenuity.

Novel Come True

Novelists, like poets and other users of their imagination, often see further than the prosaic chroniclers of current happenings. The late George Orwell's story, "Nineteen Eighty-Four," was a hair-raising account of life in a future totalitarian state. One of its fundamental principles was that the rulers were always right. If their predictions misfired or they made mistakes, the state historian was supposed to rewrite history so as to make the past agree with the present, and to erase the errors of the men at the top.

This seems fantastic, but like many other details in the volume is no more so than many features of life as it actually is today under communism. Jacob Malik, the Russian who was August chairman of the United Nations Security Council, has just been making Orwell's description come true. He actually demanded that the Council, in reporting its year's work to the General Assembly, omit any reference to actions taken during Malik's walkout from January 13 to August. This includes its condemnation of the reds in Korea. Malik would like to have the record show that nothing which the Russians disapproved took place.

British Economy

According to figures compiled by Findley Weaver, economist with the United States embassy in London, the British working classes consume 22 per cent more goods and services than before the war, middle-class consumption is down 18 per cent, and the wealthy classes purchase 42 per cent less than under other governments.

This economist believes, however, that the British worker pays more in taxes for government-provided services than he receives in return. He thinks, then, that the rise in consumption is due wholly to full employment and increased production. The rise in production, says the economist, is due to improved management and organization, as well as to new machinery.

If these conclusions are accurate, Britain's economy is essentially healthy, and may be counted on to weather the storm. If the improvement in living conditions were found to be wholly dependent upon government hand-outs, the opposite might be indicated.

On The Air

Travelers through the countryside who have observed the strange apparatus on many roof-tops which indicates that those within the house have television privileges may expect even stranger sights in the future.

At the recent meeting in Cleveland of the National Electronics Distributors a huge display of television antennae was set up. Simple masts were overshadowed by complicated arrangements called "arrays," while steel or aluminum towers and rotating devices were among the riggings displayed.

To the neutral observer, the elaborateness of such equipment seems to overshadow in more ways than one the general run of programs which it makes available. Television as a whole needs to provide more of the higher quality of entertainment in order to justify the outlay of time, money and material involved Otherwise the industry is in danger of causing the next generation to observe that once more the mountain has labored and brought forth a mouse.

Candy bars are advertised that will not melt in the pocket. Couldn't somebody do the same thing for a bankroll?

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Treatment With Sound Waves

SUPER-SONIC therapy is the latest addition to the science of medicine. These vibrations have been used only experimentally in this country but it is conceivable that in the future they will prove valuable in certain disorders. At any rate, we can keep our fingers crossed and enjoy reading about the research that is in progress.

These vibrations differ from ordinary sound vibrations only in their high frequency and short wave length. On passing through the tissues, they produce sufficient vibrations in the cells to create friction and heat. In this way, small doses have a therapeutic effect similar to that of any other heat producing machine. Moreover, super-sonic waves may have a chemical effect on the violent cell pulsation that is generated during the vibratory movements.

• — • — •

At Yale University these rays were employed for another purpose. Human gallstones were placed in water in a cellophane bag and subjected to the ultra-sonic beam. Crack, went the gallstones. Encouraged, the Yale men inserted other calculi into the gall bladder of a dog and turned on the current Everything became quiet and lo and behold! these rocks crumbled. We all know what is next on the agenda. To be of practical value, the stones will have to be broken into bits if escape from the gall bladder is to occur. All of this must be done without damaging the liver or other nearby structures.

According to an editorial in the New England Journal of Medicine, these scientists must have been stimulated by the old story of an imaginary violinist who, by striking an impossible note on a theoretical instrument, could cause the Empire State Building to topple like the walls of Jericho. The editorial concludes by paraphrasing some of the words of a familiar poem with the statement, "It seems to be a matter of break, break, break, these cold gray stones, incredibly high C."

• — • — •

Europeans have found that super-sonic vibrations have an analygesic, spasmolytic, anti-inflammatory, and bactericidal effect. Good results were obtained in individuals suffering from neuritis, myalgia, leg ulcers, bronchial asthma, and prostatitis. The remedy also has been used in rheumatoid and other forms of arthritis, as well as in bursitis, scleroderma, and Dupuytren's contracture. The waves offer possibilities in diagnosis because they permit mechanical examination of internal organs in contrast to the optical evidence supplied by X-rays. Ultra-sonic waves can distinguish between hard and soft tissues and may be of value, therefore, in studying such homogeneous organs as the and kidneys.

Super-sonics should not be confused with ordinary diathermy, which provides a penetrating type of heat. Three types of diathermy are available: micro, short, and long waves. The frequency of the current is sufficiently high not to stimulate nerves and muscles and their intensity is low enough so that tissues will not be impaired. Short and long wave diathermy equipment has been on the market for years for the treatment of many conditions varying from arthritis to sprains and strains.

BLACK TONGUE

Mrs. E. B. writes: My husband has had an extremely black coated tongue for several years. What is the cause?

REPLY

This is produced by an overgrowth of the papillae or hairlike filaments that cover the tongue. As they enlarge they become black or brown. No one knows why this happens although in some instances it is believed that infection is responsible. In some cases the condition was noted in those who sucked penicillin lozenges. Further study revealed, however, that if the treatment was continued the hairy tongue disappeared, suggesting that perhaps the penicillin had nothing to do with the development of the disorder.

Says DREW PEARSON

In case Hanley loses in his race for the Senate against Herbert Lehman, a new job will be created for him on the Throughway Commission—the superhighway now under construction across New York State. This job will pay Hanley $25,000 annually.

In addition, Hanley has been promised $15,000 income from an oil company, making a total of $40,000, or about the income he would have received had he been elected governor.

Finally, friends in the Dewey camp have promised to repay the $30,000 which Kingsland Macy, Frank Gannett and Norman Gould had put up to pay off Hanley's debts. The lieutenant governor had been in difficult financial circumstances and the Macy-Gannett-Gould backers had raised about $30,000 to bail him out.

Rival TV Stars

In the delegates' lounge at Lake Success, a newsman said to Security Council President Sir Gladwyn Jebb, "How does it feel to be a TV idol?"

"It's really quite frightening," replied Jebb, with his Oxford accent. "People come up to me on the street and shake my hand. No member of the British Foreign Office is supposed to be known, not to mention being popular."

"I'm afraid you can't escape it," insisted the newsman. "People are fascinated by you—second only to Milton Berle."

"Berle?" said Sir Gladwyn. "Who's he? The only Berle I know is Adolf Berle, and people aren't fascinated by him."

Down The Drain

It is easy to understand why the Republican Policy Committee took the unusual step of rushing out with a disavowal of Senator Schoeppel, the bumbling senator from Kansas, after he tried to smear the red brush on Secretary of the Interior Oscar Chapman.

Chapman's forthright and convincing reply boomeranged against the Republicans badly. Bob Allen expressed it best of all, after Chapman had wound up his testimony.

"I have no money to leave my family," the Cabinet officer said, "only my good name and reputation. By the grace of God I'm going to protect it.

"I challenge him. . . I dare you to remove your cloak of immunity and sit in this chair and read your statement."

Senator Schoeppel remained silent.

"Do you care to answer?" Chairmane O'Mahoney of Wyoming asked.

Senator Schoeppel did not.

"Don't you care to question the witness?" invited O'Mahoney.

Schoeppel mumbled something about the fact that his assistant, Frank Bow, who actually prepared his speech, was out of town.

"Another cockroach down the drain."

There being no drain present, Senator Schoeppel looked as if he wanted to slide under the table.

Taxpayers Finance Lobby

American taxpayers don't know it, but they have been helping to foot the bill for a lobby run by an ex-convict operating under the high-faluting name of the Committee for Constitutional Government, and supported by such powerful Republicans as Frank Gannett of the Gannett newspaper chain. Its executive secretary, Edward A. Rumely, was jailed as an agent of the Kaiser in World War I.

It has now been disclosed by the House Lobby investigation that Rumely's propaganda leaflets have been printed and distributed at a considerable cost to the Treasury. A friendly congressman merely places the propaganda in the Congressional Record, orders reprints from the government printing office at cost, and sends them out under his congressional frank free.

One senator who bucked at this device was George Malone of Nevada. To him Rumely wrote:

"Even if members of Congress, by putting out contrary material incurred $1,000,000 or $2,000,000 of expense for the Treasury, it would be negligible."

In the same letter Rumely boasted that "15,000,000 franked releases, mostly to small town and rural mailboxes" defeated the new deal's court plan and intervened in the 1938 elections. Rumely also revealed "a similar effort" was being conducted against the fair deal's medical plan and added cynically, "in war we cannot always choose our weapons."

Among the congressmen who helped ex-German agent Rumely spend the taxpayers' money for his propaganda are: Ralph Gwinn, N. Y.; Frederick "Doc" Smith, Ohio; Daniel A. Reed, N. Y.; former Senator Ralph Hawkes, N. J.; and ex-Rep. George W. Schwabe, Okla.—all Republicans.

NOTE — Rumley worte a Baltimore friend who wanted to distribute copies of a diatribe against public housing under Gwinn's frank: "The post office in Baltimore may not accept the franked mailing without some authorization. We have standing authorization in the New York Post Office and could mail from here if you will supply the addresses on gummed labels."

Johnson's Speechmakers

The heat on Secretary of Defense Louey Johnson has been so intense that he has drafted his top assistants into a special task force to tell the public what a great man Secretary of Defense Louey Johnson is.

After the Korean outbreak Johnson banned everyone in the Defense Department from making speeches. Therefore, he had some difficulty getting his personal publicity campaign rolling. Finally, however, he announced that the public was entitled to be informed about Korea. Whereupon Johnson's assistant secretary in charge of "political matters," Paul Griffith, rushed out and delivered the first speech. The speech turned out to be chiefly a defense of Johnson.

Sample from the speech: "I am proud to be associated at this critical time with our great Secretary of Defense . . . I want you to know that he is the most sincere, honest and capable executive that can be found anyplace in the world."

This statement must have made a hit with the boss, because Griffith repeated it word-for-word in another speech on September 4. In fact, he hardly changed a comma.

Common Sense Lack May Explain Failure In China

By MARK SULLIVAN

South Korea is a tiny country, of some 20,000,000 people. To prevent subjection of it to communism we are using the utmost strength we have available and are mobilizing more.

Yet South Korea is only a tiny piece of Asia. And up to two years ago an immense part of Asia, China with some 400,000,000 people, was under attempt at subjection to communism—an attempt coming from the same source and in other respects largely identical with the present attempt in South Korea. Against that attemp at communizing China the policy of the Truman administration did not exert resistance. That policy raises a question, expressible in three letters but monumental in its relation to present disaster, "Why?"

Answer Was Plausible

An answer made at the time was that we could not afford to exert ourselves in resisting the communizing of China, that our resources did not permit. That answer was plausible, to a considerable degree it had merit. We had begun in 1946 to lay out billions to enable countries of Western Europe to resist communism there, the aid that became known as the "Marshall Plan." The theory was that our resources were not enough to resist communism in both Europe and China, and that of the two it was more immediately important to resist in Europe. The countries in Western Europe that we were defending composed, next to the United States itself, the area of the world's greatest productive capacity and economic strength. Fall of them to Russian communism could be directly fatal.

Yet the answer that we had not the resources to resist the communizing of China's 400,000,000 becomes a tragic irony when today we are pouring out billions without stint to resist the communizing of South Korea's 20,000,000 people. The irony is increased by what was apparent in advance, that once Russian Communism should take over China it would attempt to take over the rest of Eastern and Southeastern Asia, including Korea.

When the overcoming of China by communism was under way, there was an outpouring of prophecy and warning about the consequences. A typical one came from a military source, Maj. Gen. Clair Chennault (ret.) who had been head of our Air Forces in China during World War II. Writing about the strategy of the Russian communist leaders he said: "The domination of China is one of (the) strategical essentials necessary . . . before they can feel safe in making war on the world." In a book entitled "China, the Land and the People," Gerald F. Winfield wrote in 1948: "Our stake in Asia has now become a matter of the survival of our democracy . . . even our very existence as a free people." A report of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs said that success by the communists in taking over China would result in "one Soviet-dominated world."

Now that the consequences have begun, with the communist agression in South Korea, there is inevitable questioning about the relation of the Truman administration to the communist overcoming of China when it was under way. The Republicans announce that the actions and policies of the Administration will be "reviewed completely." In such a review there is one condition, commonly overlooked, but having great weight.

One Group Opposed

At the time the communist conquest of China was under way, there was just one organized opposition to it. This was the Nationalist government of China under Chiang Kai-shek. Either Chiang Kai-shek would resist successfully, or the communists would triumph; and whichever the outcome it would be the final answer. In simple common sense the interest of the United States lay in giving Chiang Kai-shek every support we could. This the Truman administration conspicuously did not do. That we should not give Chiang Kai-shek large military and economic support was understandable, because of what we were committed to give Western Europe. But we did not give him even moral or political support; on the contrary we conspicuously withheld them. As an example we at one point publicly urged Chiang Kai-shek to take the Communists into a coalition government. This, and other actions and attitudes of the Truman administration caused Chiang Kai-shek to lose "face" with the Chinese people. And that loss of face was a major cause of his defeat.

In explanation of the Truman administration's attitude toward Chiang Kai-shek, it was said that his government was weak and inefficient. A frequent word used about him was "reactionary." As if that, whether justified or not, should have weight, considering the stake we had. Among the mistakes and worse of the Truman administration about China, a glaring one was lack of ordinary common sense.

Momentum Gathered To Pass Excess Profits Bill

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12—One of the invisible phenomena of the current session of Congress is the momentum behind the drive to get an excess profits tax bill passed right away.

It took all the influence of the administration, and particularly of the Treasury Department, and all the power of a Republican-Democratic coalition to shelve the proposed bill in the Senate. But this doesn't explain why the pressure was exerted there and in the House to get such a measure written hastily into law.

The basic reason, of course, is that an excess profits tax will lead to an excess of spending and to a wage inflation. A company that considers it will have to pay as much as 70 to 80 cents out of a profit-dollar to the government becomes less interested in what it spends than in what it saves.

Labor unions have had the idea that they would benefit immediately even from the application of an excess profits tax law retroactively to 1950 earnings. The theory seems to have prevailed that companies would suddenly increase their pay levels because they would have to give the bulk of their earnings to Uncle Sam anyway. There are other avenues for extravagant expenditure, and the general impression has been, based on wartime experience, that, since nearly every business expense is deductible for tax purposes, there would be plenty of spending. The spenders were behind the drive to get the bill enacted right away.

Various Kinds of Profiteering

But this presupposed, of course, that, while the government would control profits and prices, it would not control wages. Recalling the slow-moving experience on this factor during the last war, labor unions felt that they could move up their wage scales during the last quarter of 1950 and pave the way for further increases in 1951 before the wage-stabilization machinery would get going.

On the surface, the proponents of the excess profits tax have talked a lot about stopping "profiteering." They frequently refer to the blood being spilled in Korea and how important it is to make sacrifices on the dollar side. But the truth is that there are various kinds of profiteering besides increases in prices or earnings. The profiteering in wage scales has already begun. Though the cost of living has dropped since the hoarding panic reached its peak, the demand from the major labor unions is for increasing wages, anyway. Even contracts that did not permit reopening during the year 1950 were forced open by threats of strikes or so-called unauthorized walkouts.

Only the other day William Green, president of the AFL, said publicly that it would not be right to put on wage freezes or stabilization until wages catch up with the recent rises in living costs. What is stabilization really for except to prevent such upward spirals?

There are not, moreover, going to be any such profit margins for companies in 1950 or 1951 as there were in the war years. The appropriations by Congress for defense equipment and construction are far behind the actual expenditures. It is doubtful whether very much money, relatively speaking, will be spent on the war program in the year 1950 anyhow. In fact, the latest figures indicate that, because of the lag in spending, there may actually be a balanced federal budget in the fiscal year ending June 30 next. It is in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1952, that there will be a deficit, and even this will not be much larger than the budget deficit for the year which ended June 30, 1950, unless, of course, large-scale war breaks out.

Job For Experts

The increase in straight corporation tax rates already applicable to part of the year 1950 will bring in a sizable revenue. Disbursements by the government also will not be as big in the first half of 1951 as the headlines about spending may have indicated.

As for writing an excess profits tax bill, that is a real job for technical experts. The large companies, with big profits to use in computing their new rate on the base years 1946 to 1949 will come out very well, whereas the struggling smaller companies will come out with heavy penalties. This happened before. The so-called "hardship" clauses of the law which are supposed to alleviate the troubles of the smaller businesses are not worth the paper they are written on. The big companies certainly have an opportunity to lengthen their lead over smaller competitors, and the excess profits tax does that trick for them.

The enactment, therefore, of an excess profits tax law to apply to 1950 earnings has occasioned most of the opposition in business circles. Large business enterprises will promptly adjust themselves to an excess profits tax applicable at the beginning of January 1951. Small businesses, as usual, will get hurt. The so-called "liberals" and radicals will forget them because these proponents of the excess profits tax law are not, to be sure, the friends of small business. They are really the undeclared allies of inflation.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Curse Of Expediency

DR. John A. Mackay, president of the Princeton Theological Seminary, makes an interesting point about expediency. It is in relationship with our attitude toward China, but the importance of his remark lies in his own realm, namely, the moral basis of our lives. He says:

". . . Because the government of Peiping is the only government which controls that vast Asiatic area traditionally called China and because it will continue to control China for a very long time to come, political precedent as well as international expediency dictate at least a de facto recognition of the government in power."

If expediency is a suitable measure for international conduct, why not for national conduct or even personal conduct? Would Dr. Mackay justify an alliance between a governor of a state and Lucky Luciano because it is expedient politically?

"International expediency," pursued at Teheran, Yalta and Potsdam and at the various Moscow conferences, has brought us to the Korean war with every prospect of its being the first campaign in World War III. The rejection of moral attitudes by our leaders and the substitution therefore of improvisations based on expediency have reduced our international leadership to its present state of bankruptcy. For who can believe a leadership that signs an agreement at Cairo November 26, 1943, and betrays it at Teheran within five days?

That may have been expedient, but was it moral? Perhaps politicians need to be expedient, but do clergymen? That is a question which must be faced. For if clergymen and editorial writers and professors in universities all resort to the wiles of the politician, or justify retreat from morality in public affairs, who shall hold aloft the banner of right and decent living?

At another point, Rev. Dr. Mackay says:

"Any attempt on the part of the United States to impose upon China the Nationalist government of Formosa, which for one reason or another has definitely forfeited the confidence of the Chinese people, would do irreparable harm to Sino-American relations . . ."

First of all, the United States does not seek to impose any government upon any nation. China has passed through a revolution. The government now holding most of the country is a satellite of Soviet Russia, which organized the Chinese communist party in 1920. That government, headed by Mao Tze-Tung, seeks recognition. Thus far, such recognition has been withheld by the United States, which had also withheld recognition from Soviet Russia from 1917 to 1933. Nations have often delayed recognition until a succeeding government has proved its capacity to remain in power and to assume outstanding obligations.

Secondly, Dr. Mackay used a Soviet propagandistic term, "The Nationalist government of Formosa." The correct title is "the Nationalist government of China." That government has been in existence since 1927. With it, the United States has entered into contractual relations in the form of treaties and agreements. It is not unusual for a country to continue to do business with governments-in-exile. The De Gaulle government-in-exile, the Dutch government-in-exile and the Polish government-in-exile fought on our side during World War II.

But the Nationalist government of China is not a government-in-exile. It continues to function on Chinese soil and has offered the United States some 30,000 ground troops in this war, a fact which President Truman chose not to mention in his speech in which he listed the paltry aid offered by our United Nations allies.

Finally, Dr. Mackay does not know—anymore than I can know or, you can—if Chiang Kai-Shek has lost the confidence of the Chinese

Constitution Day Should Be Every Day

By proclamation of public officials, the nation is called upon to observe September 17 as Constitution Day. Patriotic citizens have never appreciated the old bromide, "what is the Constitution between friends." It borders on blasphemy and gives this great document less respect than it deserves.

There is no greater political document for mankind than the Federal Constitution. It was conceived and drafted in such a fashion that for well over a century it, with a few amendments, has been able to meet all the amazing changes which have taken place in the lives of the people it serves.

This achievement is possible because it deals with principles. It avoids the statutory content which marks so many state constitutions, but predominantly it endures because its framers were men of deep patriotism and high minds and peculiarly gifted to prescribe a sailing chart for the new country.

The Constitution today does not always receive the respect it deserves. Over recent years it has not protected the individual as the framers intended it to do. There is an ominous trend to submerge the individual and merge him into a mass. For instance, a man's right to work at what he chooses and for whom and on what terms is not as clear cut today as when the Constitution was framed.

It is a fine gesture to observe Constitution Day and pay homage to this great instrument. It would be more to the point to do so every day.

What GIs Need

To hold the Korean war in perspective the citizen at home must keep the GIs at the front constantly in mind. They are unkempt, weary from overwork and strain, homesick, suffering agonies.

They are not fictional soldiers, marching with the light of high purpose in their eyes, but mud-slogging troops. In their hearts they are searching for satisfactory terminals, for themselves if possible and if not for their families and their country.

What is ahead of them? Theirs is the herculean task of putting down aggressive totalitarianism that threatens to engulf the world, including their homeland. They will not be content until this country delineates a program it can achieve. Then they will know what they are fighting for.

When the United States fought the Revolutionary War, the fighting man was spurred by the goal of self-government. He fought to throw the invader out in the War of 1812. He fought against oppression in the Spanish-American War and to save the world in two wars.

Now it is as if nothing had been accomplished by all the blood spilled in other times. It is all to do over again.

The GI in this war needs clear and easily understood objectives, tasks he knows he can accomplish through exercise of his bravery and ingenuity.

Novel Come True

Novelists, like poets and other users of their imagination, often see further than the prosaic chroniclers of current happenings. The late George Orwell's story, "Nineteen Eighty-Four," was a hair-raising account of life in a future totalitarian state. One of its fundamental principles was that the rulers were always right. If their predictions misfired or they made mistakes, the state historian was supposed to rewrite history so as to make the past agree with the present, and to erase the errors of the men at the top.

This seems fantastic, but like many other details in the volume is no more so than many features of life as it actually is today under communism. Jacob Malik, the Russian who was August chairman of the United Nations Security Council, has just been making Orwell's description come true. He actually demanded that the Council, in reporting its year's work to the General Assembly, omit any reference to actions taken during Malik's walkout from January 13 to August. This includes its condemnation of the reds in Korea. Malik would like to have the record show that nothing which the Russians disapproved took place.

British Economy

According to figures compiled by Findley Weaver, economist with the United States embassy in London, the British working classes consume 22 per cent more goods and services than before the war, middle-class consumption is down 18 per cent, and the wealthy classes purchase 42 per cent less than under other governments.

This economist believes, however, that the British worker pays more in taxes for government-provided services than he receives in return. He thinks, then, that the rise in consumption is due wholly to full employment and increased production. The rise in production, says the economist, is due to improved management and organization, as well as to new machinery.

If these conclusions are accurate, Britain's economy is essentially healthy, and may be counted on to weather the storm. If the improvement in living conditions were found to be wholly dependent upon government hand-outs, the opposite might be indicated.

On The Air

Travelers through the countryside who have observed the strange apparatus on many roof-tops which indicates that those within the house have television privileges may expect even stranger sights in the future.

At the recent meeting in Cleveland of the National Electronics Distributors a huge display of television antennae was set up. Simple masts were overshadowed by complicated arrangements called "arrays," while steel or aluminum towers and rotating devices were among the riggings displayed.

To the neutral observer, the elaborateness of such equipment seems to overshadow in more ways than one the general run of programs which it makes available. Television as a whole needs to provide more of the higher quality of entertainment in order to justify the outlay of time, money and material involved Otherwise the industry is in danger of causing the next generation to observe that once more the mountain has labored and brought forth a mouse.

Candy bars are advertised that will not melt in the pocket. Couldn't somebody do the same thing for a bankroll?

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Treatment With Sound Waves

SUPER-SONIC therapy is the latest addition to the science of medicine. These vibrations have been used only experimentally in this country but it is conceivable that in the future they will prove valuable in certain disorders. At any rate, we can keep our fingers crossed and enjoy reading about the research that is in progress.

These vibrations differ from ordinary sound vibrations only in their high frequency and short wave length. On passing through the tissues, they produce sufficient vibrations in the cells to create friction and heat. In this way, small doses have a therapeutic effect similar to that of any other heat producing machine. Moreover, super-sonic waves may have a chemical effect on the violent cell pulsation that is generated during the vibratory movements.

• — • — •

At Yale University these rays were employed for another purpose. Human gallstones were placed in water in a cellophane bag and subjected to the ultra-sonic beam. Crack, went the gallstones. Encouraged, the Yale men inserted other calculi into the gall bladder of a dog and turned on the current Everything became quiet and lo and behold! these rocks crumbled. We all know what is next on the agenda. To be of practical value, the stones will have to be broken into bits if escape from the gall bladder is to occur. All of this must be done without damaging the liver or other nearby structures.

According to an editorial in the New England Journal of Medicine, these scientists must have been stimulated by the old story of an imaginary violinist who, by striking an impossible note on a theoretical instrument, could cause the Empire State Building to topple like the walls of Jericho. The editorial concludes by paraphrasing some of the words of a familiar poem with the statement, "It seems to be a matter of break, break, break, these cold gray stones, incredibly high C."

• — • — •

Europeans have found that super-sonic vibrations have an analygesic, spasmolytic, anti-inflammatory, and bactericidal effect. Good results were obtained in individuals suffering from neuritis, myalgia, leg ulcers, bronchial asthma, and prostatitis. The remedy also has been used in rheumatoid and other forms of arthritis, as well as in bursitis, scleroderma, and Dupuytren's contracture. The waves offer possibilities in diagnosis because they permit mechanical examination of internal organs in contrast to the optical evidence supplied by X-rays. Ultra-sonic waves can distinguish between hard and soft tissues and may be of value, therefore, in studying such homogeneous organs as the and kidneys.

Super-sonics should not be confused with ordinary diathermy, which provides a penetrating type of heat. Three types of diathermy are available: micro, short, and long waves. The frequency of the current is sufficiently high not to stimulate nerves and muscles and their intensity is low enough so that tissues will not be impaired. Short and long wave diathermy equipment has been on the market for years for the treatment of many conditions varying from arthritis to sprains and strains.

BLACK TONGUE

Mrs. E. B. writes: My husband has had an extremely black coated tongue for several years. What is the cause?

REPLY

This is produced by an overgrowth of the papillae or hairlike filaments that cover the tongue. As they enlarge they become black or brown. No one knows why this happens although in some instances it is believed that infection is responsible. In some cases the condition was noted in those who sucked penicillin lozenges. Further study revealed, however, that if the treatment was continued the hairy tongue disappeared, suggesting that perhaps the penicillin had nothing to do with the development of the disorder.

Says DREW PEARSON

In case Hanley loses in his race for the Senate against Herbert Lehman, a new job will be created for him on the Throughway Commission—the superhighway now under construction across New York State. This job will pay Hanley $25,000 annually.

In addition, Hanley has been promised $15,000 income from an oil company, making a total of $40,000, or about the income he would have received had he been elected governor.

Finally, friends in the Dewey camp have promised to repay the $30,000 which Kingsland Macy, Frank Gannett and Norman Gould had put up to pay off Hanley's debts. The lieutenant governor had been in difficult financial circumstances and the Macy-Gannett-Gould backers had raised about $30,000 to bail him out.

Rival TV Stars

In the delegates' lounge at Lake Success, a newsman said to Security Council President Sir Gladwyn Jebb, "How does it feel to be a TV idol?"

"It's really quite frightening," replied Jebb, with his Oxford accent. "People come up to me on the street and shake my hand. No member of the British Foreign Office is supposed to be known, not to mention being popular."

"I'm afraid you can't escape it," insisted the newsman. "People are fascinated by you—second only to Milton Berle."

"Berle?" said Sir Gladwyn. "Who's he? The only Berle I know is Adolf Berle, and people aren't fascinated by him."

Down The Drain

It is easy to understand why the Republican Policy Committee took the unusual step of rushing out with a disavowal of Senator Schoeppel, the bumbling senator from Kansas, after he tried to smear the red brush on Secretary of the Interior Oscar Chapman.

Chapman's forthright and convincing reply boomeranged against the Republicans badly. Bob Allen expressed it best of all, after Chapman had wound up his testimony.

"I have no money to leave my family," the Cabinet officer said, "only my good name and reputation. By the grace of God I'm going to protect it.

"I challenge him. . . I dare you to remove your cloak of immunity and sit in this chair and read your statement."

Senator Schoeppel remained silent.

"Do you care to answer?" Chairmane O'Mahoney of Wyoming asked.

Senator Schoeppel did not.

"Don't you care to question the witness?" invited O'Mahoney.

Schoeppel mumbled something about the fact that his assistant, Frank Bow, who actually prepared his speech, was out of town.

"Another cockroach down the drain."

There being no drain present, Senator Schoeppel looked as if he wanted to slide under the table.

Taxpayers Finance Lobby

American taxpayers don't know it, but they have been helping to foot the bill for a lobby run by an ex-convict operating under the high-faluting name of the Committee for Constitutional Government, and supported by such powerful Republicans as Frank Gannett of the Gannett newspaper chain. Its executive secretary, Edward A. Rumely, was jailed as an agent of the Kaiser in World War I.

It has now been disclosed by the House Lobby investigation that Rumely's propaganda leaflets have been printed and distributed at a considerable cost to the Treasury. A friendly congressman merely places the propaganda in the Congressional Record, orders reprints from the government printing office at cost, and sends them out under his congressional frank free.

One senator who bucked at this device was George Malone of Nevada. To him Rumely wrote:

"Even if members of Congress, by putting out contrary material incurred $1,000,000 or $2,000,000 of expense for the Treasury, it would be negligible."

In the same letter Rumely boasted that "15,000,000 franked releases, mostly to small town and rural mailboxes" defeated the new deal's court plan and intervened in the 1938 elections. Rumely also revealed "a similar effort" was being conducted against the fair deal's medical plan and added cynically, "in war we cannot always choose our weapons."

Among the congressmen who helped ex-German agent Rumely spend the taxpayers' money for his propaganda are: Ralph Gwinn, N. Y.; Frederick "Doc" Smith, Ohio; Daniel A. Reed, N. Y.; former Senator Ralph Hawkes, N. J.; and ex-Rep. George W. Schwabe, Okla.—all Republicans.

NOTE — Rumley worte a Baltimore friend who wanted to distribute copies of a diatribe against public housing under Gwinn's frank: "The post office in Baltimore may not accept the franked mailing without some authorization. We have standing authorization in the New York Post Office and could mail from here if you will supply the addresses on gummed labels."

Johnson's Speechmakers

The heat on Secretary of Defense Louey Johnson has been so intense that he has drafted his top assistants into a special task force to tell the public what a great man Secretary of Defense Louey Johnson is.

After the Korean outbreak Johnson banned everyone in the Defense Department from making speeches. Therefore, he had some difficulty getting his personal publicity campaign rolling. Finally, however, he announced that the public was entitled to be informed about Korea. Whereupon Johnson's assistant secretary in charge of "political matters," Paul Griffith, rushed out and delivered the first speech. The speech turned out to be chiefly a defense of Johnson.

Sample from the speech: "I am proud to be associated at this critical time with our great Secretary of Defense . . . I want you to know that he is the most sincere, honest and capable executive that can be found anyplace in the world."

This statement must have made a hit with the boss, because Griffith repeated it word-for-word in another speech on September 4. In fact, he hardly changed a comma.

Common Sense Lack May Explain Failure In China

By MARK SULLIVAN

South Korea is a tiny country, of some 20,000,000 people. To prevent subjection of it to communism we are using the utmost strength we have available and are mobilizing more.

Yet South Korea is only a tiny piece of Asia. And up to two years ago an immense part of Asia, China with some 400,000,000 people, was under attempt at subjection to communism—an attempt coming from the same source and in other respects largely identical with the present attempt in South Korea. Against that attemp at communizing China the policy of the Truman administration did not exert resistance. That policy raises a question, expressible in three letters but monumental in its relation to present disaster, "Why?"

Answer Was Plausible

An answer made at the time was that we could not afford to exert ourselves in resisting the communizing of China, that our resources did not permit. That answer was plausible, to a considerable degree it had merit. We had begun in 1946 to lay out billions to enable countries of Western Europe to resist communism there, the aid that became known as the "Marshall Plan." The theory was that our resources were not enough to resist communism in both Europe and China, and that of the two it was more immediately important to resist in Europe. The countries in Western Europe that we were defending composed, next to the United States itself, the area of the world's greatest productive capacity and economic strength. Fall of them to Russian communism could be directly fatal.

Yet the answer that we had not the resources to resist the communizing of China's 400,000,000 becomes a tragic irony when today we are pouring out billions without stint to resist the communizing of South Korea's 20,000,000 people. The irony is increased by what was apparent in advance, that once Russian Communism should take over China it would attempt to take over the rest of Eastern and Southeastern Asia, including Korea.

When the overcoming of China by communism was under way, there was an outpouring of prophecy and warning about the consequences. A typical one came from a military source, Maj. Gen. Clair Chennault (ret.) who had been head of our Air Forces in China during World War II. Writing about the strategy of the Russian communist leaders he said: "The domination of China is one of (the) strategical essentials necessary . . . before they can feel safe in making war on the world." In a book entitled "China, the Land and the People," Gerald F. Winfield wrote in 1948: "Our stake in Asia has now become a matter of the survival of our democracy . . . even our very existence as a free people." A report of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs said that success by the communists in taking over China would result in "one Soviet-dominated world."

Now that the consequences have begun, with the communist agression in South Korea, there is inevitable questioning about the relation of the Truman administration to the communist overcoming of China when it was under way. The Republicans announce that the actions and policies of the Administration will be "reviewed completely." In such a review there is one condition, commonly overlooked, but having great weight.

One Group Opposed

At the time the communist conquest of China was under way, there was just one organized opposition to it. This was the Nationalist government of China under Chiang Kai-shek. Either Chiang Kai-shek would resist successfully, or the communists would triumph; and whichever the outcome it would be the final answer. In simple common sense the interest of the United States lay in giving Chiang Kai-shek every support we could. This the Truman administration conspicuously did not do. That we should not give Chiang Kai-shek large military and economic support was understandable, because of what we were committed to give Western Europe. But we did not give him even moral or political support; on the contrary we conspicuously withheld them. As an example we at one point publicly urged Chiang Kai-shek to take the Communists into a coalition government. This, and other actions and attitudes of the Truman administration caused Chiang Kai-shek to lose "face" with the Chinese people. And that loss of face was a major cause of his defeat.

In explanation of the Truman administration's attitude toward Chiang Kai-shek, it was said that his government was weak and inefficient. A frequent word used about him was "reactionary." As if that, whether justified or not, should have weight, considering the stake we had. Among the mistakes and worse of the Truman administration about China, a glaring one was lack of ordinary common sense.

Momentum Gathered To Pass Excess Profits Bill

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12—One of the invisible phenomena of the current session of Congress is the momentum behind the drive to get an excess profits tax bill passed right away.

It took all the influence of the administration, and particularly of the Treasury Department, and all the power of a Republican-Democratic coalition to shelve the proposed bill in the Senate. But this doesn't explain why the pressure was exerted there and in the House to get such a measure written hastily into law.

The basic reason, of course, is that an excess profits tax will lead to an excess of spending and to a wage inflation. A company that considers it will have to pay as much as 70 to 80 cents out of a profit-dollar to the government becomes less interested in what it spends than in what it saves.

Labor unions have had the idea that they would benefit immediately even from the application of an excess profits tax law retroactively to 1950 earnings. The theory seems to have prevailed that companies would suddenly increase their pay levels because they would have to give the bulk of their earnings to Uncle Sam anyway. There are other avenues for extravagant expenditure, and the general impression has been, based on wartime experience, that, since nearly every business expense is deductible for tax purposes, there would be plenty of spending. The spenders were behind the drive to get the bill enacted right away.

Various Kinds of Profiteering

But this presupposed, of course, that, while the government would control profits and prices, it would not control wages. Recalling the slow-moving experience on this factor during the last war, labor unions felt that they could move up their wage scales during the last quarter of 1950 and pave the way for further increases in 1951 before the wage-stabilization machinery would get going.

On the surface, the proponents of the excess profits tax have talked a lot about stopping "profiteering." They frequently refer to the blood being spilled in Korea and how important it is to make sacrifices on the dollar side. But the truth is that there are various kinds of profiteering besides increases in prices or earnings. The profiteering in wage scales has already begun. Though the cost of living has dropped since the hoarding panic reached its peak, the demand from the major labor unions is for increasing wages, anyway. Even contracts that did not permit reopening during the year 1950 were forced open by threats of strikes or so-called unauthorized walkouts.

Only the other day William Green, president of the AFL, said publicly that it would not be right to put on wage freezes or stabilization until wages catch up with the recent rises in living costs. What is stabilization really for except to prevent such upward spirals?

There are not, moreover, going to be any such profit margins for companies in 1950 or 1951 as there were in the war years. The appropriations by Congress for defense equipment and construction are far behind the actual expenditures. It is doubtful whether very much money, relatively speaking, will be spent on the war program in the year 1950 anyhow. In fact, the latest figures indicate that, because of the lag in spending, there may actually be a balanced federal budget in the fiscal year ending June 30 next. It is in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1952, that there will be a deficit, and even this will not be much larger than the budget deficit for the year which ended June 30, 1950, unless, of course, large-scale war breaks out.

Job For Experts

The increase in straight corporation tax rates already applicable to part of the year 1950 will bring in a sizable revenue. Disbursements by the government also will not be as big in the first half of 1951 as the headlines about spending may have indicated.

As for writing an excess profits tax bill, that is a real job for technical experts. The large companies, with big profits to use in computing their new rate on the base years 1946 to 1949 will come out very well, whereas the struggling smaller companies will come out with heavy penalties. This happened before. The so-called "hardship" clauses of the law which are supposed to alleviate the troubles of the smaller businesses are not worth the paper they are written on. The big companies certainly have an opportunity to lengthen their lead over smaller competitors, and the excess profits tax does that trick for them.

The enactment, therefore, of an excess profits tax law to apply to 1950 earnings has occasioned most of the opposition in business circles. Large business enterprises will promptly adjust themselves to an excess profits tax applicable at the beginning of January 1951. Small businesses, as usual, will get hurt. The so-called "liberals" and radicals will forget them because these proponents of the excess profits tax law are not, to be sure, the friends of small business. They are really the undeclared allies of inflation.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Curse Of Expediency

DR. John A. Mackay, president of the Princeton Theological Seminary, makes an interesting point about expediency. It is in relationship with our attitude toward China, but the importance of his remark lies in his own realm, namely, the moral basis of our lives. He says:

". . . Because the government of Peiping is the only government which controls that vast Asiatic area traditionally called China and because it will continue to control China for a very long time to come, political precedent as well as international expediency dictate at least a de facto recognition of the government in power."

If expediency is a suitable measure for international conduct, why not for national conduct or even personal conduct? Would Dr. Mackay justify an alliance between a governor of a state and Lucky Luciano because it is expedient politically?

"International expediency," pursued at Teheran, Yalta and Potsdam and at the various Moscow conferences, has brought us to the Korean war with every prospect of its being the first campaign in World War III. The rejection of moral attitudes by our leaders and the substitution therefore of improvisations based on expediency have reduced our international leadership to its present state of bankruptcy. For who can believe a leadership that signs an agreement at Cairo November 26, 1943, and betrays it at Teheran within five days?

That may have been expedient, but was it moral? Perhaps politicians need to be expedient, but do clergymen? That is a question which must be faced. For if clergymen and editorial writers and professors in universities all resort to the wiles of the politician, or justify retreat from morality in public affairs, who shall hold aloft the banner of right and decent living?

At another point, Rev. Dr. Mackay says:

"Any attempt on the part of the United States to impose upon China the Nationalist government of Formosa, which for one reason or another has definitely forfeited the confidence of the Chinese people, would do irreparable harm to Sino-American relations . . ."

First of all, the United States does not seek to impose any government upon any nation. China has passed through a revolution. The government now holding most of the country is a satellite of Soviet Russia, which organized the Chinese communist party in 1920. That government, headed by Mao Tze-Tung, seeks recognition. Thus far, such recognition has been withheld by the United States, which had also withheld recognition from Soviet Russia from 1917 to 1933. Nations have often delayed recognition until a succeeding government has proved its capacity to remain in power and to assume outstanding obligations.

Secondly, Dr. Mackay used a Soviet propagandistic term, "The Nationalist government of Formosa." The correct title is "the Nationalist government of China." That government has been in existence since 1927. With it, the United States has entered into contractual relations in the form of treaties and agreements. It is not unusual for a country to continue to do business with governments-in-exile. The De Gaulle government-in-exile, the Dutch government-in-exile and the Polish government-in-exile fought on our side during World War II.

But the Nationalist government of China is not a government-in-exile. It continues to function on Chinese soil and has offered the United States some 30,000 ground troops in this war, a fact which President Truman chose not to mention in his speech in which he listed the paltry aid offered by our United Nations allies.

Finally, Dr. Mackay does not know—anymore than I can know or, you can—if Chiang Kai-Shek has lost the confidence of the Chinese

Russia's Rulers Cracking Whip On Selected Group Of Scapegoats

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

Soviet Russia's communists rulers are cracking the whip with deadly regularity on a selected group of scapegoats. It may even amount to a quiet behind-the-scenes reign of terror. Its purpose appears to be to fix the blame publicly for lack of home front goods while the Soviet Union diverts its economic power to heavy industry to support a vast war machine.

Soviet functionaries high enough to be able to bear blame publicly and low enough to bet out of the ruling echelon are feeling the lash. The ministries of agriculture, housing, light industry, science and education and others in the various republics of the U.S.S.R are daily targets of the official press.

A purge is indicated. A number of officials and lesser ministers have been fired. Possibly some met a worse fate.

Daily there are dark threats against those who "harm the state" in high places. There is no greater crime in the U.S.S.R. Monotonously the official press belabors "pilferers of Soviet property," of fraud, of graft, of carelessness in high places, of failures and defects, of the need to "struggle against the survivals of capitalism."

A junior edition of this apparent purge campaign has extended into the satellite countries. In Red East Germany, where the communists were jolted recently by the ouster and probable arrest of at least a half dozen top-ranking leaders, the controlled press now is blasting "unsatisfactory performances" in socialized industry and agriculture. In Hungary, there is a stepped up collectivization drive going on, along with ruthless liquidation of the kulaks—the well-off farmers.

Students of the mysterious ways of Soviet communism say the great purge of the thirties was conducted publicly to show the party dictatorship in strong action against persons in high places, giving the average Soviet citizen a spectacle of government power ostensibly working in his behalf and letting the chips fall where they may. But there was much public blood-letting then, and it probably was a mistake. This time the public part of the campaign concerns the accusations. Of punishments nothing is being said.

The campaign would, however, give the average Soviet citizen a target for blame if he lacks proper housing and the goods he needs. If he doesn't have them, at least somebody appears to be getting punished.

Gourmet Thermidor

By JULIUS LULLY

YOU think you are on vacation — I thought I was too! Why, oh why did you ask me to write this column? I suppose if I ask you to prepare a bouillabaisse, make a crab gumbo soup, or an imperial crab, you will probably feel as I do trying to write this column. However, it is interesting and intriguing to get a look into the other persons's business and attempt to learn what it is all about. Particularly when you live each day with thousands of people and learn to love and cater to them.

JULIUS LULLY

I have been doing just that for many years, in fact, starting way back in 1908, to be exact! I have had the pleasure of feeding Nick Longworth, Diamond Jim Brady, Irene Bordoni, John Sharpe Williams, Samuel Blythe, Theodore Roosevelt, up to the present day of Bing Crosby, Perle Mesta, J. Edgar Hoover, Louis Johnson, Howard McGrath, Helen Hayes and many, many other people from every walk of life.

•—•—•

I believe that people become more emotional and perturbed while reading columns or eating meals than at any other time. I have seen and heard them at their best and at their worst while doing either one. They become jubilant when it appeals to them and they like it. They become very unhappy when they don't like it!

Of course, I am more familiar with the eating because I have, all my life, catered with food rather than words.

Talking about TASTE, this is one for the book, and if anyone does not like the rest of my column, they can try this out and be very happy. I have never seen it fail!

Crab Divine

Take a pound of back-fin crab lump, put it in a mixing bowl and add to it a pinch of salt, pepper and paprika, four tablespoons of melted butter, about a dozen capers, more or less to taste, and enough mayonnaise to bind this together.

Mix by tossing, like a salad, all ingredients together, avoiding breaking the lumps into small pieces.

Butter a crab shell, like a salad, all a salad, all ingedients together, avoiding breaking the lumps into small pieces.

Butter a crab shell and fill with the above mixture to a height of 2½" to 3", shaped up like a "falsie."

Sprinkle a little melted butter and two tablespoons of sherry, bake in a hot oven from 20 to 25 minutes, browning well. Voila!

Even the crabs of Chesapeake Bay are proud of this dish!

Clam Hash

This is terrific. Take about 15 to 20 cherrystone clams and put through a meat grinder, using the coarse holes. Saute this in butter with onions and green peppers which have been cut up fine. Add to this about half a quantity of small cube potatoes and brown all of this together similar to corn beef or roast beef hash and serve piping hot on toast!

Of course, I realize that this debut of mine in journalism is going to be talked about, laughed about, ridiculed about, tossed about and thrown out. However, I bear no grief toward anyone because I am the one that is shedding the tears. This column has cost me my limit of the finest trout in the world from one of the lakes in front of my window at the hotel, from which I can cast.

The sacrifice is worth it.

Please send me my fan mail.

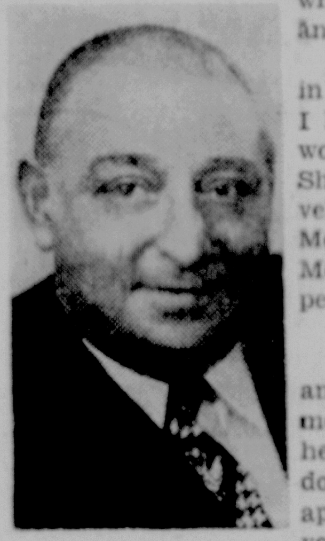
By JULIUS LULLY

YOU think you are on vacation — I thought I was too! Why, oh why did you ask me to write this column? I suppose if I ask you to prepare a bouillabaisse, make a crab gumbo soup, or an imperial crab, you will probably feel as I do trying to write this column. However, it is interesting and intriguing to get a look into the other persons's business and attempt to learn what it is all about. Particularly when you live each day with thousands of people and learn to love and cater to them.



JULIUS LULLY

I have been doing just that for many years, in fact, starting way back in 1908, to be exact! I have had the pleasure of feeding Nick Longworth, Diamond Jim Brady, Irene Bordoni, John Sharpe Williams, Samuel Blythe, Theodore Roosevelt, up to the present day of Bing Crosby, Perle Mesta, J. Edgar Hoover, Louis Johnson, Howard McGrath, Helen Hayes and many, many other people from every walk of life.

• — • — •

I believe that people become more emotional and perturbed while reading columns or eating meals than at any other time. I have seen and heard them at their best and at their worst while doing either one. They become jubilant when it appeals to them and they like it. They become very unhappy when they don't like it!

Of course, I am more familiar with the eating because I have, all my life, catered with food rather than words.

Talking about TASTE, this is one for the book, and if anyone does not like the rest of my column, they can try this out and be very happy. I have never seen it fail!

Crab Divine

Take a pound of back-fin crab lump, put it in a mixing bowl and add to it a pinch of salt, pepper and paprika, four tablespoons of melted butter, about a dozen capers, more or less to taste, and enough mayonnaise to bind this together.

Mix by tossing, like a salad, all ingredients together, avoiding breaking the lumps into small pieces.

Butter a crab shell, like a salad, all a salad, all ingedients together, avoiding breaking the lumps into small pieces.

Butter a crab shell and fill with the above mixture to a height of 2½" to 3", shaped up like a "falsie."

Sprinkle a little melted butter and two tablespoons of sherry, bake in a hot oven from 20 to 25 minutes, browning well. Voila!

Even the crabs of Chesapeake Bay are proud of this dish!

• — • — •

Clam Hash

This is terrific. Take about 15 to 20 cherrystone clams and put through a meat grinder, using the coarse holes. Saute this in butter with onions and green peppers which have been cut up fine. Add to this about half a quantity of small cube potatoes and brown all of this together similar to corn beef or roast beef hash and serve piping hot on toast!

Of course, I realize that this debut of mine in journalism is going to be talked about, laughed about, ridiculed about, tossed about and thrown out. However, I bear no grief toward anyone because I am the one that is shedding the tears. This column has cost me my limit of the finest trout in the world from one of the lakes in front of my window at the hotel, from which I can cast.

The sacrifice is worth it.

Please send me my fan mail.

Army Making Great Effort To Speed Mail To War Zone

By IRVING LEVINE

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, (INS)—Sgt. Steven Anderson, a GI in Korea, said today that he would like his wife Jennie to know that "I'm well but I'm blue."

Thirty-year-old Sgt. Anderson, of New Orleans, La., explained that he has not received a letter from his smiling, brown-eyed wife in more than three weeks.

Anderson proudly displays a photo of his wife, and is well aware that the fact that he has not received any letters is not Jennie's fault.

The Army realizes that the morale of GIs like Anderson depends greatly on the regular receipt of mail from home, and is making great efforts to speed its flow.

Capt. George R. Salyer, Eighth Army postal officer in Korea, said today that mail now is reaching the boys in Korea's front lines about seven days after it is dropped in the mail box in the United States.

Since all mail from Korea is sent air-mail, and since demands on air space on aircraft from Korea are vastly less than on inbound planes, letters are making even better time on their way to the United States.

So Sgt. Anderson may expect a letter soon.

Until recently, when the Korean war still was in the "fire-department stage," with American units dashing around to plug holes in the United Nations' defense perimeter, Capt. Salyer's problems were even greater.

During that critical period, mail not uncommonly reached a front-line position at a time when the addressee's unit had been moved only in the last few hours to another position on the defense perimeter.

Capt. Salyer comes from Hampton, Va.

He said that the volume of mail going out from Korea reflects accurately the tempo of battle. When hot fighting rages, mail from the battle sector falls to a trickle. But when the boys have more time, they devote a great deal of it to writing home.

Harper told his nameless reader about his hobbies and enclosed a little gold cross which "has given me good luck and which I hope gives you even better luck." The youth asked the GI to answer.

Salyer said the flow of letters for lonely soldiers appears to be the result of a suggestion by a Philadelphia woman who wrote a note to her local paper about it.

Another idea the Army postal system has in this: Soldiers who do not have time to write can radiogram any three pre-composed phrases from a list of more than 300, to any point in the U. S. for 60 cents.

For instance, by choosing phrases 13, 321, and 102, a GI could send a radio message home saying:

"Many thanks for parcel. Am getting along all right. Can you send me any money?"

The Army post office also handles postal money orders and, according to Salyer's assistant, Lt. R. R. King, Maplewood, N. J., this department is doing a thriving business.

King, who was a postal officer in England during World War II, said: The boys are sending home much more money than before. I guess it is because there is no place to spend it over here.

"In one place the payroll last week amounted to $8,800 and out of this $8,500 was sent home."

City Tax Bills Go Out Today

Cumberland real estate tax bills will be sent to 13,000 individuals and corporations today, George E. Davis, city tax collector, has announced.

The addition of one-half of one per cent per month will be added to all bills not paid by October 16, Davis added.

He explained that interest on the tax bills totals six per cent a year at this one-half per cent rate.

All bills are figured on the tax rate which has been set at $1.27 per $100.

City taxes are expected to net about $816,000, according to the estimate by City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson in setting up the levy for the fiscal year running from July 1, 1950, to June 30, 1951.

Davis recommended that persons appearing at the tax collectors office in the City Hall to pay their taxes bring their bills with them.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

Ghost writers are in great demand these days in Hollywood—but the great men who require their services are exacting taskmasters. One producer, for instance, hired a college professor to write a learned paper for him defending the morals of the community and flaying critics who declared his pictures were a sorry sort of advertisement for the American way in foreign countries. He read a draft of the proposed article with furrowed brow, and then told the professor, "It's all right, but I want you to take out those fancy words. I want to know what I'm talking about."

Another magnate fired a new ghost-writer because, he explained, "He doesn't understand my style of writing as well as the last fellow I had."

Then there was the day the old friend of a famous comedian passed away, and the comedian was asked to say a few words at the funeral. He called up his gag writer and said, "I've got to make a speech at a cemetery tomorrow. Rush me over a page of funeral jokes.

By BENNETT CERF

Ghost writers are in great demand these days in Hollywood—but the great men who require their services are exacting taskmasters. One producer, for instance, hired a college professor to write a learned paper for him defending the morals of the community and flaying critics who declared his pictures were a sorry sort of advertisement for the American way in foreign countries. He read a draft of the proposed article with furrowed brow, and then told the professor, "It's all right, but I want you to take out those fancy words. I want to know what I'm talking about."

Another magnate fired a new ghost-writer because, he explained, "He doesn't understand my style of writing as well as the last fellow I had."

Then there was the day the old friend of a famous comedian passed away, and the comedian was asked to say a few words at the funeral. He called up his gag writer and said, "I've got to make a speech at a cemetery tomorrow. Rush me over a page of funeral jokes.

Mystery Object Tows Two Boats

PORTLAND, Me., (AP) — Crewmen of two Portland fishing draggers today told a strange story of being towed helplessly at sea by an unseen underwater object off Brier Island, N. S.

The sailors said they thought the object might have been a Russian submarine but added that their conclusions were based only on their understanding that no American subs were in the area and that Canada has none.

The 110-foot Cherokee and the 86-foot Evzone docked here to replace $3,000 worth of big nets and other gear lost in their separate adventures 180 miles east of Portland last Wednesday night.

"It was a nightmare and we all were scared to death," said Arthur W. Jordan, Cherokee skipper and unofficial spokesman for the 15 men aboard the two ships.

Jordan said he and his brother, Thomas, skipper of the Evzone, are convinced their nets and heavy cables hooked onto a submarine. They said the Coast Guard told them no American subs were in that area last Wednesday.

Both vessels had their sterns dragged beneath the water by a terrific haul just before their cables snapped and they were freed. The Evzon was towed an hour and the Cherokee about 25 minutes.

The two skippers said they are convinced the object that tugged them was not a whale and added that shiny wear on the cables where they parted is evidence they were waring on a metal surface.

Squirrel Season Will Open With Low Game Supply

With the 15-day squirrel season opening at sunrise Friday, Regional Game Warden Joseph A. Minke said the supply of the game is only about 50 per cent of normal, due to a too-early season in past years which has resulted in killing of mother squirrels before they have a chance to raise their young.

Squirrels usually have two litters each year, one in the spring and the second late in August or early September.

Limit of Six Daily

The bag limit of squirrels is six daily, Minke said. Hunting is legal only between sunrise and sunset, he added.

The same situation applies in Garrett County where the number of animals are also about half of normal.

Another factor which has cut down the number of squirrels is the shortage of acorns and hickory nuts in the past few years.

Minke reported that the upland game season, which follows the squirrel season, will be better than ever this year. The open winter and stocking program of the State Inland Game and Fish Commission has resulted in larger numbers of rabbits, grouse, quail and wild turkeys, Minke pointed out.

There has been a big increase in the number of rabbits and the open winter this year aided propagation of the game.

Turkeys On Increase

Wild turkeys are also on the increase, but Minke warned hunters who will be in the woods during squirrel season not to shoot at any turkeys they come upon. In recent years many turkeys have been killed or crippled by hunters during the squirrel season, Minke said.

Grouse have also increased in recent years and the return of quail in larger numbers was explained by Minke.

During the very severe winter of 1936 the quail in Allegany County were almost wiped out, Minke said. Snow from the latter part of November to late in the spring covered the ground and the quail, which cannot stand too much cold, died from the effects of the weather and lack of food.

Quail are not usually found in any numbers in Garrett County due to the cold weather in that mountainous area.

Minke said that the less severe winter weather of the past few years the quail have increased so that once again they are among the game available for hunters.

Fast cooling is essential to egg quality.

Boys Club Discussed

A boys club organization at Cresaptown will be furthered at a meeting in the Cresaptown Fire Hall, Sunday at 2 p. m.

At the session last Sunday, Morgan C. Harris, state's attorney, who has been president of the Cumberland Police Boys Club for several years, spoke on the benefits derived by the members of a boys clubs and commented that it is one method of teaching youngsters good citizenship.

A suggested recreation program for the club was outlined by Officer John Henry Stitcher, of the Cumberland Police Force, who has participated in Police Club work for many years.

The Army and Air Force Recruiting Service from Cumberland showed several films.

You've seen it hundreds of times before—but it's so attractive, there in the sunlight, that you stop instinctively for a second look.

During the very severe winter of 1936 the quail in Allegany County were almost wiped out, Minke said. Snow from the latter part of November to late in the spring covered the ground and the quail, which cannot stand too much cold, died from the effects of the weather and lack of food.

Quail are not usually found in any numbers in Garrett County due to the cold weather in that mountainous area.

Minke said that the less severe winter weather of the past few years the quail have increased so that once again they are among the game available for hunters.

Fast cooling is essential to egg quality.

It Adds So Much to the Joy of Living!

You walk out of the house, and there it stands—waiting for you in the driveway.

You've seen it hundreds of times before—but it's so attractive, there in the sunlight, that you stop instinctively for a second look.

The sun lights up the gleaming chrome and frames the whole gorgeous picture. The soft finish shimmers in the shadows. A pattern of hand-tailored fabric shows through the open window. And there's the beautiful steering wheel—inviting you in.

Yes, it's a lovely day! And the next thing you know, you're out in traffic—and the powerful, soft-throated engine is gliding you along as if by automatic propulsion.

You ride so softly and quietly and easily that judging time and distance is the hardest work you do!

The lights turn red and the lights turn green—the hills and valleys flow under the wheels . . . and every stretch of highway ahead is a study in enchantment.

Though you take to the highway ten times a day, each trip is a thrill all over again. You thrill to its beauty, the way it rides, the way it behaves, the way it handles—and, being human, you like the admiring glances which other motorists toss your way.

Happiness, as everyone knows, is a state of mind—but it is aided and abetted by your satisfaction with the things about you.

And this we can promise for Cadillac: It will add to your satisfaction every mile you drive. Many say it enriches their lives to an unbelievable degree.

Given Up For Dead In Korean War, Ex-Salisbury Cop Now Recovering

SALISBURY, Md.—(AP)—Lt. Joseph Pope, once a Salisbury city policeman, was given up for dead after he was wounded by a shell on the Korean front, but he's back in the United States now and is recovering.

He was flown to Walter Reed Hospital at Washington and has talked on the telephone with his family—his mother, his wife, and two children, Joe, Jr., 8 and Patricia, 5.

Pope is 30 and the veteran now of two years. He formerly managed a taxicab company and drove a Red Star bus here.

He was wounded on an embattled hillside at Chinju. His infantry company had been pinned down and badly riddled by Red gunners high on the hill.

"I wish we had some tanks," Pope told his regimental commander.

Brig. Gen. John E. Church, commander of the 24th Division and formerly a National Guard instructor at Frederick, Md., overheard it and ordered up three tanks.

Pope mounted one of the tanks and directed the assault that knocked out the Communist guns. He had been a tank sergeant in Patton's Third Army in World War II.

The tanks finished their mission and the men had crawled out when an enemy shell hit the one Pope had been riding. He was the only one hurt—a terrible head wound with one eyeball blown out.

He was given up for dead at an aid station but the medics heard him groan and went to work on him again. He was moved to a hospital at Pusan and was unconscious for 23 hours.

The story of how he was wounded was gathered by his wife, who then was in Japan with the children. The family had gone to Tokyo after he was assigned there early this year. They were flown back to the United States when he was wounded and arrived here soon after he was returned to Walter Reed.

The wound has dulled his vision but he is not expected to lose his sight. He will be in the hospital at least two more months. It is probable that he will have more surgery.

Blackwell Loses One-Hit Contest

Throws Game Away To Brooklyn, 3-1

BROOKLYN, Sept. 12 (AP)—Ewell Blackwell of the Cincinnati Reds held the Dodgers to one hit today—a single by Gene Hermanski—but threw his own game away in a wild eighth inning in which the home team scored twice without hitting the ball out of the infield to win 3-1.

The victory ended a three-game losing streak for the second-place Brooks and likewise snapped Cincinnati's winning skein at five.

Blackwell opened the fateful eighth by hitting Catcher Bruce Edwards in the back with a pitched ball, and before it ended he had thrown wildly past first base, walked the Dodger pitcher, Carl Erskine, and uncorked a wild pitch. Box:

Detroit Tigers Edge Nats, 3-2

Bearden Walks Seven, Suffers Eighth Loss

DETROIT, Sept. 12 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers made their five hits pay off in a big way today as they eked out a 3-2 decision over the stubborn Washington Senators to climb into a temporary first place tie in the American League race.

The Senators made it a fight as they picked away at the three-run lead the Tigers built up in the early innings.

Senator starting pitcher Gene Bearden was stingy with base hits but seven walks proved costly. He was charged with his eighth loss. Box:

League Being Sued • • • Grid Rules Changes

Marks To Shoot At • • • Bunny Heads Pilots

By C. V. BURNS

Clem Clower of Petersburg, W. Va., secretary of the Alleghany Baseball League, reports that Earlie Godwin, head of the Elkins team that failed to finish its schedule, is suing the league president and the league for his franchise fee, plus $5 that he posted on a forfeit he presented and lost, plus $40 for four home games he was to have had in Elkins when he jumped the circuit.

"It all totals about $225, which is a lot of money," Clower says. "In fact, doggone near as much as we have in the treasury.

"Godwin says that he will withdraw the suit if the league will permit him to enter the league next season. This is a swell situation. A fellow gets his temperature boiling and quits the league, causing a mess of the schedule and now he wants back in next year on the same franchise fee that he had when he took his Russian walk.

Clem says he expects to be involved in a session of court sometime in November. The league happens to have two lawyers within the working organization.

If the case goes to court it probably will be the first of its kind in the tri-state area.

Stories have appeared in Pittsburgh and Washington papers in recent days relating to superior court suits totaling $12,000 filed by three Cumberland (Md.) horse owners against the Scarborough Downs Racing Association at Scarborough, Me.

The owners are Albert F. Fritche who asks $3,000, Willie J. Johnson $5,000 and Raymond E. Vogelman $4,000. They contend their thoroughbreds lost valuable conditioning time by being deprived of stable space in June at the Maine track.

Vogelman, Johnson and Fritche are not Cumberland horsemen. They reside near Baltimore and they raced their thoroughbreds at Fairgo in June. Scarborough Downs' meeting opened on July 1.

With the local scholastic football season now under way, the fans will note that there are several changes in the 1950 rules, the most radical one being that concerning fumbles.

Heretofore, the ball was dead when the defense recovered a fumble.

Now the ball may be advanced, regardless of whether the fumble is recovered in flight or after it has touched the ground.

The reason for this change is that other game conditions have changed to remove the original reasons for declaring the ball dead after a fumble has touched the ground and is recovered by the defense. The alleged safety factors in the former dead ball provisions do not exist.

Restoration of this rule which was removed from the books some years ago should add another thrill to the schoolboy sport.

Please bear in mind, however, that this rule differs in collegiate football in which only the offense may advance a recovered fumble or backward pass.

• — • — •

Another scholastic rules change provides that the referee may stop the clock to have a player examined if he appears to be in distress. If he does this, time-out is charged to the team.

The penalty for pass interference includes a provision whereby an additional 15 yards may be added to the first 15-yard penalty if pass interference is also unsportsmanlike.

This takes care of the claim that a player might deliberately commit pass interference in certain situations where a receiver is near a goal line.

In actual practice, the intentional committing of forward pass interference is a poor gamble. The assessing of the additional penalty is rare because the penalty is severe enough without it. Even without interference, only a small percentage of such passes are completed.

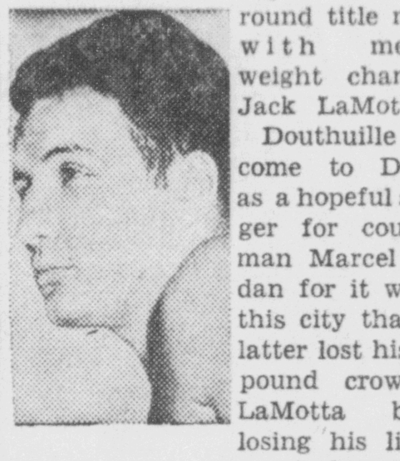
Jake Defends Crown In 15-Round Contest

DETROIT, Sept. 12 (INS)—The prophecy of an idol who now lies in a grave will be the driving force behind Frenchman Laurent Dauthuille tomorrow night in his 15-round title match with meddleweight champion Jack LaMotta.



Douthuille has come to Detroit as a hopeful avenger for countryman Marcel Cerdan for it was in this city that the latter lost his 160-pound crown to LaMotta before losing his life in an airplane crash.

Cerdan had told a Paris newsparer before making the ill-fater journey to the United States that his friend Dauthuille would some day be his successor.

This cherished memory will go into the ring with the 26-year-old challenger along with the remembrance that he beat LaMotta in a 10-round non-title bout in Montreal on Feb. 21, 1949.

Like the gracious Cerdan, Dauthuille refuses to openly predict victory. He says:

"LaMotta is a pretty good fighter. A very hard man. He is courageous and has a big heart. I don't know whether I am going to win but I will do my best."

Most observers believe that the tousle-haired Frenchman's best will not be good enough against the rock 'em-sock 'em LaMotta. Jake has never been knocked off his feet in 94 fights and has lost only 14 of these.

Jake has been especially successful in Detroit. He has won all but one of 17 matches in the Motor City. Ray Robinson broke the victory charm but the city's fans booed the decision and cheered LaMotta.

Michigan Boxing Commissioner Floyd Stevens predicts that 17,000 spectators will set a new Detroit record of gate receipts by paying $130,000 to witness the fight.

Ring time for the international 15 round battle that not be carried on radio or television, is 10:00 p. m. (EST). They will weigh in at 10:00 a. m. (EST). Jake gets 45 per cent, Dauthuille 15 per cent.

Blackwell Loses One-Hit Contest

Throws Game Away To Brooklyn, 3-1

BROOKLYN, Sept. 12 (AP)—Ewell Blackwell of the Cincinnati Reds held the Dodgers to one hit today—a single by Gene Hermanski—but threw his own game away in a wild eighth inning in which the home team scored twice without hitting the ball out of the infield to win 3-1.

The victory ended a three-game losing streak for the second-place Brooks and likewise snapped Cincinnati's winning skein at five.

Blackwell opened the fateful eighth by hitting Catcher Bruce Edwards in the back with a pitched ball, and before it ended he had thrown wildly past first base, walked the Dodger pitcher, Carl Erskine, and uncorked a wild pitch. Box:

League Being Sued • • • Grid Rules Changes

By C. V. BURNS

Clem Clower of Petersburg, W. Va., secretary of the Alleghany Baseball League, reports that Earlie Godwin, head of the Elkins team that failed to finish its schedule, is suing the league president and the league for his franchise fee, plus $5 that he posted on a forfeit he presented and lost, plus $40 for four home games he was to have had in Elkins when he jumped the circuit.

"It all totals about $225, which is a lot of money," Clower says. "In fact, doggone near as much as we have in the treasury.

"Godwin says that he will withdraw the suit if the league will permit him to enter the league next season. This is a swell situation. A fellow gets his temperature boiling and quits the league, causing a mess of the schedule and now he wants back in next year on the same franchise fee that he had when he took his Russian walk.

Clem says he expects to be involved in a session of court sometime in November. The league happens to have two lawyers within the working organization.

If the case goes to court it probably will be the first of its kind in the tri-state area.

Stories have appeared in Pittsburgh and Washington papers in recent days relating to superior court suits totaling $12,000 filed by three Cumberland (Md.) horse owners against the Scarborough Downs Racing Association at Scarborough, Me.

The owners are Albert F. Fritche who asks $3,000, Willie J. Johnson $5,000 and Raymond E. Vogelman $4,000. They contend their thoroughbreds lost valuable conditioning time by being deprived of stable space in June at the Maine track.

Vogelman, Johnson and Fritche are not Cumberland horsemen. They reside near Baltimore and they raced their thoroughbreds at Fairgo in June. Scarborough Downs' meeting opened on July 1.

With the local scholastic football season now under way, the fans will note that there are several changes in the 1950 rules, the most radical one being that concerning fumbles.

Heretofore, the ball was dead when the defense recovered a fumble.

Now the ball may be advanced, regardless of whether the fumble is recovered in flight or after it has touched the ground.

The reason for this change is that other game conditions have changed to remove the original reasons for declaring the ball dead after a fumble has touched the ground and is recovered by the defense. The alleged safety factors in the former dead ball provisions do not exist.

Restoration of this rule which was removed from the books some years ago should add another thrill to the schoolboy sport.

Please bear in mind, however, that this rule differs in collegiate football in which only the offense may advance a recovered fumble or backward pass.

•—•—•

Another scholastic rules change provides that the referee may stop the clock to have a player examined if he appears to be in distress. If he does this, time-out is charged to the team.

•—•—•

The penalty for pass interference includes a provision whereby an additional 15 yards may be added to the first 15-yard penalty if pass interference is also unsportsmanlike.

This takes care of the claim that a player might deliberately commit pass interference in certain situations where a receiver is near a goal line.

In actual practice, the intentional committing of forward pass interference is a poor gamble. The assessing of the additional penalty is rare because the penalty is severe enough without it. Even without interference, only a small percentage of such passes are completed.

Greatest number of points after touchdown scored in one season: Donald Decker, Fort Hill, 39 in 1949.

Perfect record for single season: Allegany (9-0) in 1941; Allegany (9-0) in 1942.

Jake Defends Crown In 15-Round Contest

DETROIT, Sept. 12 (INS)—The prophecy of an idol who now lies in a grave will be the driving force behind Frenchman Laurent Dauthuille tomorrow night in his 15-round title match with meddleweight champion Jack LaMotta.

Douthuille has come to Detroit as a hopeful avenger for countryman Marcel Cerdan for it was in this city that the latter lost his 160-pound crown to LaMotta before losing his life in an airplane crash.

Cerdan had told a Paris newsparer before making the ill-fater journey to the United States that his friend Dauthuille would some day be his successor.

This cherished memory will go into the ring with the 26-year-old challenger along with the remembrance that he beat LaMotta in a 10-round non-title bout in Montreal on Feb. 21, 1949.

Like the gracious Cerdan, Dauthuille refuses to openly predict victory. He says:

"LaMotta is a pretty good fighter. A very hard man. He is courageous and has a big heart. I don't know whether I am going to win but I will do my best."

Most observers believe that the tousle-haired Frenchman's best will not be good enough against the rock 'em-sock 'em LaMotta. Jake has never been knocked off his feet in 94 fights and has lost only 14 of these.

Jake has been especially successful in Detroit. He has won all but one of 17 matches in the Motor City. Ray Robinson broke the victory charm but the city's fans booed the decision and cheered LaMotta.

Michigan Boxing Commissioner Floyd Stevens predicts that 17,000 spectators will set a new Detroit record of gate receipts by paying $130,000 to witness the fight.

Ring time for the international 15 round battle that not be carried on radio or television, is 10:00 p. m. (EST). They will weigh in at 10:00 a. m. (EST). Jake gets 45 per cent, Dauthuille 15 per cent.

Selector Wins In Feature At Atlantic City

Toreador Cops 1st And Returns $108

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 12 (AP)—Selector running in the colors of the late William G. Helis accounted for the featured Policemen's Benevolent Association Purse at Atlantic City today.

The brown colt, a good stake winner last year, had been idle for two months but proved half a length better than Bluestone Farm's Val's Kid in the six furlongs dash.

A good offday crowd of 12,672 witnessed the program and made Selector a lukewarm choice. The son of Thumbs Up paid $8.00, $5.40 and $3.40. Val's Kid paid $4.40, $3.00 and Rocky Heights, $3.20.

Logan Batcheller, who had previously won the second race aboard Hankie, sent Selector to the front shortly after the break and after shaking off The Peer in the first quarter-mile held Val's Kid safe through the homelane. Jockey Bobby Martin, rider of the last named, lodged a futile claim of foul against the winner. The time over a muddy track was 1:12.

There was a husky payoff in the fifth race when Mrs. William E. Snell's Toreador won his first race of the year to pay $108.60, $37 and and $15 across the board.

George I, German-born king of England from 1714 to 1727, could neither speak nor write the English language.

Women Boxers Banned By NBA

DETROIT, Sept. 12 (AP)—Ever hear of women boxing? Well they did in West Virginia and want no more.

At the request of the West Virginia Athletic Commission, the National Boxing Association today recommended a ban on women boxing.

Patrick J. Beacom of the West Virginia Board framed the resolution which was passed.

One of the points raised by Beacom was that "such bouts engaged in may cause such physical harm to the women boxers as to do great injury to the already sick boxing game."

Windflower Returns $2.50 At Aqueduct

AQUEDUCT, N. Y., Sept. 12 (AP)—Belair Stud's Vulcania and Brandywine Stable's Windflower divided the laurels in the two divisions of the Naiad, an allowance dash of six furlongs for 2-year-old fillies before 23,239 fans here today.

Windflower, getting a step at the gate, opened up four lengths in the run down the backstretch, but was only three quarters of a length to the good of Greentree Stable's fast-clasing Toto at the wire in a race run in 1:13 3-5. Woolford Farm's Bedazzle was third.

Ovie Scurlock rode the daughter of Snark-New Flower, who was scoring her second victory in nine starts. Overlooked in the wagering, Windflower returned mutuels of $26.50, $9.30 and $5.10. Toto paid $4.70 and $3.20 and Bedazzle was $3.60 to show.

Vulcania was timed in 1:12 2-5 in scoring by two lengths over Jan Burke's Who Dini, who was up in the final stride to nose Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark's Valadium, the favorite.

The daughter of Some Chance-Vagrancy, piloted by Bobby Bernhardt, was fourth choice in the wagering, returning mutuels of $13.40, $5.50 and $3.00. Who Dini was $4.40 to place and $2.60 to show and Valadium paid $2.50 to show.

Colts Release Eleven Players

Must Cut Three More To Meet Limit Of 32

BALTIMORE, Sept. 12 (AP)—The Baltimore Colts cut loose 11 players today, among them some old timers in the play for pay football business.

Coach Clem Crowe must release three others in order to meet the National Football League's 32-player limit when the season opens Saturday.

One of those cut free today was Lamar (Racehorse) Davis, an end who was the last holdover from the Miami Seahawks — the straggling outfit which Baltimore took over when it organized an All-American Conference club in 1947.

Fullbacks Dick Poillon and Jack Jenkins, formerly with the Washington Redskins, got the axe. So did Fullback Spiro Dellerba, end Bill Leonard, Guard Al Sidorik, and Tackle Jim Spruill, all veterans of previous Colt campaigns.

The others on which Crowe asked waivers were ends Zeke O'Conor and J. B. Ison, Center Chip Armstrong, and Halfback Bob Kelly.

Selector Wins In Feature At Atlantic City

Toreador Cops 1st And Returns $108

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 12 (AP)—Selector running in the colors of the late William G. Helis accounted for the featured Policemen's Benevolent Association Purse at Atlantic City today.

The brown colt, a good stake winner last year, had been idle for two months but proved half a length better than Bluestone Farm's Val's Kid in the six furlongs dash. Brookmeade Stable's Rocky Heights was three lengths away in third position. Roy R. McClarin's Abbottstown lost the show award in a head photo decision.

A good offday crowd of 12,672 witnessed the program and made Selector a lukewarm choice. The son of Thumbs Up paid $8.00, $5.40 and $3.40. Val's Kid paid $4.40, $3.00 and Rocky Heights, $3.20.

Logan Batcheller, who had previously won the second race aboard Hankie, sent Selector to the front shortly after the break and after shaking off The Peer in the first quarter-mile held Val's Kid safe through the homelane. Jockey Bobby Martin, rider of the last named, lodged a futile claim of foul against the winner. The time over a muddy track was 1:12.

There was a husky payoff in the fifth race when Mrs. William E. Snell's Toreador won his first race of the year to pay $108.60, $37 and and $15 across the board.

George I, German-born king of England from 1714 to 1727, could neither speak nor write the English language.

Women Boxers Banned By NBA

DETROIT, Sept. 12 (AP)—Ever hear of women boxing? Well they did in West Virginia and want no more.

At the request of the West Virginia Athletic Commission, the National Boxing Association today recommended a ban on women boxing.

Patrick J. Beacom of the West Virginia Board framed the resolution which was passed.

One of the points raised by Beacom was that "such bouts engaged in may cause such physical harm to the women boxers as to do great injury to the already sick boxing game."

Windflower Returns $2.50 At Aqueduct

AQUEDUCT, N. Y., Sept. 12 (AP)—Belair Stud's Vulcania and Brandywine Stable's Windflower divided the laurels in the two divisions of the Naiad, an allowance dash of six furlongs for 2-year-old fillies before 23,239 fans here today.

Windflower, getting a step at the gate, opened up four lengths in the run down the backstretch, but was only three quarters of a length to the good of Greentree Stable's fast-closing Toto at the wire in a race run in 1:13 3-5. Woolford Farm's Bedazzle was third.

Ovie Scurlock rode the daughter of Snark-New Flower, who was scoring her second victory in nine starts. Overlooked in the wagering, Windflower returned mutuels of $26.50, $9.30 and $5.10. Toto paid $4.70 and $3.20 and Bedazzle was $3.60 to show.

Vulcania was timed in 1:12 2-5 in scoring by two lengths over Jan Burke's Who Dini, who was up in the final stride to nose Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark's Valadium, the favorite.

The daughter of Some Chance-Vagrancy, piloted by Bobby Bernhardt, was fourth choice in the wagering, returning mutuels of $13.40, $5.50 and $3.00. Who Dini was $4.40 to place and $2.60 to show and Valadium paid $2.50 to show.

It was the second victory in five starts for Vulcania.

MIRROR OF YOUR MIND

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

Should you tell a girl men "don't appreciate her"?

Answer: No. Not even if you think it is so. For while no girl can hope to have everyone like or admire her, it is each girl's job to "get herself across" to her contemporaries, not to sit back and condemn them for not noticing her virtues and talents. A girl, no less than a boy, should realize that the world can get on very well without her, and that its acceptance is something she must win by her own efforts, not demand because she feels she deserves it. Girls who don't learn this are the ones who become embittered spinsters.

Can you make your wife into a good cook?

Answer: Maybe she already is one. But if not, you'll get nowhere by nagging and complaining, still less by holding some other woman—your mother, for instance—up to her as an example. If she looks on cooking as a disagreeable duty, it's largely because she feels it brings her no prestige or credit. Let her know that you regard it as an art, and give her critical approval when she is especially successful at it, and the chances are she'll end by taking pride in it and by wanting to make herself an expert.

Is your idea of the future self-revealing?

Answer: Yes, say Veterans Administration psychologists John S. Kafka and Hedda Bolgar. One of the newer "projection techniques" is to ask someone to write his autobiography, not as of now, but as he thinks he might write it toward the end of his life. The result is judged on the basis of how realistic and consistent it is as well as on its specific contents. The idea fascinates most people, but to put it into execution has proved to require both intelligence and freedom from unsolved emotional conflicts.

Cook To Seek Re-election To Maryland Legislature

Noel Speir Cook, local attorney, announced last night that he will seek re-election to the House of Delegates on the Republican ticket.

Cook was born at Frostburg and is descended from the Speir family, among the early Scotch settlers of Lonaconing and long prominent in business in this county. He was graduated from Beall High School and Frostburg State Teachers College.

He taught school for a short time and then entered the University of Maryland Law School, from which he was graduated in 1930, having attended night classes while working in the daytime at the Fidelity and Deposit Company as assistant to Theodore R. McKeldin, former Mayor of Baltimore and present Republican nominee for Governor.

While at the University he distinguished himself by winning the Honor Case, the most coveted prize the law school offers. He passed the bar examinations a few months after his graduation and became associated with the Baltimore law firm of Keech, Deming, Carman and Tucker, where he remained until 1934. At that time he returned to Frostburg to resume his practice in this county. He was city attorney for the town of Lonaconing for a number of years and at the present time has law offices in both Frostburg and Cumberland.

Cook was elected to the House of Delegates in 1946 and is a member of the Judiciary Committee.

NOEL SPEIR COOK

He is a member of the Young Men's Republican Club of Frostburg and was the first Frostburg member of Cumberland Chapter Order of DeMolay. He is a 32nd degree Mason and is also a member of the Elks, Eagles, Tall Cedars, Ali Ghan Shrine, Allegany-Garrett County Sportsmen's Association, and the Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity.

In 1935 Cook was married to Anne Ruddle, of Franklin, W. Va., who was a staff nurse at Memorial Hospital. They reside in Frostburg, where they are members of St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

—Pol. Adv. by authority candidate.

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

Should you tell a girl men "don't appreciate her"?

Answer: No. Not even if you think it is so. For while no girl can hope to have everyone like or admire her, it is each girl's job to "get herself across" to her contemporaries, not to sit back and condemn them for not noticing her virtues and talents. A girl, no less than a boy, should realize that the world can get on very well without her, and that its acceptance is something she must win by her own efforts, not demand because she feels she deserves it. Girls who don't learn this are the ones who become embittered spinsters.

Can you make your wife into a good cook?

Answer: Maybe she already is one. But if not, you'll get nowhere by nagging and complaining, still less by holding some other woman—your mother, for instance—up to her as an example. If she looks on cooking as a disagreeable duty, it's largely because she feels it brings her no prestige or credit. Let her know that you regard it as an art, and give her critical approval when she is especially successful at it, and the chances are she'll end by taking pride in it and by wanting to make herself an expert.

Is your idea of the future self-revealing?

Answer: Yes, say Veterans Administration psychologists John S. Kafka and Hedda Bolgar. One of the newer "projection techniques" is to ask someone to write his autobiography, not as of now, but as he thinks he might write it toward the end of his life. The result is judged on the basis of how realistic and consistent it is as well as on its specific contents. The idea fascinates most people, but to put it into execution has proved to require both intelligence and freedom from unsolved emotional conflicts.

Cook To Seek Re-election To Maryland Legislature

Noel Speir Cook, local attorney, announced last night that he will seek re-election to the House of Delegates on the Republican ticket.

NOEL SPEIR COOK

Cook was born at Frostburg and is descended from the Speir family, among the early Scotch settlers of Lonaconing and long prominent in business in this county. He was graduated from Beall High School and Frostburg State Teachers College.

He taught school for a short time and then entered the University of Maryland Law School, from which he was graduated in 1930, having attended night classes while working in the daytime at the Fidelity and Deposit Company as assistant to Theodore R. McKeldin, former Mayor of Baltimore and present Republican nominee for Governor.

While at the University he distinguished himself by winning the Honor Case, the most coveted prize the law school offers. He passed the bar examinations a few months after his graduation and became associated with the Baltimore law firm of Keech, Deming, Carman and Tucker, where he remained until 1934. At that time he returned to Frostburg to resume his practice in this county. He was city attorney for the town of Lonaconing for a number of years and at the present time has law offices in both Frostburg and Cumberland.

Cook was elected to the House of Delegates in 1946 and is a member of the Judiciary Committee.

He is a member of the Young Men's Republican Club of Frostburg and was the first Frostburg member of Cumberland Chapter Order of DeMolay. He is a 32nd degree Mason and is also a member of the Elks, Eagles, Tall Cedars, Ali Ghan Shrine, Allegany-Garrett County Sportsmen's Association, and the Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity.

In 1935 Cook was married to Anne Ruddle, of Franklin, W. Va., who was a staff nurse at Memorial Hospital. They reside in Frostburg, where they are members of St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

that the Tydings Senate subcommittee investigating communism didn't do the job it was instructed to do.

Monaghan seeks the Democratic nomination to the Senate seat now occupied by Senator Millard E. Tydings. Tydings is up for re-election to a fifth term.

Tydings headed a Senate subcommittee which investigated allegations of communists employed by the State Department. It spent much of its time investigating charges preferred by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

Monaghan quoted the Senate resolution setting up the subcommittee as calling for a complete study of whether persons disloyal to the United States "are or have been employed by the Department of State."

He then cited a number of cases in which former State Department employes were charged with disloyalty, adding:

"Any proper investigation x x x should have included an investigation of the facts in these cases — not an investigation of a Republican senator."

The subcommittee report was critical of Sen. McCarthy.

that the Tydings Senate subcommittee investigating communism didn't do the job it was instructed to do.

Monaghan seeks the Democratic nomination to the Senate seat now occupied by Senator Millard E. Tydings. Tydings is up for re-election to a fifth term.

Tydings headed a Senate subcommittee which investigated allegations of communists employed by the State Department. It spent much of its time investigating charges preferred by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

Monaghan quoted the Senate resolution setting up the subcommittee as calling for a complete study of whether persons disloyal to the United States "are or have been employed by the Department of State."

He then cited a number of cases in which former State Department employes were charged with disloyalty, adding:

"Any proper investigation x x x should have included an investigation of the facts in these cases — not an investigation of a Republican senator."

The subcommittee report was critical of Sen. McCarthy.

Dinah Shore

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 12 (INS)—Dinah Shore need shed no tears over losing out to Ava Gardner in "Show Boat." She, Dinah, of the gorgeous voice, gets a contract for the top singing role in "Stars and Stripes Forever" for Jerry Wald and Norman Krasna.

I walked in on these two busy, busy young producers, Jerry and Norman, at RKO, and found them in shirt sleeves in a conference. I'm afraid I broke up the confab, but I did want to check the story about Dinah, and they tell me it's true.

The deal for Toscanini to conduct the spirited John Philip Sousa tune, "Stars and Stripes Forever," is almost set.

Wonderful that the estate of the late "March King" is turning over the proceeds to the Damon Runyon Fund.

Right on the heels of his separation from Liz (Mrs. D), Dan Dailey was handed the script of "I Can Get It for You Wholesale." This is a far cry from "My Blue Heaven" and the other musicals he has done with Betty Grable, but Dan is as good in his serious moments as he is in high comedy.

Too, he'll get Susan Hayward, the redhaired beauty, as his co-star.

He leaves for New York tomorrow to film some scenes, and when he comes back it's my guess he and Liz will make their separation legal. This I hate to print, but I don't believe they will get together for a reconciliation.

•—•—•

Bette Davis, still honeymooning with Gary Merrill, would like very much to form an independent company and star her husband—so I hear. Well, I can't blame Bette.

"I've seen a few shots of "All About Eve" and Darryl Zanuck has got a new star. He's another Gable.

As for Bette—she's back on both feet brighter than ever.

Chit-chan: I am wondering, just wondering mind you, if all this publicity about 16-year-old Mimi Medart and King Farouk is not a bid for a movie contract for the S. Louis teen-ager?

•—•—•

While the "Lights Out" company was working in Philadelphia, Mark Robson prevailed upon Benedict Gimbel, Jr., who likes the movies, to play an extra. Benedict, happy as a lark, worked hard for four days.

Now, I've got news for Ben. When Robson started cutting "Lights Out" he had to cut all the scenes in which young Gimbel appeared.

Too bad, Ben, because Mark says you were really good.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Virginia Warren, attractive daughter of our Gov. Earl Warren, and Ed Pauley Jr., son of California's former Democratic chief, a Seacomber duo. Two nice young people to whom politics are unimportant.

Whether it's friendship or love I wouldn't or couldn't say, but blonde Virginia Field is seen everywhere with Willard Parker, Columbia actor.

My goddaughter, Barbara Bebe Lyon, telephoned me from London to say that she is being married in St. Monica's Catholic Church in Santa Monica, where she was baptized. I asked permission to give her and her fiance, George Getty, their wedding reception. I would like to do it if Bebe and Ben are willing.

You'd be surprised to know who's the attraction that takes Barbara Payton to Las Vegas practically every weekend.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

WHAT BECOMES OF THE FLAME?

An inexpensive little Want Ad was the spark that blazed the way to the founding of the Sears, Roebuck & Co. business.

The partners of this great mail order business were brought together by a 55c Help Wanted ad in the Chicago DAILY NEWS.

In 1886 Richard W. Sears, who was station agent for the Minneapolis & St. Paul Railway in North Redwood, discovered that he could make money by selling watches by mail. He moved to Chicago. He needed a watch maker and adjuster, so he inserted the following ad in the DAILY NEWS.

"Watchmaker wanted with references who can furnish tools. State age, experience, and salary required. T39 Daily News."

The ad was answered by A. C. Roebuck. This was the beginning of a business which last year spent over 25 million dollars on newspaper advertising alone, and did a volume of business amounting to over 2 billion dollars.

The advertising medium which brought Sears and Roebuck together has never been forgotten.

Puppy Love

FOR the benefit of the hordes who love dogs and the handfuls who love humans, I reproduce a letter which I received recently from a man who lives in a small town in New Jersey:

Dear Billy.

Billy Rose

On Wednesday, August 30, the following item appeared in a New York newspaper:

"Sympathetic neighbors began a door-to-door search in a 25-block area of Yorkville yesterday in a last desperate attempt to save 8-year-old Joseph Young from the perilous necessity of anti-rabies shots. That Friday morning the boy was bitten on the left leg by a small black-and-white fox terrier, and unless the dog is located and found to be free from rabies, Joseph will have to submit to a series of 14 injections. He suffers from a rheumatic heart condition, and the family doctor has warned that the reaction from the shots might be fatal."

Since this item appeared, several similar cases have been reported in the local press, and for the benefit of dog owners who are reluctant to turn over their pets to the authorities under such circumstances, I'd like to pass along the following true story.

A couple of years ago a city family named Myers bought a house in our neck of the woods opposite the Widow McMinn's farm. The Myers had a 9-year-old son named Billy, and Billy had a Scotch terrier named Whiskey—and three weeks after the family moved in the widow hailed them into court on the charge of harboring a vicious animal.

It seems that Whiskey, unused to life in the country, had reduced one of the lady's white Leghorns to a disorderly pile of feathers, and under our local statutes a "killer" dog must be sent to the pound and asphyxiated.

Judge Allan Gedney, however, found two mitigating circumstances (a) the chicken had committed the initial misdemeanor by tresspassing on the Myers' property, and (b) this was Whiskey's first offense, and a city-trained dog could hardly be expected to know all the rural laws.

"Sentence suspended," the judge pronounced Billy, "but from now on the dog is to be muzzled and kept on a leash. And there will be no clemency in case of a second offense."

A week later, Billy was walking Whiskey through town—leashed but unmuzzled—when he bumped into Mrs. McMinn coming out of the supermarket, her arms full of bundles. Scared stiff that she would notice the uncaged nose of his pet, the kid turned and raced down the street—and ran smack-dab into even worse trouble.

The trouble was a local boy named Randy, several inches taller than Billy, who decided he didn't like the "fancy-pants" from the city and started to rough him up. That is, he did until Whiskey sized up the situation and nipped the bully neatly in the leg.

Billy took one look at the blood oozing from his adversary's stocking, and another at the Widow McMinn who was still standing in front of the store. Then he grabbed the leash, dashed into the nearest alley and didn't stop running until he was home.

That evening our local paper carried the story about Randy being bitten by an unidentified dog, and at the dinner table Billy's father read it aloud. When he came to the part about the 14 painful injections which Randy would have to take if the dog wasn't located, Billy asked to be excused and went to his room.

Later that evening, knowing full well that it meant the death of his pet, he confessed to his parents that the culprit they were looking for was Whiskey.

Next morning the terrier was found free of rabies, but the parents of Randy filed a complaint against the Myers family. At the trial the same judge presided, and to make matters worse the Widow McMinn stepped forward and asked permission to address the Court.

"Your Honor," she began, "it so happens that I witnessed the whole thing, and although, as the Court knows, I ain't overfond of this p'tickler dog, I want to see justice done. I've always heard tell that self-defense, with or without a weapon, is a good defense in a court of law. Well, seeing as how this small boy was attacked by the bigger boy—and the only weapon he had to defend himself with was his dog—I say that this dog acted not as a dog in this p'tickler case but as a weapon.

"I of course intended to report the matter to the police, but the little fella beat me to it, and seeing as how Your Honor warned him what would happen to his dog in case of a second offense, I think he deserves a whale of credit for bringing the critter forward voluntarily."

The prosecuting parties quickly saw the justice of the widow's plea, as did the court, and the case against Whiskey was dismissed. And the last I heard of him, the terrier seemed to be adjusting himself fine to country life.

In other words, if Billy's case is any criterion, a dog owner who is honorable enough to take responsibility for the actions of his pet stands a good chance of getting fair-minded and sympathetic treatment in court. And I think you'll grant that I'm in a pretty good position to know about such things.

Very truly yours,

ALLAN J. GEDNEY.

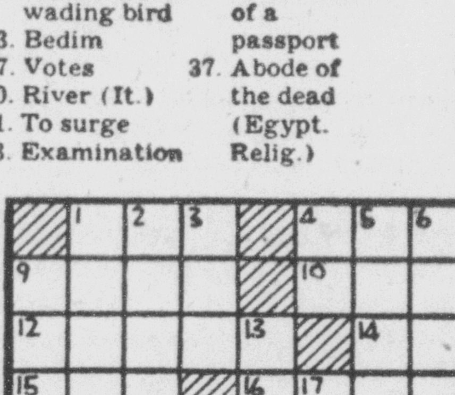
Yesterday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Puppy Love

FOR the benefit of the hordes who love dogs and the handfuls who love humans, I reproduce a letter which I received recently from a man who lives in a small town in New Jersey:

Dear Billy.

Billy Rose

On Wednesday, August 30, the following item appeared in a New York newspaper: "Sympathetic neighbors began a door-to-door search in a 25-block area of Yorkville yesterday in a last desperate attempt to save 8-year-old Joseph Young from the perilous necessity of anti-rabies shots. That Friday morning the boy was bitten on the left leg by a small black-and-white fox terrier, and unless the dog is located and found to be free from rabies, Joseph will have to submit to a series of 14 injections. He suffers from a rheumatic heart condition, and the family doctor has warned that the reaction from the shots might be fatal."

Since this item appeared, several similar cases have been reported in the local press, and for the benefit of dog owners who are reluctant to turn over their pets to the authorities under such circumstances, I'd like to pass along the following true story.

A couple of years ago a city family named Myers bought a house in our neck of the woods opposite the Widow McMinn's farm. The Myers had a 9-year-old son named Billy, and Billy had a Scotch terrier named Whiskey—and three weeks after the family moved in the widow hailed them into court on the charge of harboring a vicious animal.

It seems that Whiskey, unused to life in the country, had reduced one of the lady's white Leghorns to a disorderly pile of feathers, and under our local statutes a "killer" dog must be sent to the pound and asphyxiated.

Judge Allan Gedney, however, found two mitigating circumstances (a) the chicken had committed the initial misdemeanor by trespassing on the Myers' property, and (b) this was Whiskey's first offense, and a city-trained dog could hardly be expected to know all the rural laws.

"Sentence suspended," the judge pronounced Billy, "but from now on the dog is to be muzzled and kept on a leash. And there will be no clemency in case of a second offense."

A week later, Billy was walking Whiskey through town—leashed but unmuzzled—when he bumped into Mrs. McMinn coming out of the supermarket, her arms full of bundles. Scared stiff that she would notice the uncaged nose of his pet, the kid turned and raced down the street—and ran smack-dab into even worse trouble.

The trouble was a local boy named Randy, several inches taller than Billy, who decided he didn't like the "fancy-pants" from the city and started to rough him up. That is, he did until Whiskey sized up the situation and nipped the bully neatly in the leg.

Billy took one look at the blood oozing from his adversary's stocking, and another at the Widow McMinn who was still standing in front of the store. Then he grabbed the leash, dashed into the nearest alley and didn't stop running until he was home.

That evening our local paper carried the story about Randy being bitten by an unidentified dog, and at the dinner table Billy's father read it aloud. When he came to the part about the 14 painful injections which Randy would have to take if the dog wasn't located, Billy asked to be excused and went to his room.

Later that evening, knowing full well that it meant the death of his pet, he confessed to his parents that the culprit they were looking for was Whiskey.

Next morning the terrier was found free of rabies, but the parents of Randy filed a complaint against the Myers family. At the trial the same judge presided, and to make matters worse the Widow McMinn stepped forward and asked permission to address the Court.

"Your Honor," she began, "it so happens that I witnessed the whole thing, and although, as the Court knows, I ain't overfond of this p'tickler dog, I want to see justice done. I've always heard tell that self-defense, with or without a weapon, is a good defense in a court of law. Well, seeing as how this small boy was attacked by the bigger boy—and the only weapon he had to defend himself with was his dog—I say that this dog acted not as a dog in this p'tickler case but as a weapon.

"I of course intended to report the matter to the police, but the little fella beat me to it, and seeing as how Your Honor warned him what would happen to his dog in case of a second offense, I think he deserves a whale of credit for bringing the critter forward voluntarily."

The prosecuting parties quickly saw the justice of the widow's plea, as did the court, and the case against Whiskey was dismissed. And the last I heard of him, the terrier seemed to be adjusting himself fine to country life.

In other words, if Billy's case is any criterion, a dog owner who is honorable enough to take responsibility for the actions of his pet stands a good chance of getting fair-minded and sympathetic treatment in court. And I think you'll grant that I'm in a pretty good position to know about such things.

Very truly yours,

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our husband, father and grandfather, David F. McIntosh, who died three years ago, September 12, 1947.

Your work on earth was well done, Dad,
We who loved you know the best;
God had a mansion for you above
And we know he will give you eternal rest.
You were a wonderful husband and father,
And our hearts are sad and sore,
But beyond the sunset you are waiting
'Till God brings us all together once more.

Sadly missed by his wife,
Mrs. David F. McIntosh,

Cards of Thanks

We wish to thank our friends, relatives and neighbors who were so kind and generous to us following the sudden death of our beloved son and brother, Robert Earl Neubiser. We especially wish to thank Rev. Oberkircher, the choir, pallbearers, flower bearers and the ones who donated cars and sent floral tributes.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Neubiser, Jr., and Sons

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our husband, father and grandfather, David F. McIntosh, who died three years ago, September 12, 1947.

Your work on earth was well done, Dad,
We who loved you know the best;
God had a mansion for you above
And we know he will give you eternal rest.
You were a wonderful husband and father,
And our hearts are sad and sore,
But beyond the sunset you are waiting
'Till God brings us all together once more.

Sadly missed by his wife,
Mrs. David F. McIntosh,

Cards of Thanks

We wish to thank our friends, relatives and neighbors who were so kind and generous to us following the sudden death of our beloved son and brother, Robert Earl Neubiser. We especially wish to thank Rev. Oberkircher, the choir, pallbearers, flower bearers and the ones who donated cars and sent floral tributes.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Neubiser, Jr., and Sons

Norma Lane Billard vs. Paul Eugene Billard, No. 21,849 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to procure a divorce a vinculo matrimonii by the complainant, Norma Lane Billard, from the respondent, Paul Eugene Billard.

The bill recites marriage in Rockville, Maryland, November 14, 1949; that no children were born of the marriage; that complainant has always been faithful and chaste wife to respondent; that respondent has committed adultry; that complainant has not lived or cohabited with respondent since she discovered his adultrous conduct and has not condoned same; that complainant is a resident of District of Columbia and respondent is a resident of Allegany County, Maryland.

Since institution of this suit it appears respondent has left Allegany County and his whereabouts is unknown. That two subpoenas issued for him in this case have been returned by the Sheriff, non-est.

It is thereupon ordered by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, this 29th day of August, 1950, that the complainant, Norma Lane Billard, by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some daily newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, once each week for four successive weeks before September 30, 1950, giving notice to the said absent respondent of the object and substance of this suit, warning him to be and appear in this Court, in person or by solicitor, on or before the 17th day of October, 1950, to show cause, if any he may have, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

Railroad Stocks Hit High Of 19 Years In Market

Not since 1931 has the rail group, as measured by the Associated Press average of 15 carrier issues, touched today's peak.

Leaders in the rail division advanced 50 cents to an extreme of $3.75 a share. Final prices were tops for the day in most cases.

The market as a whole, according to the AP 60-stock average, equalled its 1950 high which in turn was the best level since June, 1946. Gains extended to around $2 a share. The overall rise was the largest in nearly two months.

Rails contributed heavily to the day's activity which on the whole was surprisingly small in view of the size of the market's advance. Only 1,680,000 shares changed hands, compared with 1,860,000 yesterday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks jumped 1.1 to 80.3. Industrials and rails were neck and neck for first place while utilities showed only a minor rise.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

OUTWITTING A KIBITZER

SOMETIMES a kibitzer, sitting at the corner of the table and watching two hands, notes that a certain finesse is bound to lose. He expects the declarer to stake his chances of success on that play, though he himself sees a way whereby the declarer can protect himself against the loss of that trick. Not expecting the declarer to have the acumen required to spot this move, he is bound to be pleased when that worthy outwits him by doing just as he should.

West led the club K, and sighting the dummy caused the kibitzer in the Southwest corner to count one loser each in clubs, diamonds and hearts, plus another in spades since the finesse was sure to lose. He expected South to play "Papa and Mama" bridge, winning that with the club A, scoring the spade A, returning to dummy with the diamond A and then trying the spade finesse. When that lost, West would surely cause his side to peel off one trick each in the three side suits, beating the contract.

The kibitzer, however, saw an alternative play. It could prevent a loser in diamonds and thereby put South in position where he could afford to lose a trick in trumps. He didn't expect South to try it, but, by golly, he did. After winning the first trick with the club A, South led to the spade A and K to fell a possible singleton or doubleton Q, then led the heart K. East won with the A and returned a club to West's 10. Now the diamond J was won by the A, whereupon South led to the heart Q, heart J and heart 10, on which he discarded the diamond 5.

That left South without any diamond losers, so when West used the spade Q to ruff the trick, it was the last which the defenders could score. The kibitzer thereupon patted South on the back.

Railroad Stocks Hit High Of 19 Years In Market

Not since 1931 has the rail group, as measured by the Associated Press average of 15 carrier issues, touched today's peak.

Leaders in the rail division advanced 50 cents to an extreme of $3.75 a share. Final prices were tops for the day in most cases.

The market as a whole, according to the AP 60-stock average, equalled its 1950 high which in turn was the best level since June, 1946. Gains extended to around $2 a share. The overall rise was the largest in nearly two months.

Rails contributed heavily to the day's activity which on the whole was surprisingly small in view of the size of the market's advance. Only 1,680,000 shares changed hands, compared with 1,860,000 yesterday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks jumped 1.1 to 80.3. Industrials and rails were neck and neck for first place while utilities showed only a minor rise.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

"The Authority on Authorities"

OUTWITTING A KIBITZER

SOMETIMES a kibitzer, sitting at the corner of the table and watching two hands, notes that a certain finesse is bound to lose. He expects the declarer to stake his chances of success on that play, though he himself sees a way whereby the declarer can protect himself against the loss of that trick. Not expecting the declarer to have the acumen required to spot this move, he is bound to be pleased when that worthy outwits him by doing just as he should.

West led the club K, and sighting the dummy caused the kibitzer in the Southwest corner to count one loser each in clubs, diamonds and hearts, plus another in spades since the finesse was sure to lose. He expected South to play "Papa and Mama" bridge, winning that with the club A, scoring the spade A, returning to dummy with the diamond A and then trying the spade finesse. When that lost, West would surely cause his side to peel off one trick each in the three side suits, beating the contract.

The kibitzer, however, saw an alternative play. It could prevent a loser in diamonds and thereby put South in position where he could afford to lose a trick in trumps. He didn't expect South to try it, but, by golly, he did. After winning the first trick with the club A, South led to the spade A and K to fell a possible singleton or doubleton Q, then led the heart K. East won with the A and returned a club to West's 10. Now the diamond J was won by the A, whereupon South led to the heart Q, heart J and heart 10, on which he discarded the diamond 5.

That left South without any diamond losers, so when West used the spade Q to ruff the trick, it was the last which the defenders could score. The kibitzer thereupon patted South on the back.

Petersburg Again Threatened By Flood

With some sections of highways leading to Petersburg, W. Va., already under water residents of the south section of that flood-conscious town were leaving their homes this morning as streams continued rising.

Town officials said the South Branch of the Potomac River still had about five feet to rise at 1 a. m. but the North Fork five miles west of Petersburg already was over its banks.

The North Fork had closed Route 28 leading from Petersburg to Elkins and Trooper C. H. Lewis reported he was unable to return to the community from a point about eight miles west of there.

D. L. Judy, an employe of the West Virginia State Road Commission, said Lunice Creek was out of its banks in the south section of the town "behind the tannery and down by the fair grounds."

Mayor C. L. Lord reported that close to 50 persons had left their homes in the south section and were being cared for at the school house which was opened shortly after midnight.

Judy, who works in a state road office in South Petersburg, said records and equipment were being moved out at 1 a. m. and he said "It looks like we're going to get it. But I hope we won't have serious trouble."

Judy said he expects the rain-filled streams to reach their height at 3 a. m. (EST).

The North Fork of the Potomac which was reported out of its banks flows into the South Branch at Cabins about five miles west of Petersburg. It is after that the water passes through Petersburg.

Police earlier reported that several families were marooned, but later information did not confirm this.

Mayor Lord said the fire siren sounded shortly after midnight to call firemen to duty and they were all standing by to assist. It was the firemen who sounded the warning in the south section where Lunice Creek went out of its banks.

West Side Group Starts Anti-Dirt Organization

Citizens Want Smoke Ordinance Enforced

A group of residents of the West Side of the city made preliminary plans last night at West Side School for the organization of a permanent civic group to wage a determined campaign for a cleaner city.

The prime purpose of the organization, and its first and chief objective, will be rigid enforcement of the city's smoke ordinance, and if the ordinance is not adequate to clean up smoke, dirt and fly ash, to have it amended and strengthened, according to James Alfred Avirett, temporary chairman.

Meet Again September 26

The group decided to have a second meeting at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday, September 26, in the West Side school auditorium, for the purpose of electing officers and acting on a constitution and by-laws. At that meeting, all residents of the area are invited, Avirett announced.

Committees appointed last night to complete details of the organization include:

Avirett said a publicity committee will be named representative of press and radio, and that other committees will be provided for in the constitution and by-laws.

Discussion Of Problems

There was considerable discussion by those attending on civic problems and public improvements in all parts of the city, especially the West Side.

Dirty, unswept streets, rutted and unimproved streets and alleys, and river pollution all came in for their share of criticism. The group agreed, however, that its first task will be concentration on fly ash, smoke and air pollution, with the other problems to be considered later.

Avirett commented especially on the large attendance and the great amount of interest and enthusiasm displayed.

Local Man Is Held In Detroit

The State's Attorney's office reported yesterday that a local man has been arrested in Detroit at the request of local authorities and will be returned here for prosecution on a charge of false pretense.

Authorities identified the man as George F. Kuhlman and said he was arrested Monday.

A message has been sent to the Detroit Police Department to determine whether the man will waive extradition for his return here.

The State's Attorney's office said Kuhlman is charged with signing six bad checks, drawn on a local bank for a total of $198.77. Largest amounted to $72.80.

The checks were all drawn on May 26 and 27, authorities said. They were made payable to local business firms.

Police School Session Planned For Thursday

The next regular school day for Cumberland police officers will be held in the Council Chamber at 9 a.m., Thursday, Chief of Police Emmett R. Flynn has announced.

At the session, Lt. Edwin R. Lilya will discuss the subject, "Traffic", from 9 to 10 a.m.; Detective Thomas J. See will discuss "Fingerprints" from 10 to 11 a.m.; and from 11 to 11:30 a.m., Assistant Chief of Police Benjamin F. Gaffney will discuss, "Searching a Person".

News In Brief

Current topics will be discussed at the meeting of the Tri-State Traffic Club today at 6:30 p. m. at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club. A dinner will precede the discussion.

Pressure Cooker Is Used In River Sampling Survey

An ordinary pressure cooker, several lengths of rope and some formaldehyde seem like a peculiar combination, but they are being put to good use by a survey team working here.

The team was assigned by the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin to take water samples from the Upper Potomac River.

For the past three weeks the men have traveled a daily circuit of 125 miles, stopping at sampling points on bridges or along the river banks.

They have been checking the river from a point at the Garrett County line below the inflow of the Savage River Dam down as far as the Paw Paw area.

At the 14 sampling stations, the team lowers the pressure cooker into the water to get samples. The cooker is equipped so that oxygen content of the water will remain constant.

Laboratory Set Up

Various chemical tests are made there by Robert Pierce, chemist for the Water Pollution Control Commission.

Samples are also being sent to Johns Hopkins University and to the Maryland State Department of Research and Education at Solomons for microscopic analyses.

Ralph E. Fuhrman, research associate for Johns Hopkins, is serving as director of the project.

The industrial wastes investigation is being conducted by the Interstate Commission under a fellowship it has established at Johns Hopkins University in the department of sanitary engineering.

General supervision is being handled by Dr. Abel Wolman, head of that department, and by Dr. John Geyer, professor of sanitary engineering. Edwin R. Cotton is director of the commission.

Fuhrman reported yesterday that the three-week survey period will end Friday, although the trailer laboratory will remain here until the middle of next week.

Area industries and the Health Department make periodic spot checks of water samples but the present survey is believed to be the most intensive conducted along the Upper Potomac.

Fuhrman said the first draft of the report is expected to be ready by the end of the year. It will go first to Johns Hopkins, after which the Interstate Commission is expected to make recommendations to the communities and industries involved.

Work is being financed by an $8,000 grant from the United States Public Health Service to the commission.

Plants Co-operate

"Excellent co-operation" has been received from the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company at Luke and from the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation, Fuhrman reported.

Last week, he said, the Luke plant conducted an intensive survey of its industrial wastes in connection with the survey. Laboratory work at the plant was guided by Julian Patrick, chemist here.

In addition, the Celanese plant conducted a similar survey within the last six weeks, Fuhrman reported.

Legion Post Holds Membership Rally

900 Hyndman Persons Sign Loyalty Form

Men And Women Wait In Rain

Approximately 900 residents of the nearby town of Hyndman, Pa., stood in line in the rain yesterday to sign loyalty pledges as the climax of a campaign sponsored by Oscar Jordan Post No. 7375, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Post Commander Albert Lynch said a steady stream of signers filed into the borough council room throughout the day.

Many waited outside in the rain as the line moved slowly into the building.

Lynch said the total population of Hyndman is about 1,300. Only those residents 18 years old and upward were eligible to sign.

Because a number of residents are railroad workers and were out of town yesterday, they will be given further opportunity to sign pledges in the next day or two, either at Evans' home or at Ahlburn's Garage.

One out-of-town visitor, Lynch said, secured a copy of the loyalty pledge to take back to McKeesport, Pa.

As soon as possible, mimeographed lists of signers will be prepared and posted in public places.

The pledges, which do not refer to communism by name, state that the signer is not subversive, is not connected with any foreign government and does not engage in subversive activities.

Based on similar loyalty pledges prepared by Henry Hart Post No. 1411, VFW, the Hyndman statements were drawn up with the assistance of Bedford Judge J. Colvin Wright.

The Hyndman borough council room was opened at 9 a. m. yesterday for the signing ceremony, which continued for 12 hours.

Observers estimated that the 900 persons who visited the room to sign the pledges represented the largest gathering there is the history of the community.

Potomac Valley Lions To Meet

Potomac Valley Lions Club of Cresaptown will hold its first regular meeting tonight at 6:30 at the Cresaptown Fire Hall. Dinner will be served by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Cresaptown Volunteer Fire Company.

Ray Pile is the newly elected president of the club, which was organized August 30 and has 30 charter members. The charter will remain open during September.

Tonight's program will consist of a model Lions Club meeting demonstrated by Winfield H. Adam, president of the Cumberland Lions Club. He will be assisted by officers and directors of the local club and by its song leader, Henry Duke.

Guest speaker will be Sidney File, Newark, N. J., associate secretary of the Central Atlantic Area Council of YMCAs, who will discuss "Boys' Activities in the Community."

Other guests will include Alvin E. Yaste, past secretary-treasurer of the local club who is district governor of Lions District 22-W; and Dr. William E. Moseley, Mt. Savage, deputy district governor.

The Weather

Most people who ventured downtown yesterday took their umbrellas along, although the .04 inch smattering of rainfall made it only a precautionary gesture. High reading was 72 degrees, not much variation from the overnight low of 60. Today promises to be rather cloudy and cool, with occasional showers likely.

Hollis is an assistant surgeon general of the U. S. Public Health Service, and is its chief sanitary engineering officer.

Vale Summit Road Work To Begin Soon

Latest Starting Date To Be September 21

Latest starting date for the Vale Summit Road improvement project will be September 21, Joseph D. Buscher said yesterday.

Buscher, legal specialist for the State Roads Commission, said 20 rights of way still are needed for the project, but that work can get underway after three more are obtained.

Negotiations or those rights of way are continuing. If settlement is not reached by next Wednesday's regular meeting of the State Roads Commission, Buscher said, he will recommend condemnation and will file proceedings the next day in court.

Earl Robertson of the Cumberland Contracting Company, which has been awarded a $571,775 contract for the work, has set up a field office at the site.

Two sets of multiple culvert pipe are on hand and a third is on the way, Robertson informed Buscher.

The work involves 2.2 miles of widening, curve modification and resurfacing.

Buscher said the project will begin at the Clarysville Inn. Because evergreens on the property can be removed more advantageously later in the fall, actual operations will start about 100 feet up the road, he explained.

Commenting on the McMullen Highway project near Dawson, Buscher said two or three rights of way problems remain to be settled. If they are not obtained within 10 days condemnation proceedings will be started, he added.

Buscher explained that work must get underway because of Western Maryland weather conditions, which allow a comparatively short working season.

Martin To Head Classified Section In Chest Campaign

Leaders of the Classified Section of the 1950 Red Feather Community Chest Campaign were announced last night by Frederic W. Eiler, general chairman of this year's appeal for $87,794.34.

GEORGE M. MARTIN

George M. Martin, district manager of The Prudential Insurance Company of America, has accepted the chairmanship of the Classified Section of the campaign which will be responsible for the solicitation of all employed people in the City of Cumberland.

Nearly 20,000 individuals and corporations are solicited in this manner during the two-week period of the campaign which will open in early October.

Martin pointed out that an army of over 2,000 men and women would be required to present the Chest appeal to this number of people at their homes. Besides this large number of volunteers required, it would be practically impossible to see everyone within the short period of the campaign.

By soliciting employed groups at their places of business a much more thorough understanding can be created of the need for supporting the Community Chest agencies' work, besides being a great timesaver for the hundreds of volunteers, he said.

Martin has been connected with the Community Chest since coming to Cumberland several years ago, and last year was division leader of the General Division of the Classified Section.

He is a member of the Kiwanis Club, serving on its board of directors, and is a member of the Chamber of Commerce Membership Activities Committee.

Three associate chairmen named by Martin are Thomas H. Smithem, of the St. George Motor Company, responsible for the automotive, financial, professional and governmental divisions.

David T. Davis, insurance, another associate chairman, is heading the general, public service, utilities, manufacturers and railroads divisions.

Both Smithem and Davis served in their respective positions in last year's successful campaign. Shinnamon last year was leader of the Mercantile Division.

Each of the associate chairmen will enlist division leaders to head divisions of regiments. Division leaders are meeting this afternoon at 2 o'clock at Central Y. M. C. A.

State Legion Commander Praises City For Passing Red Ordinance

"The American Legion should be eternally grateful to the people of Cumberland and to the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland, for their courageous action in passing an ordinance requiring registration of members of the communist column," Lemuel M. Stevens, state commander of the American Legion, said last night.

Speaking at a membership rally of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, on his first official visit here as state commander, the retired Navy captain spoke on "Americanism and Our Constitution." He reminded the Legonnaires that September 17 (Sunday) marks the 163rd anniversary of the signing of the Constitution in Philadelphia.

Commander Stevens, who resides at Snow Hill in Worcester County, said:

"I feel our beloved country must be protected from traitors and spies who do not constitute a true political party but are in reality a Russian fifth column advocating and permitting a subversive minority to carry on their anti-American plots under cover of darkness.

"We salute you people of Cumberland for your courage and action. You have set an example for the rest of the nation to follow."

Commander Stevens was accompanied by Harry F. Allen, national executive committeeman of Laurel, Md., who is serving his second term in that office.

Graham also introduced Frank T. Powers, Frostburg, alternate national executive committeeman; Louis Fatkins, Westernport, department judge advocate; Russell Paupe, district vice commander; and A. M. Kerns, Sr., post commander, and others.

Allen spoke on membership and complimented the local post on efforts to increase the roster from 1,100 to 1,500 members this year.

Col. McGrayne Will Visit Parachute Unit

Col. Donald McGrayne, senior Army instructor for the state of Maryland, will visit Company G, 319th Parachute Infantry Regiment, at its scheduled meeting tonight at 7:30 at Room 13, Union Street Building.

This was announced yesterday by Capt. H. W. Trimble, instructor.

Col. McGrayne will conduct an inspection and will observe training procedure. He will be accompanied by Lt. Col. John W. Cassell, infantry instructor for the state; Maj. Adolph, supply officer for the 319th, and Capt. Noon, adjutant, who will assist in the inspection.

All members of the unit are urged to attend.

Induction Calls Will Be Higher

Maryland's induction call for November will be approximately 50 per cent higher than either the August-September or October calls.

This was reported yesterday in a directive on manpower requirements received by P. Emmett Fahey, clerk-coordinator of Local Boards 27, 28 and 29 from Col. Henry C. Stanwood, state director of the Selective Service System.

"In view of this increase," the directive said, "we are obligated to correspondingly increase our physical examination calls over the August and September quotas, beginning with the October deliveries."

"We can provide the number of men required by the calls levied on this state only by assuring that our classification and reclassification actions are accelerated commensurate with the need for men by the armed forces.

"Not only are we required to complete current physical examinations and induction calls, but we must maintain an adequate reserve of registrants eligible for future physical examination calls," the directive stated.

Fahey said the largest group of county men called to date for pre-induction tests is the 15-man contingent slated to go to Martinsburg, W. Va., on September 18.

W. Md. Wins Safety Medal

The Western Maryland Railway is among three winners of the E. H. Harriman memorial gold medals for the best rail safety records in 1949.

This was announced yesterday by the American Museum of Safety in New York City.

Other winners are the Norfolk and Western and the Colorado and Wyoming Railways.

The medals, founded in 1913 by the late Mrs. Mary W. Harriman in memory of her husband, will be awarded at a dinner in New York on September 20.

The Harriman awards are made on the basis of official Interstate Commerce Commission records, the railroads being ranked according to their safety records.

Norfolk and Western Railway gained top ranking for Class A railroads; Western Maryland for Class B and Colorado and Wyoming for Class C.

The awards will be presented by James G. Lyne, editor of "The Railway Age" and chairman of the award committee. Wallace J. Falvey, president of the Museum, will preside.

Action On Reds Is Deferred

The Executive Board of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America (CIO), last night deferred possible action against two union members accused of being communists after one of them raised a question regarding prior notification of the hearing.

Earl L. Snyder, president, reported that the Executive Board had deferred action until September 23, when a special board meeting will be called to hear charges preferred against two members.

After the question was raised, it was reported, one of the accused TWUA members brought before the board a question regarding the National TWUA by-laws concerning notification of special meetings.

Garrett County Grand Jury Indicts Kitzmiller Parents

Six Cited For Keeping Children From School

A Garrett County Grand Jury yesterday returned indictments against six Kitzmiller parents for wilfully conspiring to keep their children from school.

Court attaches said the indictments were returned yesterday afternoon at the conclusion of the Grand Jury sessions.

They added the sheriff's office will contact the men today to serve warrants arising from the indictments.

The Grand Jury action introduced a dramatic note into the strike which began at the Kitzmiller School last Wednesday in protest of a consolidation plan for Garrett County Schools.

The action was forecast Monday following a fruitless conference between officials of the Garrett County School Board and a committee of six men representing parents of the Kitzmiller area.

At that time, Walter W. Dawson, president of the board, declared that if the situation did not clear up, the Board would have to take the course prescribed by law.

Attend Conference

He was referring, informed sources said, to Chapter 21 of the Maryland School Laws, which says that any person who induces, or attempts to induce any child to absent himself unlawfully from school . . . shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and fined not mare than $50.

Monday's conference was attended by a six-man Kitzmiller area committee including Dr. Ralph Calendrella, Carl Schell, Earl Shank, Charles McIntyre, Frank Daymon and Kenneth Bray.

Representing the Board of Education were its three members, Dawson, Stuart F. Hamill, Oakland, and C. O. Bender, Grantsville; Asa T. Matthews, attorney, and R. Bowen Hardesty, superintendent of schools.

The committee had asked a guarantee that Kitzmiller be eliminated from the school consolidation program.

School officials promised all help possible in Kitzmiller's school problems but said they could not give such a guarantee since the school board had been eliminated from responsibility for the building program.

Dr. Calendrella, spokesman for the parents who desire to keep the high school located at Kitzmiller, described the meeting as a waste of time and said the strike would continue.

He said the Kitzmiller committee walked out of the meeting after the board continued to evade the issue.

Present Petition

Last June, 339 parents of the Shallmar, Vindex and Kitzmiller section signed a petition which was presented to the board. It threatened to keep children out of school unless sufficient funds were appropriated for seven classrooms, a gymnasium, shop, cafeteria, home economics room and library at the Kitzmiller school.

School officials estimated the program would cost about half a million dollars.

The county is committed to use an appropriation of $1,500,000 to build consolidated schools at Oakland and in The Cove section t replace high schools at Accident, Grantsville, Oakland and Kitzmiller.

In May, the Court of Appeals upheld the Garrett County Circuit Court in dismissing a suit filed by eight taxpayers against the Garrett County Commissioners.

It rejected the taxpayers' request for an order restraining the commissioners from spending a 1947 bond issue for construction of the two schools.

Less than 20 of the 300 students slated to enter the Kitzmiller school reported for classes yesterday.

Ridgeley Red Ordinance Is Unopposed

Second Reading Is Scheduled Tuesday

It took just eight minutes last night for the town council of Ridgeley, W. Va., to pass on the first reading of a new ordinance designed to require all communist party members to register, according to Mayor B. F. Magruder.

The ordinance will go to a second reading next Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the town hall.

The special meeting for the purpose of acting on the ordinance was called by the Mayor and Council at the request of Knobley Mountain Post No. 136, American Legion.

About 30 members of the post and a score or more of other interested citizens attended the special council meeting. Attendance established something of a record, officials said.

The ordinance is patterned after one recently passed in Cumberland and provides jail sentences and fines for communist members convicted of failure to register.

Police Commissioner William Knieriem, after the clerk read the ordinance, made a motion that the ordinance go to its second reading. Commissioner of Streets Floyd A. Decker seconded the motion and the vote was unanimous.

There was no dissenting voice raised in the audience, although those present were given a chance to be heard.

Officials said that anyone wishing to oppose the ordinance will be given an opportunity at the next reading Tuesday night. The council can act on the second and final readings at the next meeting.

Butler Renews Attack On Probe By Tydings Group

Criticizes Senator For "Running Errands"

BALTIMORE, Sept. 12 (AP) — John Marshall Butler said tonight that Senator Tydings (D-Md) "is an essential part" of the national administration "and for that very reason should be defeated in November."

Butler is a candidate for the Republican nomination for the U. S. Senate.

Butler declared:

"We are still waiting for what we have a right to expect: ice cold proof that there are not now and never have been communists in our State Department.

"Senator Tydings owed no allegiance to the State Department's blunders in choosing personnel, if there were any blunders.

"But he conducted the loyalty probe x x x in such a way that he has left doubt in everyone's mind. Doubt about the existence of communists and about his reasons for looking for them the way he did."

The Republican used much of his address to attack the national Democratic administration.

"Our government has become a mental burden to everyone because we don't know what to expect from it," he said.

"None of us can tell what we personally might have to suffer from the mistakes of poor judgment by our government."

22 Out Of Over 1300 Win Prizes At Cooking School

Over 1,300 persons attended the Times-News Cooking School which opened yesterday at the Strand Theatre, and which will continue daily from 9:15 to 11:30 a.m. until Friday. Twenty-two of those present yesterday were awarded prizes of food, kitchen implements, and bags of groceries.

On behalf of the Times-News, J. William Hunt, editor of the Sunday Times, welcomed the 1,300 "students" and presented Miss Dealene Stohr, of the Chicago Live Stock and Meat Board, who returns to Cumberland after a year's absence. Her assistant this year is Miss Nancy Carter.

Mrs. Wilma Wagner and Miss Barbara Reuschel aided in the presentation of the Food Exposition at the close of the morning session.

Dish Winners Named

Winners of seven dishes prepared during the school were Mrs. Lillian Catina, 106 Frederick street; Pansy Hughes, 1306 Michigan Avenue; Pearl Price, R. D. 5, city; Agnes Kirk, Barton; Mrs. Lawrence Shanholtz, R. D. 2, City; Mrs. Violet Sisk, Carpenter Avenue, Ridgeley; and Mrs. R. E. Skidmore, Cresap Park.

Mrs. Alice McCort, 525 Maryland Avenue, won a Taylor roast meat thermometer; and Mrs. Clay Smith, 627 Frederick street, won a Dexterette kitchen cutlery set.

Three Community Bakery cakes were awarded to Mrs. Lena Smouse, Eckhart; Delores Fatkin, Clarysville R. D., Frostburg; and Mrs. J. E. Hartley, 503 Warren street.

Bags of groceries went to Mrs. W. K. Edwards, 817 Hill Top Drive; Mrs. Grace Otto, Kent Avenue; Mrs. Alice Cage, 125 Race street; Mrs. C. A. Jenkins, 214 Columbia street; Mrs. Everett Flanagan, Ridgeley; Lillian M. Cook, Ellerslie; Mrs. H. S. Torbet, 755 Cleveland avenue; E. Morris, 525 Maryland avenue; Mrs. Faye Jewell, Ridgeley; and Mrs. Mary Ustoszewski, 629 Leiper street.

New and unusual recipes which will stress modern versions of time-honored combinations of other generation will feature today's second session of the Times-News "Magic Meals Cooking School."

Names Provide Interest

The names alone provide interest to these dishes which will be prepared. From Norway, for example, comes Lapskaus, which is an unusual combination of cubed beef and ham with diced potatoes added and seasoned with lemon juice. A Balkan dish is Turley Guvej — a mixture of cubed lamb, carrot sticks, onions and either egg plant or okra. China is being drawn upon for Chinese Pepper Steak, prepared with strips of beef chuck seasoned with green pepper and braised, then served with rice.

A taste-tempting Italian dish is Italian Rice, the rice being browned in fat. Ground beef is browned to accompany the rice and tomato juice and cheese are added. Included also in the medley of dishes will be an Alaskan recipe—Frozen Fruit Salad. This is a delicious blend of cream cheese, whipped cream, mayonnaise, pineapple and dates, served frozen.

In the selection of these and the other dishes for the school, the importance of nutrition has been kept foremost in mind.

Petersburg Again Threatened By Flood

With some sections of highways leading to Petersburg, W. Va., already under water residents of the south section of that flood-conscious town were leaving their homes this morning as streams continued rising.

Town officials said the South Branch of the Potomac River still had about five feet to rise at 1 a. m. but the North Fork five miles west of Petersburg already was over its banks.

The North Fork had closed Route 28 leading from Petersburg to Elkins and Trooper C. H. Lewis reported he was unable to return to the community from a point about eight miles west of there.

D. L. Judy, an employe of the West Virginia State Road Commission, said Lunice Creek was out of its banks in the south section of the town "behind the tannery and down by the fair grounds."

Mayor C. L. Lord reported that close to 50 persons had left their homes in the south section and were being cared for at the school house which was opened shortly after midnight.

Judy, who works in a state road office in South Petersburg, said records and equipment were being moved out at 1 a. m. and he said "It looks like we're going to get it. But I hope we won't have serious trouble."

Judy said he expects the rain-filled streams to reach their height at 3 a. m. (EST).

The North Fork of the Potomac which was reported out of its banks flows into the South Branch at Cabins about five miles west of Petersburg. It is after that the water passes through Petersburg.

Police earlier reported that several families were marooned, but later information did not confirm this.

Mayor Lord said the fire siren sounded shortly after midnight to call firemen to duty and they were all standing by to assist. It was the firemen who sounded the warning in the south section where Lunice Creek went out of its banks.

West Side Group Starts Anti-Dirt Organization

Citizens Want Smoke Ordinance Enforced

A group of residents of the West Side of the city made preliminary plans last night at West Side School for the organization of a permanent civic group to wage a determined campaign for a cleaner city.

The prime purpose of the organization, and its first and chief objective, will be rigid enforcement of the city's smoke ordinance, and if the ordinance is not adequate to clean up smoke, dirt and fly ash, to have it amended and strengthened, according to James Alfred Avirett, temporary chairman.

Meet Again September 26

The group decided to have a second meeting at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday, September 26, in the West Side school auditorium, for the purpose of electing officers and acting on a constitution and by-laws. At that meeting, all residents of the area are invited, Avirett announced.

Committees appointed last night to complete details of the organization include:

Attendance and Membership, Ralph C. Isiminger, chairman; Joseph H. Reinhart, Jr., Mrs. T. L. Rudd, Herbert L. Nesbit, Mrs. Fred Y. Borden, Mrs. James C. Shriver, Mrs. John Carscaden, George Ehrling, Mrs. Albert Paye and Mrs. Julia Raphel.

Avirett said a publicity committee will be named representative of press and radio, and that other committees will be provided for in the constitution and by-laws.

Discussion Of Problems

There was considerable discussion by those attending on civic problems and public improvements in all parts of the city, especially the West Side.

Dirty, unswept streets, rutted and unimproved streets and alleys, and river pollution all came in for their share of criticism. The group agreed, however, that its first task will be concentration on fly ash, smoke and air pollution, with the other problems to be considered later.

Avirett commented especially on the large attendance and the great amount of interest and enthusiasm displayed.

Local Man Is Held In Detroit

The State's Attorney's office reported yesterday that a local man has been arrested in Detroit at the request of local authorities and will be returned here for prosecution on a charge of false pretense.

Authorities identified the man as George F. Kuhlman and said he was arrested Monday.

A message has been sent to the Detroit Police Department to determine whether the man will waive extradition for his return here.

The State's Attorney's office said Kuhlman is charged with signing six bad checks, drawn on a local bank for a total of $198.77. Largest amounted to $72.80.

The checks were all drawn on May 26 and 27, authorities said. They were made payable to local business firms.

At the session, Lt. Edwin R. Lilya will discuss the subject, "Traffic", from 9 to 10 a.m.; Detective Thomas J. See will discuss "Fingerprints" from 10 to 11 a.m.; and from 11 to 11:30 a.m., Assistant Chief of Police Benjamin F. Gaffney will discuss, "Searching a Person".

News In Brief

Current topics will be discussed at the meeting of the Tri-State Traffic Club today at 6:30 p. m. at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club. A dinner will precede the discussion.

Pressure Cooker Is Used In River Sampling Survey

An ordinary pressure cooker, several lengths of rope and some formaldehyde seem like a peculiar combination, but they are being put to good use by a survey team working here.

The team was assigned by the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin to take water samples from the Upper Potomac River.

For the past three weeks the men have traveled a daily circuit of 125 miles, stopping at sampling points on bridges or along the river banks.

They have been checking the river from a point at the Garrett County line below the inflow of the Savage River Dam down as far as the Paw Paw area.

At the 14 sampling stations, the team lowers the pressure cooker into the water to get samples. The cooker is equipped so that oxygen content of the water will remain constant.

Laboratory Set Up

Samples are taken to a trailer laboratory of the Maryland Water Pollution Control Commission, which is set up at a Greene Street service station.

Various chemical tests are made there by Robert Pierce, chemist for the Water Pollution Control Commission.

Samples are also being sent to Johns Hopkins University and to the Maryland State Department of Research and Education at Solomons for microscopic analyses.

Ralph E. Fuhrman, research associate for Johns Hopkins, is serving as director of the project.

The industrial wastes investigation is being conducted by the Interstate Commission under a fellowship it has established at Johns Hopkins University in the department of sanitary engineering.

General supervision is being handled by Dr. Abel Wolman, head of that department, and by Dr. John Geyer, professor of sanitary engineering. Edwin R. Cotton is director of the commission.

Fuhrman reported yesterday that the three-week survey period will end Friday, although the trailer laboratory will remain here until the middle of next week.

Area industries and the Health Department make periodic spot checks of water samples but the present survey is believed to be the most intensive conducted along the Upper Potomac.

Fuhrman said the first draft of the report is expected to be ready by the end of the year. It will go first to Johns Hopkins, after which the Interstate Commission is expected to make recommendations to the communities and industries involved.

Work is being financed by an $8,000 grant from the United States Public Health Service to the commission.

Plants Co-operate

"Excellent co-operation" has been received from the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company at Luke and from the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation, Fuhrman reported.

Last week, he said, the Luke plant conducted an intensive survey of its industrial wastes in connection with the survey. Laboratory work at the plant was guided by Julian Patrick, chemist here.

In addition, the Celanese plant conducted a similar survey within the last six weeks, Fuhrman reported.

900 Hyndman Persons Sign Loyalty Form

Men And Women Wait In Rain

Approximately 900 residents of the nearby town of Hyndman, Pa., stood in line in the rain yesterday to sign loyalty pledges as the climax of a campaign sponsored by Oscar Jordan Post No. 7375, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Post Commander Albert Lynch said a steady stream of signers filed into the borough council room throughout the day.

Many waited outside in the rain as the line moved slowly into the building.

Lynch said the total population of Hyndman is about 1,300. Only those residents 18 years old and upward were eligible to sign.

Because a number of residents are railroad workers and were out of town yesterday, they will be given further opportunity to sign pledges in the next day or two, either at Evans' home or at Ahlburn's Garage.

One out-of-town visitor, Lynch said, secured a copy of the loyalty pledge to take back to McKeesport, Pa.

As soon as possible, mimeographed lists of signers will be prepared and posted in public places.

The pledges, which do not refer to communism by name, state that the signer is not subversive, is not connected with any foreign government and does not engage in subversive activities.

Based on similar loyalty pledges prepared by Henry Hart Post No. 1411, VFW, the Hyndman statements were drawn up with the assistance of Bedford Judge J. Colvin Wright.

The Hyndman borough council room was opened at 9 a. m. yesterday for the signing ceremony, which continued for 12 hours.

Observers estimated that the 900 persons who visited the room to sign the pledges represented the largest gathering there is the history of the community.

Potomac Valley Lions To Meet

Potomac Valley Lions Club of Cresaptown will hold its first regular meeting tonight at 6:30 at the Cresaptown Fire Hall. Dinner will be served by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Cresaptown Volunteer Fire Company.

Ray Pile is the newly elected president of the club, which was organized August 30 and has 30 charter members. The charter will remain open during September.

Tonight's program will consist of a model Lions Club meeting demonstrated by Winfield H. Adam, president of the Cumberland Lions Club. He will be assisted by officers and directors of the local club and by its song leader, Henry Duke.

Guest speaker will be Sidney File, Newark, N. J., associate secretary of the Central Atlantic Area Council of YMCAs, who will discuss "Boys' Activities in the Community."

Other guests will include Alvin E. Yaste, past secretary-treasurer of the local club who is district governor of Lions District 22-W; and Dr. William E. Moseley, Mt. Savage, deputy district governor.

The Weather

Most people who ventured downtown yesterday took their umbrellas along, although the .04 inch smattering of rainfall made it only a precautionary gesture. High reading was 72 degrees, not much variation from the overnight low of 60. Today promises to be rather cloudy and cool, with occasional showers likely.

Vale Summit Road Work To Begin Soon

Latest Starting Date To Be September 21

Latest starting date for the Vale Summit Road improvement project will be September 21, Joseph D. Buscher said yesterday.

Buscher, legal specialist for the State Roads Commission, said 20 rights of way still are needed for the project, but that work can get underway after three more are obtained.

Negotiations or those rights of way are continuing. If settlement is not reached by next Wednesday's regular meeting of the State Roads Commission, Buscher said, he will recommend condemnation and will file proceedings the next day in court.

Earl Robertson of the Cumberland Contracting Company, which has been awarded a $571,775 contract for the work, has set up a field office at the site.

Two sets of multiple culvert pipe are on hand and a third is on the way, Robertson informed Buscher.

The work involves 2.2 miles of widening, curve modification and resurfacing.

Buscher said the project will begin at the Clarysville Inn. Because evergreens on the property can be removed more advantageously later in the fall, actual operations will start about 100 feet up the road, he explained.

Commenting on the McMullen Highway project near Dawson, Buscher said two or three rights of way problems remain to be settled. If they are not obtained within 10 days condemnation proceedings will be started, he added.

Buscher explained that work must get underway because of Western Maryland weather conditions, which allow a comparatively short working season.

State Legion Commander Praises City For Passing Red Ordinance

"The American Legion should be eternally grateful to the people of Cumberland and to the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland, for their courageous action in passing an ordinance requiring registration of members of the communist column," Lemuel M. Stevens, state commander of the American Legion, said last night.

Speaking at a membership rally of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, on his first official visit here as state commander, the retired Navy captain spoke on "Americanism and Our Constitution." He reminded the Legonnaires that September 17 (Sunday) marks the 163rd anniversary of the signing of the Constitution in Philadelphia.

Commander Stevens, who resides at Snow Hill in Worcester County, said:

"I feel our beloved country must be protected from traitors and spies who do not constitute a true political party but are in reality a Russian fifth column advocating and permitting a subversive minority to carry on their anti-American plots under cover of darkness.

"We salute you people of Cumberland for your courage and action. You have set an example for the rest of the nation to follow."

Commander Stevens was accompanied by Harry F. Allen, national executive committeeman of Laurel, Md., who is serving his second term in that office.

Samuel A. Graham, past local post and district commander, presided at the rally which was followed by a luncheon.

Graham also introduced Frank T. Powers, Frostburg, alternate national executive committeeman; Louis Fatkins, Westernport, department judge advocate; Russell Paupe, district vice commander; and A. M. Kerns, Sr., post commander, and others.

Allen spoke on membership and complimented the local post on efforts to increase the roster from 1,100 to 1,500 members this year.

Col. McGrayne Will Visit Parachute Unit

Col. Donald McGrayne, senior Army instructor for the state of Maryland, will visit Company G, 319th Parachute Infantry Regiment, at its scheduled meeting tonight at 7:30 at Room 13, Union Street Building.

This was announced yesterday by Capt. H. W. Trimble, instructor.

Col. McGrayne will conduct an inspection and will observe training procedure. He will be accompanied by Lt. Col. John W. Cassell, infantry instructor for the state; Maj. Adolph, supply officer for the 319th, and Capt. Noon, adjutant, who will assist in the inspection.

All members of the unit are urged to attend.

Induction Calls Will Be Higher

Maryland's induction call for November will be approximately 50 per cent higher than either the August-September or October calls.

This was reported yesterday in a directive on manpower requirements received by P. Emmett Fahey, clerk-coordinator of Local Boards 27, 28 and 29 from Col. Henry C. Stanwood, state director of the Selective Service System.

"In view of this increase," the directive said, "we are obligated to correspondingly increase our physical examination calls over the August and September quotas, beginning with the October deliveries."

"We can provide the number of men required by the calls levied on this state only by assuring that our classification and reclassification actions are accelerated commensurate with the need for men by the armed forces.

"Not only are we required to complete current physical examinations and induction calls, but we must maintain an adequate reserve of registrants eligible for future physical examination calls," the directive stated.

Fahey said the largest group of county men called to date for pre-induction tests is the 15-man contingent slated to go to Martinsburg, W. Va., on September 18.

W. Md. Wins Safety Medal

The Western Maryland Railway is among three winners of the E. H. Harriman memorial gold medals for the best rail safety records in 1949.

This was announced yesterday by the American Museum of Safety in New York City.

Other winners are the Norfolk and Western and the Colorado and Wyoming Railways.

The medals, founded in 1913 by the late Mrs. Mary W. Harriman in memory of her husband, will be awarded at a dinner in New York on September 20.

The Harriman awards are made on the basis of official Interstate Commerce Commission records, the railroads being ranked according to their safety records.

Norfolk and Western Railway gained top ranking for Class A railroads; Western Maryland for Class B and Colorado and Wyoming for Class C.

The awards will be presented by James G. Lyne, editor of "The Railway Age" and chairman of the award committee. Wallace J. Falvey, president of the Museum, will preside.

Guest speaker will be Col. Robert S. Henry, vice president of the Association of American Railroads.

Martin To Head Classified Section In Chest Campaign

Leaders of the Classified Section of the 1950 Red Feather Community Chest Campaign were announced last night by Frederic W. Eiler, general chairman of this year's appeal for $87,794.34.

George M. Martin, district manager of The Prudential Insurance Company of America, has accepted the chairmanship of the Classified Section of the campaign which will be responsible for the solicitation of all employed people in the City of Cumberland.

Nearly 20,000 individuals and corporations are solicited in this manner during the two-week period of the campaign which will open in early October.

Martin pointed out that an army of over 2,000 men and women would be required to present the Chest appeal to this number of people at their homes. Besides this large number of volunteers required, it would be practically impossible to see everyone within the short period of the campaign.

By soliciting employed groups at their places of business a much more thorough understanding can be created of the need for supporting the Community Chest agencies' work, besides being a great time-saver for the hundreds of volunteers, he said.

Martin has been connected with the Community Chest since coming to Cumberland several years ago, and last year was division leader of the General Division of the Classified Section.

He is a member of the Kiwanis Club, serving on its board of directors, and is a member of the Chamber of Commerce Membership Activities Committee.

Three associate chairmen named by Martin are Thomas H. Smithem, of the St. George Motor Company, responsible for the automotive, financial, professional and governmental divisions.

GEORGE M. MARTIN

David T. Davis, insurance, another associate chairman, is heading the general, public service, utilities, manufacturers and railroads divisions.

L. V. Shinnamon of the Shinnamon Shoe Store, third associate chairman, is heading the group of divisions composed of foods, mercantile, served commodities and recreational.

Both Smithem and Davis served in their respective positions in last year's successful campaign. Shinnamon last year was leader of the Mercantile Division.

Each of the associate chairmen will enlist division leaders to head divisions of regiments. Division leaders are meeting this afternoon at 2 o'clock at Central Y. M. C. A.

Action On Reds Is Deferred

The Executive Board of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America (CIO), last night deferred possible action against two union members accused of being communists after one of them raised a question regarding prior notification of the hearing.

Earl L. Snyder, president, reported that the Executive Board had deferred action until September 23, when a special board meeting will be called to hear charges preferred against two members.

After the question was raised, it was reported, one of the accused TWUA members brought before the board a question regarding the National TWUA by-laws concerning notification of special meetings.

Garrett County Grand Jury Indicts Kitzmiller Parents

Six Cited For Keeping Children From School

A Garrett County Grand Jury yesterday returned indictments against six Kitzmiller parents for wilfully conspiring to keep their children from school.

Court attaches said the indictments were returned yesterday afternoon at the conclusion of the Grand Jury sessions.

They added the sheriff's office will contact the men today to serve warrants arising from the indictments.

The Grand Jury action introduced a dramatic note into the strike which began at the Kitzmiller School last Wednesday in protest of a consolidation plan for Garrett County Schools.

The action was forecast Monday following a fruitless conference between officials of the Garrett County School Board and a committee of six men representing parents of the Kitzmiller area.

At that time, Walter W. Dawson, president of the board, declared that if the situation did not clear up, the Board would have to take the course prescribed by law.

Attend Conference

He was referring, informed sources said, to Chapter 21 of the Maryland School Laws, which says that any person who induces, or attempts to induce any child to absent himself unlawfully from school . . . shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and fined not mare than $50.

Monday's conference was attended by a six-man Kitzmiller area committee including Dr. Ralph Calendrella, Carl Schell, Earl Shank, Charles McIntyre, Frank Daymon and Kenneth Bray.

Representing the Board of Education were its three members, Dawson, Stuart F. Hamill, Oakland, and C. O. Bender, Grantsville; Asa T. Matthews, attorney, and R. Bowen Hardesty, superintendent of schools.

The committee had asked a guarantee that Kitzmiller be eliminated from the school consolidation program.

School officials promised all help possible in Kitzmiller's school problems but said they could not give such a guarantee since the school board had been eliminated from responsibility for the building program.

Dr. Calendrella, spokesman for the parents who desire to keep the high school located at Kitzmiller, described the meeting as a waste of time and said the strike would continue.

He said the Kitzmiller committee walked out of the meeting after the board continued to evade the issue.

Present Petition

Last June, 339 parents of the Shallmar, Vindex and Kitzmiller section signed a petition which was presented to the board. It threatened to keep children out of school unless sufficient funds were appropriated for seven classrooms, a gymnasium, shop, cafeteria, home economics room and library at the Kitzmiller school.

School officials estimated the program would cost about half a million dollars.

The county is committed to use an appropriation of $1,500,000 to build consolidated schools at Oakland and in The Cove section to replace high schools at Accident, Grantsville, Oakland and Kitzmiller.

In May, the Court of Appeals upheld the Garrett County Circuit Court in dismissing a suit filed by eight taxpayers against the Garrett County Commissioners.

It rejected the taxpayers' request for an order restraining the commissioners from spending a 1947 bond issue for construction of the two schools.

Less than 20 of the 300 students slated to enter the Kitzmiller school reported for classes yesterday.

Ridgeley Red Ordinance Is Unopposed

Second Reading Is Scheduled Tuesday

It took just eight minutes last night for the town council of Ridgeley, W. Va., to pass on the first reading of a new ordinance designed to require all communist party members to register, according to Mayor B. F. Magruder.

The ordinance will go to a second reading next Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the town hall.

The special meeting for the purpose of acting on the ordinance was called by the Mayor and Council at the request of Knobley Mountain Post No. 136, American Legion.

About 30 members of the post and a score or more of other interested citizens attended the special council meeting. Attendance established something of a record, officials said.

The ordinance is patterned after one recently passed in Cumberland and provides jail sentences and fines for communist members convicted of failure to register.

Police Commissioner William Knieriem, after the clerk read the ordinance, made a motion that the ordinance go to its second reading. Commissioner of Streets Floyd A. Decker seconded the motion and the vote was unanimous.

There was no dissenting voice raised in the audience, although those present were given a chance to be heard.

Officials said that anyone wishing to oppose the ordinance will be given an opportunity at the next reading Tuesday night. The council can act on the second and final readings at the next meeting.

Butler Renews Attack On Probe By Tydings Group

Criticizes Senator For "Running Errands"

BALTIMORE, Sept. 12 (AP) — John Marshall Butler said tonight that Senator Tydings (D-Md) "is an essential part" of the national administration "and for that very reason should be defeated in November."

Butler is a candidate for the Republican nomination for the U. S. Senate.

Butler declared:

"We are still waiting for what we have a right to expect: ice cold proof that there are not now and never have been communists in our State Department.

"Senator Tydings owed no allegiance to the State Department's blunders in choosing personnel, if there were any blunders.

"But he conducted the loyalty probe x x x in such a way that he has left doubt in everyone's mind. Doubt about the existence of communists and about his reasons for looking for them the way he did."

"Our government has become a mental burden to everyone because we don't know what to expect from it," he said.

"None of us can tell what we personally might have to suffer from the mistakes of poor judgment by our government."

Over 1,300 persons attended the Times-News Cooking School which opened yesterday at the Strand Theatre, and which will continue daily from 9:15 to 11:30 a.m. until Friday. Twenty-two of those present yesterday were awarded prizes of food, kitchen implements, and bags of groceries.

On behalf of the Times-News, J. William Hunt, editor of the Sunday Times, welcomed the 1,300 "students" and presented Miss Dealene Stohr, of the Chicago Live Stock and Meat Board, who returns to Cumberland after a year's absence. Her assistant this year is Miss Nancy Carter.

Dish Winners Named

Mrs. Alice McCort, 525 Maryland Avenue, won a Taylor roast meat thermometer; and Mrs. Clay Smith, 627 Frederick street, won a Dexterette kitchen cutlery set.

Three Community Bakery cakes were awarded to Mrs. Lena Smouse, Eckhart; Delores Fatkin, Clarysville R. D., Frostburg; and Mrs. J. E. Hartley, 503 Warren street.

Bags of groceries went to Mrs. W. K. Edwards, 817 Hill Top Drive; Mrs. Grace Otto, Kent Avenue; Mrs. Alice Cage, 125 Race street; Mrs. C. A. Jenkins, 214 Columbia street; Mrs. Everett Flanagan, Ridgeley; Lillian M. Cook, Ellerslie; Mrs. H. S. Torbet, 755 Cleveland avenue; E. Morris, 525 Maryland avenue; Mrs. Faye Jewell, Ridgeley; and Mrs. Mary Ustoszewski, 629 Leiper street.

New and unusual recipes which will stress modern versions of time-honored combinations of other generation will feature today's second session of the Times-News "Magic Meals Cooking School."

Names Provide Interest

The names alone provide interest to these dishes which will be prepared. From Norway, for example, comes Lapskaus, which is an unusual combination of cubed beef and ham with diced potatoes added and seasoned with lemon juice. A Balkan dish is Turley Guvej — a mixture of cubed lamb, carrot sticks, onions and either egg plant or okra. China is being drawn upon for Chinese Pepper Steak, prepared with strips of beef chuck seasoned with green pepper and braised, then served with rice.

A taste-tempting Italian dish is Italian Rice, the rice being browned in fat. Ground beef is browned to accompany the rice and tomato juice and cheese are added. Included also in the medley of dishes will be an Alaskan recipe—Frozen Fruit Salad. This is a delicious blend of cream cheese, whipped cream, mayonnaise, pineapple and dates, served frozen.

In the selection of these and the other dishes for the school, the importance of nutrition has been kept foremost in mind.
